Catch The Spirit Of Eagleville Cheerleading

By Melissa Buchanan

Eagleville varsity cheerleading has evolved throughout the years and has become one of the great athletic programs offered to students attending Eagleville High School. Cheerleading is a TSSAA sanctioned sport requiring a great deal of athleticism and physical prowess. Gone are the days of girls simply cheerleading on the sidelines in bobby socks and saddle shoes, instead the cheerleaders have become a team unto themselves made up of students who often times come from a gymnastics and dance background and where a back handspring is sometimes a prerequisite. With 2 hour practices 3-4 times a week during the school year, various competitions, and nights spent cheering on both the football and basketball teams, Eagleville cheerleaders must present good character, have acceptable grades, attendance, and behavior. Summer practices and cheerleading camp are also requirements. This year's team faired quite well at the Tennessee Tech based camp, bringing home 8 blue superior ribbons, a leadership award, and a trophy for Camp Champions.

Cheerleading coaches Amy Kendrick and Scott Bolden are gearing up for the next fundraising event that benefits their team of cheerleaders-a Gold Canyon Candle Sale coming up this March. The candle sale is a major fundraiser for the team as is the football and basketball homecoming dances. Proceeds from each event help with transportation costs, maintenance and upkeep on the bus, as well as the essentials- uniforms and poms. Coaches Kendrick and Bolden will be looking for students interested in joining the EHS cheerleading team, as the mandatory cheerleading clinic will be held March 13th-15th, 2007

Eagleville School To Host Book Fair Event February 23 - March 2

WHAT: Eagleville School will host a Scholastic Book Fair Friday, February 23 until Friday, March 2. Families, teachers, and the community are invited to attend the Fair. In the past, we have had some very successful book fairs with fun themes such as: Reading Roundup, Hats Off to Reading, and last year's Camp Read-A-Book. This year the special theme, "Book Fair Beach: Catch the Reading Wave" may be the best fun yet. On Thursday, March 1, from 3:00 to 6:00, the Book Fair will feature a special Community Event with special activities, games, refreshments, and door prizes.

WHEN: You can swim ashore at the Book Fair Beach daily from 7:45 to 3:00, February 23 to March 2.

WHERE: The Eagleville School Elementary Library Is being transformed Into Book Fair Beach. Please sign In the High School Office where you can receive directions to the beach. Eagleville School is located at 500 Highway 99.

MORE: The Book Fair will offer specially priced books and educational products, including new releases, award-winning titles, children's classics, interactive software, adult books, and current bestsellers from more than 150 publishers. The profit from the book fair will be used to purchase books and materials for our Media Center. Attendees can help the school build classroom libraries by purchasing books for teachers through the Classroom Wish List and One for Books activities.

Volunteers are always needed. If you would like to help, by reading stories, making and/or serving refreshments, unpacking or packing boxes, decorating, or anything, please contact Patti Smotherman, Eagleville School Librarian, 274-6336.

Bobbie Sue Shelton of Eagleville

Written by Yvonne Moon, originally published January 18, 2007 in the Rutherford Reader

Southern women see no contradiction in mixing strength with gentleness.

Sharon McKern

With a name like Bobbie Sue Shelton, you somehow know she's got to be born and raised in the South. Just the name alone conjures up an image --- a genteel woman with a friendly voice and a welcoming air. Upon meeting her, the expectations are met and far exceeded. She's a modern day version of the Southern matriarch --- a picture of mature beauty with graying hair, graceful and strong, so vibrant and passionate in her love for life.

Bobbie Sue Shelton was born Bobbie Sue Redmon in a small house trailer behind what is today the Eagleville, Tennessee Post Office. Later, the family moved to a house on Main Street --- the old house still stands next door to the Mexican restaurant downtown. When Bobbie Sue was around 12, her Dad built a house on the same lot where she was born. Bobbie Sue would live there with her family until she married in 1961. With her early childhood home located near the town's main thoroughfares, Bobbie Sue spent much of her childhood traipsing through the streets of downtown Eagleville. She remembers vividly some of the colorful inhabitants and frequent visitors to the area. One of the most memorable characters was the Goat Man, a traveling salesman/preacher who stopped by Eagleville occasionally on his frequent trips through the area. It was reputed he traveled over 100,000 miles in 49 states during his over 50 years of traveling. Bobbie Sue can remember as a young girl how "word of his arrival would reach Eagleville long before the sounds of clanking pots, iron wheels and the bleating goats." Another character of interest was longtime Eagleville resident, Sterling Owen "Dump" Edmonds, a noted inventor. It was he who first conceived the idea of the trailer truck (and the dump truck) along with several other inventions. He is also credited as the creator of an item of great importance to women everywhere --- the lipstick tube. Bobbie Sue's father, Junior Redmon worked with "Dump" Edmonds starting at the young age of 16. Bobbie Sue recalls how Mr. Edmonds was such a frequent visitor to the Redmon household when she was a young girl that she often thought of him as a grandfather.

These memories along with the numerous newspaper articles collected and preserved by her late mother, Nina Hudson Redmon, have proven invaluable as Bobbie Sue writes historical articles for the local community newspaper, the Eagleville Times.

Bobbie Sue is certainly not one to be bored. She retired in 1998 from Jostens in Shelbyville, where she worked for 28 years, most recently as head of the accounting department. Her late husband, Don Shelton, a teacher and principal in the Bedford County School System for 32 years, died in 1999. It was during this phase of her life that Bobbie Sue would often walk five miles a day for five days each week --- to stay busy while learning to deal with the grief of her husband's death.

These days, she stays busy researching and writing her newspaper articles, spending time with her family, and caring for her two pets, a cat named Socks and a white poodle named Chaz. She especially enjoys time spent with family --- her three children (now adults, a son and two daughters) and four grandchildren – one granddaughter and three grandsons and all very, very special! She has high hopes that her oldest grandson has inherited the "packrat" genes that she herself got from her mother. At age 13, the young teen has already started collecting items of nostalgic memorabilia from the 1940's and 50's.

Another very important aspect of her life is her upcoming marriage to Sonny Lonas, a well-known and respected Nashville musician. Sonny has worked with Patsy Cline, Ernest Tubb, and other major artists from across the country through the years. Bobbie Sue and Sonny met about three years ago at a senior citizens dance in Spring Hill where Sonny was performing with the band. Bobbie Sue has loved dancing since she was a young girl dancing to the jukebox at the downtown hangout in Eagleville. Today, the venues (along with the dancers' agility) may have changed, but the fun remains all the same!

One of Bobbie Sue's latest projects has been working in cooperation with local resident Don McCord in organizing a book about the history of the Eagleville community. She had previously helped to compile a book about the nearby community of Rover. When McCord began his project to write about the history of Eagleville and its' people, he began talking with residents by phone and in person. At times, he would drive the back roads of the community with elderly residents to gain their knowledge and recall --- to help document the various places and events he was writing about. Bobbie Sue helped to edit the research material and was able to provide many of the photos that are included in the book. Again, her mother's collection of old newspaper articles and death notices of local residents proved a wonderful source of information. Bobbie Sue said when the 525-page book with 230 photographs was finally published in 2006 (after years of research and editing); she and Don McCord were as thrilled and exhausted as proud parents with a "new baby!"

So, if you (like me and Bobbie Sue Shelton and her mother before her) are a packrat, don't give up on your endeavor. To some, the yellowed newspaper clippings and assorted mementos may seem like "piles of clutter" but to the historians of future generations, the items will be priceless. And remember that the valuable antiques of today were once household items that "someone just decided to hang on to."

By keeping alive the memories, we honor those people and places we hold so dear

Farm Service Agency

The Farm Service Agency has experienced several changes over the past two weeks. Karyl Smotherman Paul was hired as a temporary Program Technician, Melba McClelland, Permanent Program Technician retired effective Friday, February 2nd, and Anthony Tuggle who was our COC advisor will completed his term of service as of February 28th. Rebekah Norman from the UT Ag Extension Service will replace Anthony on our board at the March meeting.

Program news includes the following:

All DCP (Direct and Counter Cyclical Program) contracts may be renewed for 2007 from now until June 1. Producers are encouraged to come in and update these contracts as soon as possible. Advance payments for 2007 are being paid at 22% versus the 40% of advance pay that producers have received in previous years. This is a mandate by law for the last year of the 2000 Farm Bill. A new Farm Bill is being assembled and will be implemented in 2008.

The MILC-X (Milk Income Loss Contract Extension) program is continuing for eligible dairy farmers, however the price being paid for January is $0.03 and the payment is expected to continue to drop. Producers must still submit their tickets until September when the program will end.

Any producer who planted wheat last fall should report these crops by May 15th to fulfill reporting requirements.

TTPP (Tobacco Transition Program Payments) payments were made the last week of January and producers hould have either received a check or a direct deposit by now. If not, please let us know and we will research this matter for you. Due to the fact that these checks are written and sent from our Financial office in Kansas City, it sometimes takes us several days to track these payments. Thank you in advance for your patience in this matter.

1099's (Income Tax Forms) have been mailed. If you know you received payments from our office during 2006 and have not received this form to include in your taxes, please call our office at 893-9295.

NEWS FROM MS. HILL'S THIRD GRADE

We all had a wonderful Christmas and are anticipating a wonderful 2007! Most of us have learned our multiplication and division facts, are enjoying writing interesting compositions, and continuing to read a variety of books. We are now writing almost everything in cursive. A big E+ was earned by everyone on his or her puppet book report. The creativity was awesome! We have also enjoyed Mrs. Patterson's high school students reading some of their favorite stories to us each Friday. Several students participated in the "Jump for Heart" program. Many are wrapping up their 2006-2007 jr. pro basketball careers and getting ready for baseball and softball. As you can see, we are a very active and talented class.

Of course, we know how to party as well as work. After our parents provided us with a wonderful Valentine's Day spread we were off to the sock hop in the gym. A little slip sliding and getting down made our day complete.

Congratulations go out to the following students for the third six weeks.

Most Improved - CaityIn O'Brian

Citizenship Award (Respect) - Emily Carlton

Student of the Six Weeks - Jordan Turnage

Honor Roll - Rebecka Jackson, Seth Wilson, Kali Majors, Zachary Philburn, Taylor Turnage

Perfect Attendance for first semester - Tanner Brophy, Brandon Kelley, Kali Majors, Chelsea Scott, Jordan Turnage, Tanner Warf

We wish everyone a cozy rest of the winter and an early spring thaw.

College Grove Elementary Every School Every Day By Wendy Jones, Library Assistant

Monday, February 5 - The first graders have been learning about the weather. They have been charting the wind, temperature, sunny, cloudy and rainy days. The students have also been searching their long term memories to help them write and illustrate stores about having fun in the snow. Experiments with wind flags and thermometers have been fun. They will be experimenting with water temperature and the best water resistant fabrics.

Tuesday, February 6 - Mrs. Vickie Brake and Mrs. Carol Nations' second grade classes are engaged in their study of learning to balance and weigh many different kinds of objects. The students are learning about fulcrums and how to use equal arm balances. Thanks to Mrs. Sheila Dickerson for a great program presented by the second and third graders at the PTO meeting last Thursday evening.

Wednesday, February 7 - Mr. Dale Ploen's fourth grade math class has begun tackling fractions. Half the class period is spent on fractions of a whole, and the other half is focused on fractions of a set. Together, they make up one hundred percent of fractions. Next week we will learn to make fractions simple using least common denominators. At first we were all a little mixed up, but we will learn to deal with improper fractions when they come. I guess its time to split. See you on the flip side!

Thursday, February 8 - First graders have been illustrating and playing games with vocabulary words in reading, math, social studies and science. These have been very engaging and fun activities. Each class has also been performing skits in their reading classes. Making stick puppets and scenery, taking turns reading their lines, and being a good audience member has been a cooperative learning experience.

Friday, February 9 - The fifth grade students are anxiously awaiting news for the annual fifth grade play. Parts will be given and practice will soon begin. We are also eager to take our yearly writing assessment. Students have been working for six years to prepare for this event. Good Luck, guys!

Monday, February 12 - The fourth grade students worked very hard to be the winning class for the Read-a-thon. They will be taking a trip to the Franklin Skate Center and then to eat at Ci-Ci's Pizza today. Congratulations 4th grade.

Tuesday, February 13 - Tomorrow is Grandparents Day at College Grove Elementary. All grandparents are invited to have lunch with their grandchildren. If you plan to come, please let us know by calling 472-4320.

Wednesday, February 14 - The second graders have been working balancing and weighing using a beam balance and an equal arm balance in science. We've experimented, observed, recorded our data, and made graphs too!

Thursday, February 15 - The fourth graders are really excited about their study of electric circuits. So far, they have learned how to complete a circuit using a bulb, a battery, and a wire. They are looking forward to the culminating activity which is constructing a house with working lights.

Friday, February 16 - Don't forget that Monday, February 19 is President's Day. It is also a day off for students. Enjoy your day!

Wedding Announcement Smotherman & Paul

Mr. & Mrs. Jimmy Smotherman are pleased to announce the marriage of their daughter, Karyl Leigh, to Michael Wesley Paul of Columbia, TN. They were married at the Eagleville United Methodist Church at 2:00 p.m. on December 30, 2006. Kendra Smotherman was Maid of Honor with Katie Taylor serving as her sister's Matron of Honor and life-long friend, Megan Woodson, as Bridesmaid. Serving as Best Man was Michael's life-long friend, Nick Green, while groomsmen were the groom's brothers, David Paul and Houston Paul. Michael's uncle, Ronald Paul officiated the wedding. Scott Bolden played music for the special day.

The bride wore an ivory strapless gown and carried a bouquet of silk magnolias with pearls interlaced. The bridesmaids wore black and carried red poinsettias. The church was decorated with red poinsettias and magnolia blooms. After the ceremony, a delicious meal was served to guests by Karen Goins, Sue Haley, and Linda Stacey.

Michael and Karyl both serve in the National Guard. Michael works for CSX Railroad and Karyl is working at the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service. The happy couple lives at 208 Graham Drive, Eagleville.

Brian Edwards attended the TWRA Hunter's Safety Course in August. He hagged first deer in October during the juvenile hunt. A big 4-point buck. Way to go Brian!

Congratulations Morris Lackey

Retired from General Mills January 1, 2007. Celebrated with family and friends Saturday, January 13th at the Eagleville Community Center. The event was catered by Peggy and Eugene Pinkston.

Smithson & Shelton's Service Station was located on the corner of Hwy 99 & South Main Street. Claude Shelton and Fred Smithson run the station back in the early 60's. Claude and Fred could work on anything from bicycles to tractors. They always kept my windshield wipers up to par on my 57 Chevy. Fred could always remember everyone's first name. They were both good easy going fellows. You could drop by the station on Saturday night, get a couple of quarters worth of gas and ride all night. The front of the station was a early morning hangout for Governor Floyd, Fate Holder, Rooster Underwood and Arthur Barnes. Those guys would hang around talking and whittling, then, when the sun hit too hot on the front of the station, they would just move over to the front porch of Dr. Les Williams store. Photo submitted by Charles Ralston

I hope you have a favorite picture that you would like to share and tell us a little about. If you do, just email it to news@eaglevilletimes. com or, mail to PO Box 72, Eagleville TN 37060 or, leave in the drop box on the front porch of Ralston Antiques.

Homecoming was a hit in Eagleville!

Every spring the basketball homecoming is a huge event at Eagleville School, and this year was no exception. The week was celebrated with themed dress-up days, games, and a pep rally to cap off the festivities. With hours of decorating, planning, and rehearsing dedicated to making homecoming a success, all the hard work paid off.

"A Night in Paris" was the theme chosen by the Student Council's homecoming committee (made up of high school students and directed by student council sponsor Nancy Caukin).

With a beautiful Paris inspired backdrop that included a replica of the Eiffel Tower, park benches, and elegant lighting, the theme was evident throughout the ceremony. And what would a homecoming be without its court?

Each grade was represented well by both the ladies and the gentlemen, who were voted by the students to make up the court.

The following were the attendants for each grade: Freshman Class, Haylee Gregory and Will Duke;

The 2007 Homecoming Queen was Miss Kendra Harrell and the King was Derek Powell. The King and Queen were voted by the entire student body and they will also crown the 2008 King and Queen. Congratulations to all of the 2007 Eagleville Homecoming Court, and I encourage anyone who was unable to attend this memorable event to mark your calendars for next year!

When you think of February, you think of red hearts, cupids, and other symbols of love. Nationally, February is referred to as "Express Your Love" month. The dictionary defines love as: affection; strong liking, goodwill; benevolence; charity; devoted attachment to another and adore. It has also been stated that love comes in many degrees: Love for God, family, children, pets, friends and neighbors, to name a few.

All of the above are very important in one's life, but it has been proven that love for God and love for one's family can be the best recipe for a wonderful life. I think this is proven in a very popular Unionville, Tennessee couple: Thomas and Margaret Maxwell who have been married 71+ years.

Margaret Beatrice Ezell was born February 3, 1917 in a log home on Enon Church Road near Unionville. She and her twin sister, Mary Elizabeth, were the first children of Arthur Cecil and Anna May Purvis Ezell. Their younger siblings were Ernest and Virginia Ezell Smith Williamson.

Margaret attended Community School, graduating in May 1935. She and her sister, Mary, wanted to play basketball when they entered high school, but their father was against it. He later changed his mind and allowed them to play the last two years of their high school days. At this same time, there was another set of twins, Margaret and Mary Walheiser, who played basketball for Shelbyville

Back Row: Jim Edd Crowell, Neal Vincent, John Milton Kimmins, Aubrey Reed, Thomas Maxwell, Ervin Heath, Famon Sudberry, Nowlin Moon.

High School, and the two sets of twins often played against each other. Growing up, Margaret always had a love for music and was blessed with the gift playing the piano by ear. During high school, she had a total of five months of piano lessons; two months from Mrs. Potts and three months from Mrs. Stem. Because of her ability to play anything she heard, her lessons were not needed and were soon stopped. She would often play the piano at school for programs and for her classmates.

Thomas H. Maxwell was born October 24, 1915. His parents were Willie Newton and Edna Lee Sudberry Maxwell of the Longview Community. Thomas graduated the eighth grade at Longview Elementary School and entered into high school at Community School, Unionville. Thomas has a sister, Velma May Maxwell Cooper Cartwright. While visiting with the Maxwell's, I asked Thomas what his middle initial H stood for. He said, "The H is all there is to my middle name. My grandfathers were named James Henry Sudberry and Hugh Lawson Maxwell and my parents wanted me to be named for them so they decided on the letter H."

Thomas and Margaret met when Thomas entered high school at Community. They were sweethearts during their high school years. Thomas also liked to play basketball and was on the Community School team his sophomore, junior and senior years.

On December 28, 1935 Margaret Beatrice Ezell and Thomas H. Maxwell were married at the Unionville Methodist Protestant Church parsonage by Reverend C. I. Kelley, the same preacher who had performed the marriage ceremony for Margaret's parents, who also celebrated a 70th wedding anniversary.

When Thomas and Margaret married, they made their home with Thomas' parents at Longview. In about a year, they moved to the Unionville area on Enon Church Road near the house where Margaret was born. In 1946, they purchased 4 acres of land from Margaret's grandfather, Purvis, and built their present home. They acquired more of this land after the death of Mr. Purvis.

After Margaret and Thomas married and moved to the Unionville area, they started attending the Unionville Southern Methodist Church. Attending church in their horse and buggy, they often tied the horse to an old cedar tree in the churchyard. The same old cedar tree still stands as a constant reminded of days gone by. Margaret's music talent was soon needed in church, and she became the church pianist. Margaret started encouraging Thomas to sing, and he became the song leader. This dedicated couple still fills these positions and is thankful they are able to do so. Since that time, the name of the church has changed to the Unionville United Methodist Church, but the love of music hasn't changed for their pianist and song leader.

Margaret and Thomas have many memories of community activities of yesteryear. Several community centers were located throughout the area. Usually on Saturday nights, family orientated square dances were held at most of the centers. They attended some of them, enjoying the music and fellowship of their friends and neighbors. Margaret would play the piano with the "square dance" band while Thomas and Rover resident, Elroy Holden, would call the dances. This, like many other older community activities, has changed over the years, and some of the community centers have closed their doors.

Thomas was a farmer for several years before entering into public work. In August 1946, Thomas, Robert Orr and Ernest Sudberry were hired to drive the first school buses to Community School. For several years, Community School only had the three buses. Thomas drove the school bus for 12 years, watching some students complete their Grades 1-12 educations. Leaving the driving to someone else, he went to work for the Bedford County Highway Department as a road grader operator, retiring in 1962. Thomas served on the Bedford County School Board for eight years and is also a charter member of the Unionville Lions Club. Margaret was employed by Durango Boot Company in Chapel Hill, later working at Allied Rubber Company in Shelbyville for several years. She retired in 1975.

Although Thomas and Margaret never had any children of their own, the have been very involved in the lives of their nieces, nephews and their families. They attribute being involved with young people, whether it's family or youth from school and church, to keeping them young at heart. Over the years, they may have slowed down a little but still remain very active in the community. They have shared their talents with many other area churches and have entertained local nursing homes with music programs. This is a joy to Margaret and Thomas as well as the residents.

They are quick to agree that during their 71+years of marriage, their hard work, love and dedication to God and each other have seen them through the good times and the hard times.

Laura On Life

By Laura Snyder

The telephone has become a necessary evil in this world of noisy electronic equipment as far as I am concerned. Kids like to answer the phone. I hate to hear it ringing, I hate answering it.

I had a friend whose grandmother used to say that the phone was installed for her convenience and if it wasn't convenient to answer it, she wouldn't. And that was before answering machines and caller ID! She was a brave woman.

At what point did we start feeling like the sound of a phone ringing meant there was an emergency and you needed to drop everything and run to answer it?

My daughter loves to answer the phone. She, of course, doesn't think that there is some emergency when she runs to it. She simply wants to get there before anyone else does. Then there's the added benefit of possibly getting to talk to someone she knows before I do.

If she does manage to reach the phone before I do, it's most likely because I am not in a position to answer it. That's probably because I am in the shower or taking a much-needed nap.

For anyone else, it might be helpful when someone else answers the phone when they can't, but not in my case. If my daughter answers it and hears, "Is Mrs. Snyder there?" she'll run to wake me up or yell through the crack in the bathroom door until I turn the shower off because I think the house is on fire.

All of my children have been given instructions not to wake me or bother me when I'm in the bathroom except in the event of a house fire or when the wound that someone has sustained is bigger than a band-aid. My daughter, however, apparently believes that someone wanting to speak to me on the phone constitutes a viable emergency that I simply forgot to include in that list.

So, I stand there dripping wet yelling, "Where's the fire?!"

"There's no fire. Someone's on the phone!"

"Who is it?!"

"I don't know!"

"Lady or man!"

"Lady!"

"Did she sound like Grandma, Aunt Teresa, or the next-door neighbor?!"

"No! Come on, mommy, she's waiting!"

"I'm stark naked, dripping wet, freezing cold, and I still have shampoo in my hair! I'm not coming out for just anyone!"

"She sounded important!"

"Who did she ask for?"

"Mrs. Snyder!"

I groaned. "Okay, for future information, anyone who asks for "Mrs. Snyder" is not in the category of someone I want to talk to while I am in the shower!"

Poor kid. There are so many rules to remember. She mentally adds to the list: Mommy can't talk to someone if she's freezing cold....Oh wait, unless it's my friend from next-door.

As if the telephone isn't enough to drive you crazy, other people have a million ways to interrupt my daily life. So many ways, in fact, that the interruptions have become my daily life.

My husband may call me during the day and if I don't get to the phone before the fourth ring, he'll hang up and call my cellphone which is usually in my purse... at the bottom...in another room. My purse is a virtual no-man's land. Even something that is emitting a high-pitched Bach movement and beaming like a lighthouse beacon can not immediately be found in my purse. By the time I find it, open it, and answer it, he has hung up again. I throw the cellphone back into the depths of my purse and run for the computer where he'll be trying to e-mail me.

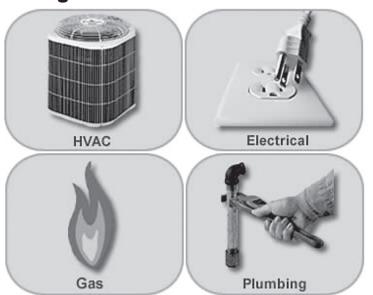

If I don't answer him in a reasonable amount of time, he thinks I've fallen down the stairs or I've flown to Tahiti with the pool-boy or something. We don't have a pool boy. In fact, we don't have a pool. But if we did, he would think that.

So as I sprint around the house, chasing the promise of a communiqué from my husband, I wonder what it would be like to be my friend's grandmother and simply not answer it?

Collecting Salt and Pepper Shakers

Many people love to collect salt and pepper shakers. My husband's great grandmother had over 200 sets when she passed away in her 70's. It is believed that for as long as there have been shakers, there have been collectors.

Before salt and peppers shakers as we know them today, people in the Victorian era placed their salt in open cellars. Because salt came in rock form, people would have to "chip" off what portion they wanted to use. Early saltshakers were actually salt mills. They contained a piece inside the shaker that broke the salt into small pieces. As the production of salt changed, the shakers no longer needed the arm to break up the salt. Hence, saltshakers began to take their more modern form.

During the 1940's is when the production of salt and pepper shakers really took off. Why is it that this particular time produced more shakers? The answer is ceramics. It became much easier to design shakers with shapes. It also became more affordable to produce the items.

Of course, the Internet has changed the collector's world.

You can find and purchase any type or shape of shaker imaginable. You can even search for salt and pepper shakers all over the world!

Why in the world would someone want to collect salt and pepper shakers? Well, there are a number of reasons and I'll let you in on some of those reasons:

- · Salt and pepper shakers are relatively inexpensive.
- · These shakers are a good way to capture memories of travel.
- The shakers can remind you of particular people in your life.
- · Some salt and peppers shakers increase in value over time.

What should you look for when collecting these shakers? There are a number of things you should seek including good detail, paint that will not flake off and heavier ceramics. Also, look for a manufacturer's label or appropriate markings if applicable.

There are also things you should look for when purchasing shakers including:

- · Chips or cracks that can make your set less valuable.
- · Glued or repaired pieces
- · Paying too much; do your research and know how much you should pay

Finally, keep your shakers in good condition by preventing breakage. Try to keep them in a place that is not accessible to someone who might handle them and accidentally break them. Do not dust your shakers excessively with dusting spray. This can produce build up. Lastly, make sure you catalog or keep a record of your shakers. Keep track of the name of the piece, the manufacturer, purchase details, and values. If you don't know all or some of this information, don't fret. It's okay if you don't know. Relax and enjoy your shakers. They are there for your enjoyment. Happy Collecting!

Garden Thyme With Tee

By Tee Billingsley

Gardening in the last two weeks in February

General Plans:

Make insecticidal soap by adding one tablespoon of liquid dishwashing detergent to one gallon water. Spray as usual.

Herb Plans:

- Give scented geraniums a dose of Epsom salts, one cup to a gallon of water.
- · Root scented geraniums. Cut 4 inches.
- Start seed of parsley and basil indoors for setting out later. Place on refrigerator.
- Plant cilantro in cold frame.

Rose Plans:

- The best time to prune roses is when half of the growth buds on the most vigorous canes are beginning to swell.
- 1. Prune dead wood from all roses and remove mulch very late in month.
- 2. Make cuts 1/4 inch above an outward-facing bud with the cut at a 45-degree angle away from the bud.
- 3. Remove any canes that are smaller in diameter than a pencil for hybrid teas.
- 4. Begin spraying roses with Insecticidal soap every week.
- 5. Cut a shoot back until it is white and healthy.
- 6. Remove suckers from the bottom below the ground.

Pruning hybrid teas only:

• Cut the oldest stems off at the base, leaving three to six healthy canes, and prune remaining ones to shape the plant.

Pruning floribundas:

- Remove the oldest stems at the base, leaving six to eight healthy canes, prune off the top third of each remaining cane. Remove onefourth of the newer growth each year.
- · Keep the center of the bush open.

Pruning climbing roses:

Cut back side branches to about 6 inches.

STUDGAT ARTWORK

Artwork of Emerson Browning, 8th grader at Eagleville School, was one of the drawings chosen by art instructor Melinda Dickson, to be framed and displayed for one year at the Board of Education Central Office in Murfreesboro.

PRESIDENTS' DAY COIN ART

Using double-stick tape, attach new Lincoln pennies and Washington quarters; face up, to a tabletop. Then try the activities below.

Cover the coins with a sheet of thin white paper. Have your child color over the coins with the side of a crayon to create rubbings of Lincoln and Washington.

Place a thin piece of white paper on top of the coins and color over them with a white crayon, pressing down hard. Let your child brush slightly thinned poster paint over the paper to make the president faces appear "like magic."

PRESIDENT'S DAY SNACKS

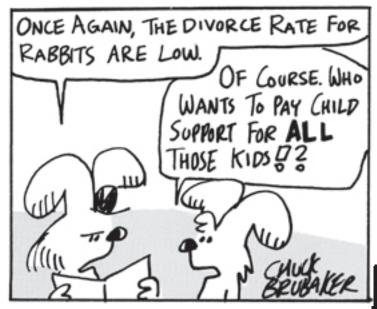

Serve Abe Lincoln Cabin logs "pretzel rods" with assorted dips such as peanut butter, Cream Cheese and ranch dressing.

Serve George Washington snack cups. Place crushed graham crackers into a small dessert dish. Top with canned cherry pie filling and a dollop of whipped topping.

CHICKEN ROLL-UPS

- 1 1/2 cup chopped cooked chicken
- 8 oz. pkg. sharp cheese, shredded 1 (8 count) can refrigerator crescent rolls
- 1 can milk
- 1 10 oz. can cream of chicken soup

Mix the chicken with half the cheese in a bowl. Unroll the dough and separate along the perforations. Place 2 tablespoons of the chicken mixture in the center of each roll. With 1 point of the roll facing you, fold the 2 side points over the chicken mixture. Fold the other point up toward the center of the roll.

Place in a greased casserole. Pour the milk over the rolls. Spoon the undiluted soup over the top. Sprinkle with the remaining cheese. Bake at 350 for 1 hour. Serves 4.

Note: Can substitute ham for chicken. If you do, use cream of celery soup and add pineapple tidbits.

Dear Trudy,

Dear Trudy,

I am the mother of a 6-year old daughter. My husband does not want me to advance in my career because it might take too much time away from our family. I love my family and I am very good at my job. I feel he is being unfair. Should I just ignore his wishes and follow my heart?

~ Torn

Dear Torn,

I'm curious if your hubby has actually articulated that he doesn't want you to advance, or if that is your assumption. His wanting a strong family unit and your desiring a career are not mutually exclusive. It's entirely possible that he yearns for the traditional family of his youth but does not necessarily want to thwart your professional ambitions either. Perhaps he just doesn't know how to articulate this inner turmoil, and it's also possible that you may have some ambivalent feelings of your own.

Communication and creativity are pivotal ingredients in a marriage, even more so in a two-career household with a child. There are many options out there that might possibly satisfy both your desires.

You two need to talk. If you have talked, this time somebody should try listening...but then again... that's just one opinion.

~ Good Luck!

Dear Trudy,

I've been dating this guy for a few months. He's a "nice" guy. He treats me well and we have some of the same interests, pursuits, etc. I just don't feel a strong chemistry. He's attractive, but it's not WOW. I'm hesitant to move very fast, even though he has clearly expressed his interest in something more serious. How do I know if this is the guy? If I'm unsure, am I settling?

~ Please help, So Confused

Dear So Confused,

Somewhere deep down inside you have at least part of the answer to this question.

It's helpful to begin with a brief self-assessment. Ask yourself these questions and see if there are issues that contribute to a need in you to have "a relationship," rather than a willingness to wait for the "right relation-

- · Are you happy with your current life?
- · Do vou like vourself?

FROM THE WORLD WIDE WEB - WWW

For those of you that don't have internet email, you tend to miss out on some pretty good statistics or jokes that get passed around the internet. For you, I decided to share some of this interesting fun. *Intended for fun only. No guarantees to authenticity.

DOES THIS REMIND YOU OF ANYONE YOU KNOW?

AAADD - Age Activated Attention Deficit Disorder

This is how it manifests:

I decide to water my garden.

As I turn on the hose in the driveway, I look over at my car and decide my car needs wash-

As I start toward the garage, I notice that there is mail on the porch table that I brought up from the mail box earlier.

I decide to go through the mail before I wash the car.

I lay my car keys down on the table, put the junk mail in the garbage can under the table, and notice that the can is full.

So, I decide to put the bills back on the table and take out the garbage first.

But then I think, since I'm going to be near the mailbox when I take out the garbage anyway, I may as well pay the bills first.

I take my check book off the table, and see that there is only 1 check left.

My extra checks are in my desk in the e study, so I go inside the house to my desk where I find the can of Coke that I had been drinking.

I'm going to look for my checks, but first I need to push the Coke aside so that I don't accidentally knock it over. I see that the Coke is getting warm, and I decide I should put it in the refrigerator to keep it cold.

As I head toward the kitchen with the Coke, a vase of flowers on the counter catches my eye--they need to be watered.

I set the Coke down on the counter, and I discover my reading glasses that I've been searching for all morning.

I decide I better put them back on my desk, but first I'm going to water the flowers.

I set the glasses back down on the counter, fill
