CELEBRATE CHRISTMAS SMALL TOWN STYLE

December is quickly upon us and with it comes opportunities to fellowship, celebrate, worship and participate in our community. As a small town, Eagleville offers its own flavor of Christmas. Eagleville is proud to provide the 2nd Annual Christmas Parade scheduled for December 4, 2004. The theme this year is a Country Christmas and promises to be a fun event for those who ride a float and for the fans who brave the weather to wave and cheer. In addition to the Parade, Eagleville is also having a Christmas Tour of Homes. This event is scheduled for December 12th from 3:00 to 7:00 p.m. and proceeds will benefit the Beautification Department at the City of Eagleville. The tour includes 7 homes in the Eagleville area boasting a variety of Christmas décor and also includes a tour of the historic Cohn family home, located on Rocky Glade Road. This event promises to be a beautiful showcase of Christmas ideas.

Churches also have special events scheduled for December. Eagleville United Methodist Church Choir program is December 12 at 7:00 p.m. and brings the Christmas story through music. Rocky Glade Presbyterian Church is also providing a special Christmas experience on December 19 at 7:00. The choir is performing and the youth and children of the church are bringing the drama "The Singing Christmas Tree" for the audience. In addition, the elementary students at Eagleville School are presenting an entertaining program of Christmas favorites and new songs as well. The performance is scheduled December 14th at 6:30 in the new gym.

In addition to these events, the town itself is beautiful during this time of year. Home owners and those who own businesses in the Eagleville area use lights and decorations to bring beauty to the outside of their homes and the twinkling lights of a Christmas tree as seen through the front windows of many homes adds excitement for both children and adults.

Shopping in Eagleville during the rush of Christmas is a great way to avoid the cost and hassle of driving to "town", the crowds of the malls, and the ordinariness of gifts at discount stores. Those looking for unique gifts and bargain prices can find treasures at the Rutherford Coop, Farm Sales and Service and Crosslin Lumber Supply. Eagleville Drug Center, the Kandle Kitchen and Eagleville Florist also have a wide variety of gifts to please anyone on your list. Unique stores such as newly opened Huckleberries, Ralston Antiques, and E.J.'s Treasures also offer shoppers many choices to find something special. Joyce's Beauty Shack not only offers the latest in hair styling and hair products but also provides manicures and has a tanning bed. Gift certificates make great stocking stuffers. Smitty's Barber Shop and C-Ray Hair Salon are two new business additions this year providing you with the finest service. Henry's Food Value gives the cook many choices for Christmas dinner and stocks great items for taking to all the parties and events people attend during the holiday season. Or for those too tired to cook, the Eagles Nest Dairy Bar and Las Fiestas offer wonderful meal choices. And if you are still stumped on what to give, try a subscription to the Eagleville Times. They'll Love It.

EAGLEVILLE TAEKWONDO

Eagleville kicked off their first Taekwondo class this fall at the Eagleville Community Center. Sixteen enthusiastic boys and girls, age 6-10, are on their way to earning their yellow belt. They have tested and been awarded stripes for their self-defense patterns. Taekwondo helps to build character, confidence and discipline and it shows in these boys and girls. Congratulations students!!!!

Taekwondo classes will begin in January full time on Tuesday and Thursday nights. This cost is $69 and includes a FREE uniform for beginning classes age 6-10 and an adult class.

Hustle & Bustle of December

December is a busy time at Eagleville School. While teachers are working hard to complete the semester the students prepare for exams. Elementary students grow their anticipation for class parties and gift exchange. And all are looking forward to the winter break December 20th through January 1st. In the midst of this, the calendar at the Eagleville School website is busy with activities for students and the community. The middle school basketball teams play a strong schedule during December and open the month with their Homecoming game December 2 and the Homecoming Dance December 3rd. The Varsity basketball teams also have a strong scheduled during December and will play in the Christmas Classic tournament at Watertown December 17 and 18 and will host a Christmas Classic at Eagleville December 27 and 28th. FFA has a number of competitions during the month and is gearing up for more during the month of January. ROTC also has competitions during December. The Drama department at Eagleville School is presenting a play on December 10 and 11th. And January looks equally as busy. Check out the calendar at the Eagleville School website.

Dear Fellow Citizen of Eagleville,

Hello... For those of you who do not know me, my name is Jordan Progar and I am a sophomore at Eagleville High School. I have recently been invited to participate in the People to People Student Ambassador Program.

In the summer of 2005, I will embark on an educational trip to Europe and visit and study the cultures of France, Switzerland, Austria, and Italy. This is a once-in-a-lifetime experience and I have been selected along with 39 other students in the state of Tennessee to attend. This program will allow me to earn a college credit and earn community service hours. However, all of these experiences will be extremely costly and I will need the sponsorship of many people to accumulate the total cost which will be $5,369. If the Lord has put it upon your heart to aid me financially, it would be greatly appreciated. If you have any questions, feel free to email me at raidersrock@bellsouth.net.

With Love & Honor, Jordan Progar

College Grove Red Hats Visit Vandy's Children Hospital.

College Grove: On Tuesday, November 16, members of the College Grove Senior Enrichment Center's Groovy Grovettes, a Red Hat Society Chapter toured the newly constructed Monroe Carell Jr. Children's Hospital at Vanderbilt which opened this year. The members had collected and made fleece blankets as a donation to hospital patients.

A highlight of the tour came with the group meeting Rebecca Goodwin who is the school teacher for the hospital. She took members on a tour of their multifaceted classroom that helps the patients keep in touch with their classmates and up to date with assignments via the internet. Goodwin stressed to the group the children's need for some normalcy in their lives that have been disrupted with treatments or disease.

"I had to take my daughter to the Children's hospital many years ago," said Elizabeth Padilla, Center member and Red Hat Queen Mother for College Grove. "Our family became very familiar with the staff and services at the Children's Hospital, but today's visit was just so amazing with computers in rooms, a school room, the "quiet centers", the train in the pharmacy. It is an incredible facility."

Red Hat Queen Mother Elizabeth Padilla and fellow Red Hatter Dawn Redlin look on as Rebecca Goodwin of the Vanderbilt Children's Hospital shows how the internet keeps patients involved with activities from their schools.

Margaret's Helpful Hints

- Cleaning the grater - Rub a small amount of vegetable oil or margarine on the grater before using it. Clean up will be a lot quicker.
- To Wax or Not to Wax - No-wax vinyl flooring doesn't need to be waxed, hence its name. In fact, if you do wax it, it can cause yellowing.
- Portable Humidifier - Keep the drum clear of lime scale by adding 1/4 cup white vinegar to the water reservoir every week it's in use.
- Don't clean you computer screens with window or glass cleaners that have ammonia in them. It can sometimes cause damage to the finish.

Citizen of the Month

Edward Lee Manier has been a lifelong resident of Eagleville. Most people remember him as the Manager of Eagleville Co-Op for over 37 years. He is also known in Eagleville for his dedication and activity in the Eagleville United Methodist church for the past 52 years. The Manier's are among the oldest families that have been residing in Eagleville since the early 1800's.

Edward Lee was born November 9, 1929; just eighteen days after the stock market crashed. This was known as the "Great Depression" years and times were hard, jobs were few and money was scarce. He was born in Jacksonville, Alabama where his mother and father were both teachers at the State College. The State of Alabama went bankrupt and could not afford to pay the teachers, so his parents packed up all their belongings and moved back to Eagleville on his Grandmother's farm. At age three, he still remembers that long journey to Eagleville, wedged in the car between pots and pans and all of their belongings.

His Grandmother had a big farmhouse on North

Edward in the 1950's in the henhouse.

Lane where they all lived. His parents had three other children, plus Edward, which pretty much filled up the whole house. He remembers his parents owning a Dodge car that had to stay parked in a shed for three to five years in the early thirties. They had no money to buy gas, so they traveled by horse and buggy when they needed to go to town.

At the age of ten, Edward Lee became a Christian at Mt Pleasant Baptist Church. He has spent his whole life serving the Lord in his words and actions. He has always strived to make Jesus the number one priority in his life, which is reflected by his integrity and character.

Growing up, he remembers the biggest events in Eagleville as when the "Traveling Medicine Shows" came to town, entertaining and selling their medicines. When the Traveling Circus came to town was another cause for excitement. They set up big tents and had elephants, zebras and camels and it was a fun-filled and fascinating. He also remembers the Goat Man. He was a man who came through town every three or four years with three or four goats pulling him in an old wagon, with lots of other goats surrounding them.

Edward's childhood was filled with adventures and he loved the great outdoors. He spent many days riding bikes, fishing and swimming. Nighttime was for frog gigging, star gazing and camping on the creek bank with neighborhood friends, eating meals of fried hog jowl, eggs and hot water cornbread.

When he was twelve years old, he raised peanuts and melons to sell at a roadside stand he made. He had many customers around that would frequent his stand. He also grew popcorn to sell at the Eagleville Basketball games.

Edward Lee lived "Down in the Swamps" until he was fourteen years old and then they moved to the "Cedars" on Mt Vernon Road. In 1946, he became a partner with his dad starting a Grade A Dairy and did this for 22 years. He milked 35 cows a day, getting up at 4:00 am every morning. They also raised hogs and sheep and farmed the land. He continued the Dairy Farm with his dad until 1968, then switched over to beef cattle.

He attended Eagleville School and graduated in 1947 with 14 others in his class. He served as the President of the Eagleville Senior Boys 4-H club involved with beef, cattle and sheep projects. During the second World War, Edward Lee's father was a school teacher at Eagleville and was also a School Bus Driver, delivering 25 children. Edward Lee substituted driving the bus many times even before he was 15 years old. He rebuilt the bus motor when he was 14 years old and continued to use it for six more years.

In the 1950's, he and his father operated a hen-house with 1,000 laying hens. His father went to Nashville and peddled the eggs door-to-door, house-to-house for .60 a dozen. Working with the chickens was time consuming but profitable and they did this for 12 to 15 years.

After graduating from high school, he attended college at MTSU. Tuition was $35 a quarter and you could get a college degree for around $1,000.

In 1952, he married Marie Smith and they had three children, Glen, Jerry and Lisa. He built his home on Mt Vernon Rd, using rock on the outside that he had gathered from all over the farm. He still resides in the same house today and has over 150 acres of land. Edward Lee helped to organize the Eagleville Co-op in 1956, serving as manager the first 37 years. He worked there a total of 43 years and enjoyed every day of it.

1998 was one of the greatest moments in his life. His first grandchild, David, was born to son Jerry and wife Susie. Life took on a whole new meaning. He retired from the Co-op and spent most of his days teaching and playing games with his grandson. He was like a "kid with a new toy". Three years later, in 2001, his first granddaughter, Danielle, arrived and stole Papa's heart. We're not sure which one has him wrapped around their little finger the most! He enjoys reading to them and spent most of the summer helping them to earn the Library award for reading over 450 books. He also enjoys wood-working and building. He and son Jerry are in the process of building a cabin in the woods.

Edward Lee has been an active member in the Eagleville United Methodist Church for over 52 years. He is a Sunday school teacher and has served in many capacities at the church. He recently served on a committee to help build a parsonage for the new pastor.

His Preacher, Trey Lambert had this to say: "The world is such a busy place. So busy that most of us try to keep up, and in the process we forget others. This is not so with Edward Lee Manier. " He recalls a time when Mr. Ed and Mr. Crick were finishing up some projects on the new Parsonage and a tornado watch was in effect. Pastor Trey's wife Brandi is not a fan of tornados and was anxious to say the least. The men continued working trying to finish the job so the new preacher could move in. After some time, Trey missed Mr. Ed and turned to find him with a comforting hand patting his wife's shoulder. He was trying to reassure her there was nothing to worry about. We were busy, but Ed was not so busy that he couldn't be an instrument of grace and comfort to someone who needed reassuring. Pastor Trey says: "When the history books are written, the writers will probably be in a scramble amid the chaos. The world is a busy place, you know. Someone might not get around to saying it, so I want to say it now: Edward Lee Manier is one of the best human beings that you will ever meet. I am thankful that I have had the opportunity."

He has just celebrated his 75th birthday. He feels his greatest strength is God's blessings and you can see this in the attitude he portrays. He is a man of integrity and honor and I feel blessed that the Lord has put him into all of our lives.

God Bless You, Edward Lee Manier

EAGLEVILLE HIGH SCHOOL - Part 2

In the early 1900's Eagleville was very fortunate to have an excellent education opportunity for the children in the area. In Eagleville School, known as the Savage School, enrollment was increasing as well as in the several smaller schools in the area. The Rutherford County High School Board began making plans for the future. In 1912 the Board purchased approximately 5 acres of land on the Eagleville and Salem Pike (same location as the present school) for future planning to build a new school. At this time the members of the Rutherford County High School Board were: A. L. Todd, J. D. Jacobs, M. A. Sanders, J. C. Ransom, J. P. Leathers, H. C. Taylor and H. W. Burk. The land was purchased from J. E. and Emma Sullivan, J. D. Sullivan, Robert Sullivan and H. W. Sullivan. The price paid was $1000.00. A portion of the deed stated: The above described parcel of land is to be used by said High School Board upon which to erect a school building for the education of the white children of Eagleville and the immediate vicinity, the money to erect said building having been subscribed by the people of Eagleville, and it is agreed that, in the event the above described land and building, or the proceeds, in the event the same should be sold, should ever cease to be used for school purposes at Eagleville, then said property or the proceeds thereof, shall revert to the donors of said fund, or their representatives. The deed was signed 22 July 1912.

In 1914 the consolidation with area schools: Simons, Greenwood, Mt. Vernon and Little Rock, all one-teacher schools, the Rutherford County High School Board saw the need for a new building and proceeded with their plans.

The new Eagleville High School, a two-story concrete and stucco building was completed in 1915. Classrooms were on the main floor. The Smith-Hughes Act provided teachers for the home economics and agriculture classes, which met in the basement. The home economics room had a kitchen with tables that the students used for eating their lunches that was brought from home. When the weather was bad, the students also would have playtime in the home economics room. Mrs. May Taylor of Eagleville started to school in this school building and remembers one of their favorite outside games to play was scrub. It was played with a ball and bat and the game was similar to baseball or softball, but all students who wanted to play could until they were gotten out. The students weren't divided into teams but played individually. She remembers having a lot of fun playing this game.

The children from closed schools were transported by wagon and then by bus to Eagleville. The first drivers were R. W. Carlton, Hessie Bennett and Will Cole. Mr. Bennett continued driving for thirty-nine years.

Principals in this building were: John D. Wiseman, later an attorney in Nashville, J. D. McFarlin, Frank Jarrell, Kenneth Warren, Frank Hines, Clyde Richards and J. J. Northcott. Among the teachers was W. L. Foster, Mary Owen, Mrs. Scott (Lady Mary) Williams, Mary Dudley Williams, Mary Murphy and Maye Leming who taught home economics.

Pupils continued to graduate from the tenth grade until a third year of high school was added in 1920. The school became a four-year high school in 1921. That year there were two graduates.

In 1921 Dr. E. L. Williams was Board Member, A. P. Elmore and Jim Taylor were the magistrates and Neal Elrod was County School Superintendent.

In August 1923, on Tuesday night, two days after the opening of school, the school burned. It was rumored the fire was set by arsonist. After the fire the classes were held in local churches until a new brick school was built and ready for occupancy by the fall of 1924. (Continued next month)

News From The Lions Club

Eagleville Lions Club has a busy Saturday. The Lion's Club of Eagleville which supports both international and national site preservation services as well as local charity sponsored a day of fundraising activities on Saturday November 20 at the Community Center. The day started with a turkey shoot and for those who are new to this sport, the sports men and women do not shoot real turkeys. They shoot targets and for the prize of a turkey, or ham, or bacon, or cash money. The winner is determined by a close examination of the target and the person who has a pellet from their shotgun shell closest to the "bulls eye" wins that round. The day was busy with round after round of competition and winners enjoyed the bounty from the freezer. In addition to the fun of the shoot, those who stopped by the Community Center also enjoyed bar-b-que'd goat sandwiches for lunch. For many, this is a meal that they only eat once a year and they consider it their favorite. The Lions Club was glad to provide for them an opportunity to enjoy this favorite food. After the sun went down and shooting ended, guests at the Community Center enjoyed a traditional Thanksgiving Feast. Plates of turkey, dressing, gravy and choice of vegetables were quickly sold and all the proceeds went to the many causes supported by the Eagleville Lions Club. Bluegrass music provided by favorite local talent kept the crowd entertained. Thanks to everyone who supports the Eagleville Lions Club. The Club meets the first and third Monday evenings of each month. Anyone interested in the club is encouraged to attend a meeting.

Bottle From School Makes it Overseas

By Susan Nolan

Community School is so very active and there is so much to tell. However, this month we will highlight on one very special story to share with you. As some of you may recall, last year 2003 somewhere around April I beleive we wrote a story labeled " MORE THAN A MESSAGE IN A BOTTLE" . It was all about one little boy named Randy Nolan who wanted to share his idea of putting a message in a bottle in the ocean for someone to find. Three classes total took part in the project and lots of tiny little bottles were made up. The bottles were split up and half were sent to his Great Grandparents Dave and Helen Staples of Sprucehead Maine and the other half sent to his Great Aunt Debi and Great Uncle Paul of Land O Lakes Florida. The bottles sent to Maine made it to the ocean with the help of a Sterman (thats a lobstermans helper) by the name of Mr. Cortney and some visiting kids at a local lighthouse at Breakwater point. Over the summer a few post cards were received where someone had found a bottle. One was found by a little girl from Rockport Maine named Jenifer Karod. She also sent the school a post card picture of the area. Unfortunately, due to local enviromental issues, the bottles could not be put in the ocean in Florida. But the bottle message did make an incredible journey across seas. How did one little bottle make that journey? Through Great Uncle Paul Theriault is how. Over the summer he contacted his son who is with an MP K9 unit serving in Iraq. Thus a new and exciting project evolved from this message being delivered. News traveled back to

Mrs. Casey Murphree at the school and to Randy's mom and a new project called "OPERATION: MESSAGE IN A BOTTLE " began. The students and teachers partisipating in the Operation have been busy writing letters to the soldiers and collecting items to go in care packages. The first letters and packages are already on there way to soldiers stationed in Iraq and in Faluga. The name of the soldier who helped get this amazing Operation off the ground is Sergeant Chad Theriault who is with the MP K9 unit. He was deployed from Germany after being there almost three years and has been in Iraq for several months. His narcotic MP K9 dog's name is Bak , a black German Shepard. Bak's job is to keep watch over the detention centers in Camp Bucca. " It was named Camp Bucca after the last name of the father of an Army soldier who was killed in the World Trade Center attacks" Said Theriault in a previous interviw in Florida. Sergeant Chad got a long overdue visit with his father recently sometime in September before having to return to overseas duties. It has been alot of work organizing the Operation. It started out having each class partisipating to decorate a 2 or 3 liter soda bottle to collect change to go towards items for the care packages and for postage to mail everything. Mrs. Susan Nolan and Mrs. Kim Mack set out to calling diferent busniesses for help and picking up donations. Mrs. Casey Murphree helped oraganize the Teachers and get things rolling at the school so that they could try and send the first mail out by the end of October. Happy to say that even though most places could only donate small items or gift cards etc. they only got a few no's out of all the phone calls made. Everyone wether they beleived in the war or not or wether they were Democrat or Republican wanted to help the kids with the OPERATION: MESSAGE IN A BOTTLE" . But you may want to get a kleenex for this,, The kids brought in over 95 % of the change in the bottles for the project and 100% of the items for the care packages. The kids even remembered the K9 dogs when bringing in items. They brought in so much stuff and were so excited about it that it took Mrs. Murphree, Mrs. Mack and Mrs. Nolan all three, 3 days to put the packages together and to mail them off from the post office. " The boxes were heavy, but we carried them in and piled them up at the Unionville Post Office and cheered when they were all stamped, labeled and sent on there way" says Mrs. Kim Mack . A special shipment of boxes were sent to a Chaplain serving at the 86th combat support hospital . Mrs. Murphree's class adopted the unit and worked extra hard to collect extra items to send. Some of the soldiers are SPC Austin Read, SGT. Chuck Fuller, PFC. Regina Stinemetz, SPC Alen Hamlin, PFC. Ben Herbest, SPC. Joshua Bowles, PFC. Bradley Magee,PFC. Jeremy McPhee, SSG. Gunnar Pederesen, and Chaplain David Snyder. Gunner Sakich 6 yrs old says he is having fun doing the soldier project and he wants to see the soldiers. Courtney Mack 5 yrs old says" I love the project, we sent them cookies and toothbrushes and we drew them a picture so they can smile. And they have backpacks like we do." Jonathon Griffin 5 yrs old says" I like the soldiers and I want to see them too and we got 10 100 50 monies and I write to them to make them happy." U.S. Marine Reserves Corporal Timothy Butler who just returned from Iraq came to the school to give some of the students encouragement and to talk to them about what a great thing they were doing by writing to the soldiers. Not only has this Operation made the students more aware of things around the world but they have used the Operation to work on there writing skills as well, how to properly address a letter etc. They have all ask some great questions and have worked really hard on decorating the collection bottles and there letters. Some classes even made pictures for the soldiers and one class even made a big poster with hand prints on it for them to share with other soldiers. If you would like to help the students with there "Operation Message in a Bottle" , you can make donations at Union Planters Bank in Eagleville where a bottle is set up. Or you can contact the school . Congratulations to Brianna Schema-horn 5th grade, Mr. Myrick's class for finding the misspelled word for last month. A correction to an earlier story, the 25 $ room fee is used for several items, but not for school lunches. If you have any further questions concerning this matter you should contact your local school board or child's school. Hope this clears that matter for those questioning. Please remember to come out to the basketball games and support your school. Community school wants to thank WSMV Snowbird for coming to the school to read books to the title 1 group. Thank you to the following busnisses and persons who have helped so far with the "OPERATION MESSAGE IN A BOTTLE" project. (in no particular order) Middle Tennessee Medical Center, Middle Tennessee State University Alumni office, and MTSU printshop, Mrs. Sheri Bowles, Mr. & Mrs. Dave Staples, TMC Heating and Cooling, Champions Run golf course, Paul and Debi Theriault,Dr. Ronald T. Wright DDS, Burger King, Southside Vet Hospital, Dr. John Gilmore, Nashville Dental, Kroger, Food Lion, Wal-mart, Bi-Lo, The Buzz 102.9, Three Corners Market, Community Cash Mkt., Eagleville Drug Center, Mr. & Mrs. Tony Snook, Mr. Paul Snook, Eagleville Union Planters Bank, and the parents of the students partisipating. Thank you all very much for making this a rewarding and succesful operation. God Bless you.

SGT Chad Theriault with his father Paul Theriault. The other picture is of the Sternman Mr. Cortney in Maine and the other is the soldier who came to the school to talk to the kids.

College Grove Senior Enrichment Center Honors Mr. and Ms. Senior of 2004

EAGLEVILLE TIMES

College Grove: On November 17, at noon, Gayle Bradley, director of the College Grove Senior Enrichment Center, announced the winners of the Mr. and Ms. Senior of 2004. Nominations were made and votes cast in mid-October. With no threat of hanging chads, the votes were counted and recounted, the results confirmed Sam Kirtley of Chapel Hill, Mr. Senior 2004, and Liz Goldman of Franklin, Ms. Senior 2004.

Sam Kirtley, in his weekly volunteer duties at the Center, answers phones, helps posting the Center' Monthly Calendar and does what ever else needs doing during his volunteer shifts. Liz Goldman volunteers as a Center Computer Arts Instructor, helped the Center solicit grants to improve the Computer lab, and served as President of the Center Advisory Council.

"Our Center is fortunate to have great member volunteers who share their time and talents with the Senior community," said Gayle Bradley. "Active volunteers like Sam Kirtley and Liz Goldman are always ready to jump in and help us out."

The awards presentation was made before the noon concert performed by the Donelson Serenaders who traveled from the SCI Donelson Center to perform for College Grove. The noon program was preceded by an 11:30 Birthday Potluck luncheon that is always open to the public.

College Grove Senior Enrichment Center, a Senior Citizens, Inc. Center, is open Monday through Friday from 8:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

Mrs. Woodson's Kindergarten class at Eagleville School has been preparing for Thanksgiving the last few weeks. They have been busy learning all about the Thanksgiving story and Pilgrim and Indians. The children have made both Indian and Pilgrim attire to wear during the Thanksgiving dinner at school and during their own feast to be held in the classroom. The feast will consist of pumpkin bread, nuts, raisins, popcorn, and apple cider. The children will have to tell something they are thankful for and then be seated at a long table complete with homemade placemats to join in the feast. Mrs. Woodson is very thankful for the wonderful boys and girls in her class. Happy Thanksgiving to all!

Eagleville Marching Band Competes in the Tennessee Division I State Championship

The Eagleville High School Marching Band performed their Southern Rock themed show for the last time at the Tennessee Division I State Championship on October 30, 2004. Eagleville was the 3rd band performing that day. They performed Rockin'; Down the Highway, Sweet Home Alabama, The Devil Went Down To Georgia, and Free Bird. There were several other bands from the middle Tennessee area there. Eagleville received all excellent ratings by the color guard, percussion, full band, and field commander judges and come home with 4 trophies. Great job guys!

Eagleville Annual Veteran's Day Program has Largest Turnout in Years

Eagleville's Annual Veteran's Day Program is always a moving experience but this year was extra-special. The amount of Veterans who attended this year's ceremony exceeded the amount of the years past. Mrs. Candace Williams, Ms. Kim Armstrong, and Mr. Michael McClaran sang patriotic selections, the band played, and Cadet 1st Lieutenant Jamie Smith sang the national Anthem. Our guest speaker this year was Mr. Whit Smith who is the father of our band director Mrs. Kelly Medford. 16 of JROTC's finest cadets did the Dazzle Step, Four Winds, and Blackout for the veterans. The veterans were also honored by the Sabre Guard and Color Guard. Taps was also played by trumpet players James Anderson (senior) and Jerrod George (sophomore).

All aboard! It's south central Tennessee's version of the Polar Express and it's loaded with wide-eyed kids of all ages excited about "goin' to pick up Santa". The first annual Santa Train will operate Saturday December 11th. from Wartrace over Tennessee's oldest railroad branch line. Trips are scheduled for 10:00 AM and 1:00 PM with a third planned for 3:30 PM if demand warrants. Tickets are $8. for adults and $4. for children under twelve. Instead of the North Pole, however, the train will travel to Stone Gait Walking Horse Farm to pick up Santa and his elves. Each ticketed child will receive a free toy and candy from Santa. A photographer will be available to take souvenir photos of each child with Santa. Trains will depart from the Wartrace Welcome Center on State Highway 64 in Wartrace. Advance tickets can be purchased during business hours at Drake Sign's located at 21 Main Street in downtown Wartrace. Tickets will also be available on the day of the trip at the Welcome Center. The Santa Train is sponsored by the Wartrace Chamber of Commerce and the Walking Horse & Eastern Railroad. For additional information call (931) 389-9999. The historic branch line from Wartrace to Shelbyville was constructed in 1852 by the Nashville & Chattanooga RR and is the oldest in the state. Regularly scheduled passenger service on the line ended in the early 1950's and ownership was eventually transferred to Bedford County. The Walking Horse & Eastern hauls freight from the CSX mainline in Wartrace to several industries in Shelbyville.
