Cricket County Christmas Charity

Presented in December by Rocky Glade Cumberland Presbyterian Church

Cricket County, the only place where a beauty salon doubles as a taxidermy shop. In this installment of the Cricket County series, the hillbilly cousins get the idea that their sophisticated cousins from the city have gone flat broke. Hilarity ensues as they make their best attempt to come to their rescue. A fun that the loveable hillbillies teach us that it truly is better to give than to receive.

THE BUZZ AROUND CO-OP

This month meet Stanley Harris. Stanley has been an employee with Co-op for 21 years. He is a lifelong farmer with many years of experience in the dairy business as well as a crop farmer. He has much knowledge to share and specializes in animal health, crop production and chemicals. He is available daily to answer any of your questions.

SIMPLE WINTER TIPS WITH BIG VALUE...from Stanley

With winter finally here, there are a few important things to do that will make it a good winter for pets, livestock and your home and farm in the spring. Planning ahead is always a good idea to make your future farm production go well.

In the winter, keeping fresh water for pets and livestock is very important. It is just as important in the cold of winter as it is the heat of summer to have water for animals. Allowing hours of frozen water can be a hazard to your livestock's health, so a good source of heated water is a must. Salt, mineral and forage are also very important for your livestock during the winter to keep them in good condition and healthy.

A good time to get a jump start on weed control is now in the winter. Using chemicals on days in the 60's and warmer are perfect to put a growth stop to young weeds and grow a much better pasture and increased hay production in the spring. This will allow your fertilization to go to your crop and not weeds. We have a great selection of chemicals at Co-op for your farm and home needs. Stop by the Co-op, where questions are always welcomed!

A Message From Your Mayor Happy New Year!

The entire staff at your City Hall and all elected officials sends warmest and sincere thoughts to all the proud citizens of Eagleville.

We are all proud to serve you and thank you for the opportunity you have given us to enhance the quality of living to all our citizens.

I think one thing we can all agree on is we are living in a world that is changing at a rapid pace, sometimes faster than any of us wish. Let's not dwell on what we have no control of but rather focus on the positive aspects of our city, county and state.

The year ahead will provide us the opportunity with many decisions to make. We start the new year with a new Fire Chief, Rick Parks. Our Police Chief, Eli Stuard, has been on the job for one year now. As the citizen's needs grow Chief Stuard sees the need at some point in the future to expand our police force. Chief Parks sees great potential in improving our fire department with more training and equipment.

Both of these men work very hard everyday to provide safety and security to, not just our city tax payers but, our entire community.

There is great possibility this year we will see the construction of the long overdue waste water system [public sewer]. There is nothing that will enhance the quality of life and provide better service to our school than a sewer system.

A very positive fact is, retail sales and sales tax collected in our city is up 5 times over this time last year (500%). This is a huge increase and has caught the eye of county and state officials that our city is doing "something correct". Hopefully we can encourage more retail shops and good restaurants to move to Eagleville.

Along with retail sales increase the unemployment for Rutherford County has decreased to 5%, this is considerably lower than state and national average.

As our city and county progresses and moves forward, there WILL be growing pains and many questions will arise. Hopefully prompt and positive answers will always prevail. Many times questions arise that we at city hall need legal council and assistance from state officials. We will always work to provide you with the most honest and accurate information. PLEASE, PLEASE... if you have questions concerning city business, contact City Hall for CORRECT information. Please do not rely on confusing "hear say" opinions or rumors.

I sincerely THANK YOU for the opportunity to serve as your mayor. If I can be of assistance feel free to call my personal cell number 849-6509.

Please support our school and local merchants.

Sam Tune, Eagleville Mayor

Top 10 Commonly Used Abbreviations In Texting Translated To Plain English

Do you find yourself scratching your head and uttering "Huh?" as your kids tap away with awe-inspiring speed and ease on their cellphones, or communicate via instant messaging in a language that seems totally foreign to you?

- | | | |
|--|--|---|
| - 411 -- All the information | - PSOS -- Parent standing over shoulder | - CWOT -- Complete waste of time |
| - BBIAS -- Be back in a second (also BBIF -- be back in a few, and BBL -- be back later) | - KPC -- Keeping parents clueless | - IMSB -- I'm so bored |
| - BFN -- Bye for now | - NP -- Nosy parents (But this is also used as "no problem") | - BOOMS -- Bored out of my skull |
| - ETA -- Estimated time of arrival (used for deadlines and when to expect something/someone) | Want to know your kids' relationship status? Nothing to be alarmed about if they text: | - 121 -- One to one (private chat invitation) |
| - FYI -- For your information | - LYLAB -- Love you like a brother | If your son or daughter texts you a status report, you should be familiar with: |
| - KK -- Okay, okay (I understand what you're saying) | - LYLAS -- Love you like a sister | - BHL8 -- Be home late |
| - LOL -- Laugh out loud | - LDR -- Long distance relationship | - CUL8R -- See you later |
| - OMG -- Oh my God | But you don't want to see: | - G2G -- Got to go |
| - TTYL -- Talk to you later (also TTYS -- talk to you soon) | - 420 -- Let's get high/marijuana use | - G2R -- Got to run |
| - UOK -- Are you okay? | - LGH -- Let's get high | - ILBL8 -- I'll be late |
- If you want to know what your kids are saying to each other, here are some common text abbreviations to watch for. Parent alerts include:
- | | | |
|---|---|--|
| - PAW or 9 -- Parents are watching | - LH6 -- Let's have sex | - TTYL -- Talk to you later |
| - POV -- Parent over shoulder | - LHOS -- Let's have online sex | Don't panic! Learning to text message is like learning any new language or shorthand. Start with some basics and build your vocabulary gradually. |
| - CD9 -- Code 9, meaning Parents are around | - LIK -- Liquor | Remember that texting is designed to be casual, so conversations can start and stop at any time. If your child doesn't respond right away or drops out of a conversation, don't worry -- that's within the text-etiquette. |
| - P911 -- Parents coming into room alert | How is their day going? Here are a few common indicators: | So, GFI (go for it) 4COL (for crying out loud). HTH (hope this helps). |
| - PIR -- Parents in room | - 2MTH -- Too much to handle | |
| | - ADIH -- Another day in hell | |
| | - ADIP -- Another day in paradise | |
| | - LTHTT -- Laughing too hard to type | |
| | - HHIS -- Head hanging in shame | |

Below is the completion of the 1940 US Census, households 159 – 345, of the Eighth District of Rutherford County, Tennessee, released to the public in April, 2012. As we all know, many changes occur during the 10-year span from census to census. Between the census held in 2000 and 2010, the Tennessee population increased 11.5 percent, from 5,689,283 to 6,346,105.

Interesting comparisons from the Census of 1940 with the last one, taken 70 years later, in 2010:

|                          | 1940        | 2010        |
|--------------------------|-------------|-------------|
| Tennessee Population –   | 2,915,841   | 6,346,105   |
| Total U. S. Population – | 132,164,569 | 308,745,538 |
| Most Populated State -   | New York    | California  |
|                          | 13,479,142  | 37,253,956  |
| Least Populated State –  | Nevada      | Wyoming     |
|                          | 110,247     | 563,626     |

Other interesting facts of 1940 include:

The average cost of a new car - $1,611

A gallon of gas cost 18 cents

81.8% of US households owned a radio

The price of 1 lb. load of bread averaged 8 cents

On January 31, 1940, the first person received social security benefits.

In April, 1940, unemployment stood at 15% of the labor force and totaled 8 million persons

The Loss Of A Loved One: Joe King

By: Cathy Parham

The Eagleville Community has lost a beloved husband, father and grandfather. Our hearts will continue to mourn the loss of this wonderful man that gave of himself each day he lived on this earth. Now, he is with his heavenly Father, using his hands in helping the Lord with his many tasks.

Joe King was the husband of Margaret King, the father of five loving children and grandfather to many grandchildren. He loved them all dearly. Each day, Joe touched each heart with his kindness from himself. He used his hands in helping anyone in need, especially his family.

I thank God each time Uncle Joe came to my rescue. I had the opportunity to visit him several times during his recent illness. My last visit was this past Tuesday. I took his hands in mine, and told him of the countless times he has used these hands to come to my aid. I recounted many memories with him. One of which was when Margaret and I were both sick with the flu. I was too weak to take care of myself and Joe would take care of Margaret, then come over to my house and give me a dose of medicine. He did this until we were both well; we sure were sick. In hearing this story he took his hand in mine and patted it, and a little grin came across his face.

I thank God for giving me the opportunity to know this loving and kind man. Joe King will be missed by many people, but most of all he will be missed for his kindness toward others. The Lord knew what he was doing when he blessed us all with Joe King.

Eagleville Times

On The Web at: www.eaglevilletimes.com

In Memory of Jane Simpson

In August of 2004 the Eagleville Times ran this Citizen of the Month article on Jane Simpson.

In December Mrs. Jane passed away and we would like to re-run the article in her memory.

Jane & Milton Simpson

I have been a resident of Eagleville all of my life. My daddy was Dr. J.E. Stephenson, a dentist from Spring Hill, Tennessee, the son of George W. and Lucy Elizabeth Epps Stephenson. My mama was Mary Claire Hughes of Eagleville, daughter of David Henning and Lucy Holland Jones Hughes. There were two boys and four girls in our family. George Hughes, Elizabeth Holland (Holly) died at age two, Walter Henning (Bub), Virginia (Sis), Pauline (Paul), and Mary Jane (that's me). We lived on Hwy 99, second house on the right going into Murfreesboro, where Suzanne and Johnny McClaran now live.

Our house was, you might say, in the middle of town and a good place to play. All of my life I can only remember our yard being full of boys and girls of all ages, ready to play games such as, kick-the-can, hiding, croquet, card games and many others. It was just a convenient place to gather. Daddy and Mama like for all the children to be in their yard. They said that when the children were in their yard, they knew where their own children were and they knew all were safe. Mama didn't have any flowers or shrubs in the yard until all of us were grown up and going our own way. It was just as well because we would have killed them while playing. We all did have lots of fun. I can't begin to name all that came to play, but they knew they were always welcome.

Our summers were always fun. In addition to all of our friends getting together, we liked to do different things. Lots of days we all would walk about three miles to the river to go swimming. Mrs. Penson, a very nice lady, would let up come into her home and change our clothes. She also let us come back into her home, wet as we were, to dry off and change clothes again. Daddy would usually come and get us when he got home from his office. We didn't have to walk back to Eagleville.

Traveling shows use to come to Eagleville in the summertime. This was something different. It didn't cost much to get in the show. They sold little boxes of candy and crackerjacks, which had prizes in them. They really made it sound like we would be getting valuable prizes but we soon found out that wasn't true. One show set up in a vacant lot owned by Mr. Riley Wheeler, about where the Mexican restaurant is now located. At a different time, I remember one in the lot where Mrs. Dot John's house now sets, then, there was a carnival like show that set up in a vacant lot on Mr. Ed McCord's farm on Hwy 41A, North. These shows didn't come to Eagleville often, but they were fun and something different for all.

Gypsies used to come to Eagleville. They were people that just wandered from place to place. Everyone always dreaded seeing them coming to Eagleville. They went into the stores and would steal items and distract people while they picked pockets. This made the people of Eagleville very uncomfortable while they were in town. I was afraid of them. One time, when I was very small, it seemed that you couldn't look in any direction unless you would see several of them. I locked every outside door so that they couldn't get in the house. Bub, my brother, came home from the store and couldn't get in the door. He started rattling doors and making all kinds of noises. This really upset me. I just knew something bad was going to happen to us. Mama went to the door finding only Bub playing a joke on us. I was really mad at him. He just laughed and laughed at me. The gypsies usually stayed around for three days to a week and would then move on.

Then, there was the "Goat-man" (that is what we called him) that came through Eagleville many times. I don't remember much about him other than he had a wagon pulled by a team of goats. I think goats also followed the wagon. There was a young boy that was always with him. They would stop, feed and water the goats. The "Goat-man" and the boy would eat and rest and be on their way.

A memory that is very vivid in my mind is the first day of my school years. Fall of 1934, age five years & seven months, Miss Grace Fann (married Mr. Bill Wheeler later) was my 1st grade teacher. Our parents left all of us with Miss Fann. This was not to my liking. Miss Fann led us into a large room, the auditorium, where the whole student body and visitors assembled for the first day of school activities. I was in the seat next to the center aisle (lucky for me). Being very unhappy to be there, I looked to the back of the room and saw my mama. I ran as fast as I could go to get to her and everything was finally good again.

Miss Fann taught 1st and 2nd grades, Miss Erlene Carlton (later married Grady Elmore) taught 3rd and 4th grades. Due to some changes the next year, Miss Erlene also taught us in the 5th grade. Mrs. Frances Nance taught 6th grade. The 7th grade was different for us because for the first time, we had a man teacher, Mr. Raymond (Bull) Brown. I really liked him. He coached the high school basketball teams. In the 8th grade, we had two men teachers, Mr. J.B. Pressgrove and Mr. Lemmie Manier. Miss Ethel Elmore taught music. This included all kinds of instruments, voice and glee clubs. Teachers changed from year to year. These are the teachers that I had in elementary school. Grade one through eight only went to school eight months out of the year. Grades nine through twelve went nine months a year. The year that I was in the 8th grade was the last for anyone to go only eight months.

School was never called off due to bad weather, at least when I was in elementary school. If the school buses couldn't run, everyone got to school the best way they could. Usually the ones at school were those that lived close in Eagleville. I remember one big snow, Mr. Grigsby with the permission of all parents, went with the students to Mr. Sam William's hill. We did have fun sliding down the hill on slides and whatever we could find to slide on. Another time, the weather was so cold that the river in front of Edna Jackson's house froze over. We sure did have fun ice-skating.

High school found us changing classes all day. This was different for us. The teacher that I remember when I was in high school at Eagleville were Mr. Bill Wheeler, the principle, who also taught Spanish, English and maybe some math; Marie Farmer taught Home Economics, some Science classes and maybe English; Mrs. Edna Windrow taught Science and math classes; Mr. Lemmie Manier taught history, geography and social studies; Rush Taylor, Jr. coached basketball, baseball and softball teams. He also taught some classes in the 8th grade. Other principals that I remember were Mr. Ray Dowdy and Mr. Charles Grigsby.

The competitive sports that we played in high school were basketball, softball and baseball. There were very little changes in the rules, if any; in the way the boy's basketball and baseball games were played. The players did not have the run of the whole court. The floor was a three-division court, two forward players, two center players and two guard players. I played this way when I was in elementary school as a center. When I played in high school, the rules for the girls changed to a two-division court, three forwards and three guards. I played forward position. We could only dribble the ball one time until the rules were changed again for us to dribble twice. We thought we could really cover a big area with that second dribble. Fast-pitch softball was all we ever knew. We never heard of slow-pitch. That was the only difference in softball. No lights, so we had to play games in the afternoon, during school hours, sometimes at our school and sometimes at the school of our opponent. We usually had a crowd at the games because most of the student body was excused to watch the games.

Daddy and Mama always went to all of our basketball games. They didn't ever go by themselves because when time rolled around to go to the away games, many students that had no way to go were at the house to see if there was room for them. Daddy never refused to let anyone ride. One time I remember, there were eleven that rolled out of the car. They didn't mind how crowded, just along as they could get to the game.

Graduation finally came the spring of 1946. After two years of college, two years teaching at Eagleville School and finishing college in 1951, Milton Simpson and I were married the day after I finished. Milton farmed full time until sometimes in the early 1970's. At that time, he farmed part-time and worked in construction. We lived in Eagleville with my mother. I taught one year at Rockvale and two years at Chapel Hill. At this time an opening became available at Eagleville School again. I accepted that position and became a permanent fixture at Eagleville until I retired in 1983, with 31 years of teaching experiences. Since the year that I taught in Rockvale, I have been the song leader and choir director at the Eagleville United Methodist Church, of which I have been a member since 1938.

We have two daughters, Suzanne, married to Johnny McClaran and, Rita, married to George Boyd. They each have one child; Davy McClaran married to Melissa Daughrity; and Gretchen Boyd Thompson married to Lucas Thompson.

We are proud parents, proud grandparents and now proud great-grandparents of Ryley McClaran and Lizzy Thompson.

A Gift From God

By: Cathy Parham
Rocky Glade Cumberland Presbyterian Church

This Gift from God that I am speaking about has been given to Chad Lamb. Chad was given so many gifts and talents because God believed he would utilize these talents in his name. Chad is married to Jodi, and they have two children, Sophie and Sutton. This beautiful family was also a gift from God. Jodi and their children have also given up their time to let him do the work for God. Our church, Rocky Glade Cumberland Presbyterian, has benefited from Chad's talents for many years. One of his many duties, he is now an Elder of our church, this responsibility comes much grace. We have seen his hand at work through Vacation Bible School. He paints by hand the backdrop for our theme each year; I am sure you have seen his work if you have visited our church during VBS.

The main reason I am writing this for the Eagleville Times is our church would like to thank Chad for his remarkable work he has done with our recent Christmas Play. Chad directed the play and also had a main part; playing two roles is easy for him. Chad wrote many of the characters' scenes throughout the play; I am sure many people did not know about that talent (I certainly did not).

Our church had many volunteers to help with the play, so he decided to write the scenes for eight characters. He did not want to leave anyone out; he could only do one thing: he wrote them into the play. The play flowed so seamlessly I am sure no one could tell that he made these additions. A lot of work and dedication went into putting this play on for our church and community. All of the actors that were in the play did not mind coming twice a week for two months to play practice. We enjoyed the fellowship and much laughter each night as we prepared for our parts. As friends and family at the church we regard Chad with love, respect and the faith in our Lord. As a member of our church, I would like to take this opportunity to let him know how much he is loved by us all at Rocky Glade. There is not enough paper for me to write about all of Chad Lamb's attributes, but the Lord knows them all, and that is why he has blessed this child from birth to give of himself each day.

GOD BLESS YOU CHAD LAMB.

PASTOR'S PONDERINGS

By Pastor Ken Sharp, Jackson Ridge Community Church

As we begin another year, the year 2013, may we all be reminded of the words of the apostle Paul, "Be not conformed to this world: but be transformed by the renewing of your mind" (Romans 12:1). Non-conformity to the world and its ways, transformation through a new mind, these are the ideals with which Paul challenges the Romans as he urges them to surrender their lives to God. At the beginning of another year, we also are faced with the same challenge, and we must ask ourselves a few direct questions. Are we prepared to be non-conformists for Jesus Christ? Are we willing to be thought different, to stand alone if necessary for the sake of Christ? Is our great heart hunger for a complete transformation (the Greek means "life-change") into the very image of Christ? And above all, do we really want a renewed mind, an outlook upon life that is steadily less of the world and more of Christ? All these can be yours and mine, not through striving, but through obedience to the will of God for us as we abide in the Lord Jesus Christ. May this coming new year be that kind of year as we abide and walk in Christ Jesus in 2013!

Have a blessed and happy New Year in 2013!

Health & Wellness

by Howard Baker, RN BSN

A New Year's Resolution

Can you believe it's time to bring a close to 2012 and ring in 2013? It seems like only yesterday we were setting goals and making New Year's resolutions for 2012. I have to admit this holiday season has been one of the most stressful and I welcome the official close of the year as we ring in the New Year. 2012 saw its fair share of devastating storms, senseless shootings, and celebrity deaths, Whitney Houston, Phyllis Diller, Larry Hagman, Andy Griffith, Neil Armstrong, and Dick Clark to name a few.

A New Year's Resolution of losing weight, exercising, or to stop smoking are all great—but, have we kept those well intended resolutions made after a holiday season of overindulging in comfort foods, endless parties, and shopping? I searched my brain for the perfect New Year's Resolution until my head hurt, and as I looked up to see my dog Skyler staring at me—it was like eureka! It came to me my 2013 New Year's Resolution would be, to be more like my dog.

It doesn't matter if I run a quick errand or take a weeks' vacation, on my return Skyler greets me with the same enthusiasm. If I step on her paw or hurt her feelings she accepts an apology and quickly moves on. When I bake treats for her she stands patiently by the stove while they bake as if I were creating a masterpiece or the cure for boredom. A ride through the subdivision with her head hanging out of the window with her ears flopping in the wind is like an exotic vacation. WOW, how a dog reacts with such excitement to seemingly insignificant acts of friendship and kindness—no expectations, no conditions, just tail wagging fun. In return I have her friendship and love, she notifies me when the mail runs, warns me of nearby cows on our drives, and seemingly knows when I need a friend.

What if our 2013 New Year's Resolution is to simply do random acts of kindness? Imagine our actions kind in nature, no expectations or motives, simply just an act of kindness. If we made altruism and giving part of our everyday life, helping a neighbor, buying a cup of coffee for a stranger, or simply volunteering our time and skills to someone in need. Researcher Stephen Post believes you get more health benefits by helping others than you would by smoking cessation or exercising. Researcher Elizabeth Dunn, found people who spend money on others have greater happiness than those who spend it on themselves.

Can you imagine how life would be if we approached family and friends like our dogs, and what a difference this tail wagging attitude would make in our personal relationships? How do you feel when someone does something kind for you, now think how you feel when you do something kind for someone else.

My 2013 New Year's Resolution is going to be more like Skyler and to give random acts of kindness. Let's try it together and see if our new year is not filled with more joy, happiness, health, and fun!

Little Stories About You & Me

By Nancy Allen

The Worst Christmas Present, Ever!

"No, absolutely not—I will not buy our son a snake for Christmas," said June.

"But Honey, it's all he asked for. It's not as if he's a child. He's studying to be a herpetologist."

"I can't believe you want to give our son a poisonous snake for Christmas. When friends ask me what I gave my son for Christmas I'll have to say I gave him a snake? It's embarrassing."

"The copperhead is the only snake he lacks. It will make his collection complete. He told me where to buy it. I'll just go get it and you won't have to go. You don't even have to look at it if you don't want to."

"Ok by me, the further I am from a snake the better."

Bill bought the snake and brought it home in its secure wire cage. Their Christmas party was the next day. June was glad she would only have the snake in her house for one night. Bill wrapped Christmas paper around the cage and punched holes in the top for air. He placed a big red ribbon on top.

"I've eaten too much," said Mike. "Mother you outdid yourself this year. Your pumpkin pie is the best."

"I'm glad you could get away from your science experiments long enough to be with us. You make our Christmas special," said June.

"Time to open the presents," said Bill as he came into the den with a cup of coffee and a piece of pie in his hands. "Here Mike, you go first," handing Mike the wire cage.

Mike began unwrapping the cage. "I can't believe you actually got me the snake. She is a beauty, nice and plump. Oh, my gosh, she's having babies."

"She's doing what? I didn't see any eggs," said June.

"No eggs—copperheads bare their young live," said Mike as he beamed with excitement.

"How many are there?" asked June as she edged closer to the kitchen door.

"Twelve strong bodied little miracles," said Mike. "Unbelievable, awesome."

The family finished opening their gifts and ate the rest of the pumpkin pie while watching the football game. As Mike gathered up his gifts to leave, he looked in on the new mother and her babies.

"Thanks for my copperhead. Now I'm in good shape for the nature study display next month at school. Hey, wait a minute. Did somebody take two of the babies out of their cage? There's only ten here."

"No, you know I didn't touch them. Do you mean they're missing?" asked June.

"They must have crawled out through the wire top. They are strong little buggers," said Mike laughing.

"It's not a laughing matter. You find them right now," said June.

"But mom, they could be anywhere. They're probably outside already."

Mike and Bill searched the house for over an hour and never did find the missing babies, but for the next year June saw them in every corner. It was the worst Christmas gift ever and the thought of two missing snakes baring live babies haunted her for years.

Winter Tips For Seniors

By Mary Ann Steelman-RN

Ice, snow and freezing temperatures accompany the winter season. All of these characteristics of winter can cause dangerous accidents and illnesses. The dangers that come with winter can be prevented though. There are certain preventive steps to take and valuable information to know that can help defend against the winter elements.

First, there are ways to prepare your home for the winter weather. The Center for Disease Control and Prevention's National Center for Environmental Health provides some helpful tips.

- Make sure you have a way to heat your home in case of power failure. Have a fire extinguisher handy when using alternative heat sources.
- Keep certain items on hand: extra blankets, flashlights, matches, first aid kit, manual can opener, snow shovel and rock salt.
- Have extra water and medications, and have food that doesn't need refrigeration or preparation in case the weather is bad enough to keep you from leaving your home.
- Keep your home warm or stay at a friend or family's warm house in extreme temperatures. This is especially important if you have infants and for seniors.

Taking measures to prevent falls is also important with the icy and snowy winter weather. According to the National Center for Injury Prevention and Control, one third of all adults at least 65 years of age fall each year.

- Ensure walkways are well lit, and keep ice melt and a snow shovel just outside the door to avoid the risk of slipping on ice.
- Keep mats just inside of doorways so people can rub the snow and ice off their shoes.
- Wipe up puddles inside.
- Put rubber tips on ends of canes and walkers, or modify them with metal grips or ice picks.

The extreme temperatures of winter can also cause sicknesses such as the flu and colds. Another serious and common condition that is not often thought of is hypothermia. Seniors are at serious risk for hypothermia, especially those who are diabetics and smokers, or who have peripheral vascular disease or circulatory problems. There are certain things to do and know about hypothermia.

- Check the thermostat daily to make sure it is high enough. The National Institutes of Health recommends seniors set them at 68 degrees Fahrenheit or higher.
- Look out for symptoms of hypothermia in you or a loved one. These include confusion, lethargy, poor coordination, slurred speech, intense shivering, persistent purple fingers and toes, numbness, and weak or irregular pulse.
- Seek emergency medical help when you or a loved one is experiencing hypothermia. Warm them up with blankets and be careful not to rub parts of their body. Do not put them in a hot bath or shower.

With today's economic hardships, it may be financially difficult to keep homes heated properly. But there are inexpensive ways to help keep the heat in and the cold out.

- Apply inexpensive plastic sheets to the inside of windows.
- Minimize use of ventilation fans.
- Close the vents in rooms you don't use and close doors to those rooms to keep cold from spreading throughout home.

The winter season can be a dangerous time for people. By preparing for this season, you can help prevent falls and sickness, and make it more comfortable. With preparation, you may be able to improve your winter.

R. O. K. (Rewarding Our Kids) Concert

On the evening of February 23, 2013, a free concert will be held for all Bedford County students, at the Calsonic Arena in Shelbyville, Tn. Students from other counties are welcomed with an admission charge of $5.00. The event will be held from 6 to 9 p.m., with the doors opening at 5 p.m.

Sponsored by the Emergency Services of Shelbyville/Bedford County, this concert event will consist of three Christian Rock/Pop groups. Those present will not only enjoy great music, but music with a positive Christian message.

Although this concert is a combined effort of the Bedford County Emergency Services, they ask for support and contributions from the entire county community. All contributions will be channeled through the Bedford County Fire Department, Chief Mark Thomas. The youth of Bedford County as well as surrounding communities will receive the benefits of this organized event.

Emergency Services Day Out

Earlier in the day, the Emergency Services of Shelbyville and Bedford County with expected participation from The Tennessee Highway Patrol, National Guard, Air EVAC, and ATF, will be holding Bedford County's first Emergency Services Day Out. This is an effort to enlighten the community about the county's Emergency Services and what they have to offer. This information could be very important when an actual emergency occurs. The event will also be held at the Calsonic Arena, 9 a.m. till 2 p.m.

Please additional information; contact Jason Barber, Asst. Chief Unionville Fire Department @ 931-294-5223.

Electronic Recycling Program

Great news! Starting August 1, 2012, The City of Eagleville will begin a new service for its residents. Employees of the Eagleville Police and Fire Departments will pick up old/broken televisions and computer equipment to transport to a recycling center in Murfreesboro. There will be no cost to City of Eagleville residents for this service.

Mayor Tune and the City Council recognized the need for this type of assistance, especially for senior citizens; as disposing of heavy televisions, computers and electronic equipment is not allowed at the local Rutherford County trash collection site in Eagleville.

Citizens can call Eagleville City Hall at 615-274-2922 to schedule a pickup.

Monday – Thursday: 8:00 am – 5:00 pm
Friday: 8:00 am - noon.

CALENDER OF EVENTS

1st Saturday Night Each Month - Country Music & Dance at the Community Center in Eagleville.

Jan 13 - Mar 3 “Wedding Dresses Through the Decades” Elegant and fashionable wedding dresses worn by ladies from the 1870's to 1940's will be on display at the exhibit Jan. 13 through March 3, 2013 in Maney Hall at Oaklands Historic House Museum. The exhibit is in conjunction with “Language of Love and Courtship” tours also taking place through March 3, 2013. Both are included with regular admission to the museum. “The clothing and textiles are now very fragile and delicate,” said Nila Gober, curator of Oaklands. “We look forward to sharing the hidden collections of Oaklands and others in the community with our visitors.” The exhibit will be open 10 a.m. – 4 p.m. Monday-Saturday and 1 – 4 p.m. Sundays.
