EAGLEVILLE HIGH SCHOOL - GRADUATION 2004

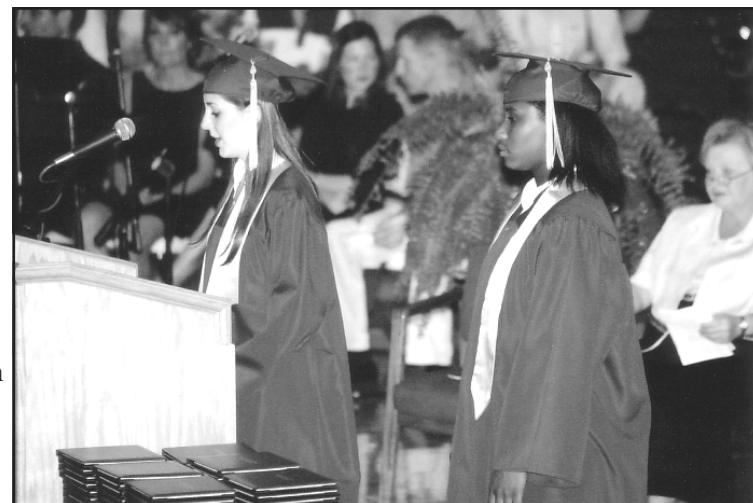

May 21, 2004 the graduating class of 2004 gathered, some tearful, some nervous and others excited to dress in maroon cap and gown in preparation of the Big Event, the 2004 commencement exercises. This class is not the first and is not the last to graduate from Eagleville School but for each child and their family and friends it is a special night made even more special as it was Principal Buddy Pate's last graduation exercises as an active principal.

The school year ended with senior week, breakfast, picnic in the park, graduation practice, Baccalaureate on May 16th, senior slide show and senior video. These events followed the familiar end of year activities in which all students participate such as the athletic banquet, FFA banquet and awards ceremony, ROTC awards dinner, academic awards day and spring Olympics.

Promptly at 7:00 p.m. the processional music began and Pages Ashtynn Gentry and Katie Shap-cott escorted the graduates in the nearly full gymnasium. Parents, faculty, family members, students and friends watched in anticipation as these seniors filled the seats on the gym floor designated for the graduates. Emily Porter, Senior Class president welcomed the crowd and Jessica Harrell, Senior Class vice-president shared an inspirational thought. Chaticha Reed led the crowd in the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag. Mr. Pate shared a few thoughts with seniors and the audience as he concluded his final graduation exercises as a principal. Faculty members Kim Armstrong, Michael McClaran, Candace Williams and Rich Williams saluted the graduates by singing "There You'll Be". Kelli Cook, Nathan Robinson, and Amber Stoklasa were honored as the class Valedictorians. Nathan spoke with the students about "New Beginnings" and Kelli shared remarks with her classmates about the "Thrill of Living". Although Amber was unable to attend the ceremonies due to illness, her sister, Angie Stoklasa delivered her speech about "Success". Emily Porter, Salutatorian addressed the graduates with a speech titled "As Time Goes By". Ms. Armstrong once again provided a musical salute by singing "I will Remember You". During the senior video, which everyone enjoyed, the seniors honored their parents by individually giving them a rose and many hugs. Assistant Principal Rhonda Holton shared with the guest and family members many of the accomplishments of the class including the numerous scholarships individuals have received and the plans many of them have for serving the country by enlisting in a branch of the military.

Following this, the graduates marched across the gym floor to receive their diploma, a culmination of 13 years of hard work and commitment to a goal. Following the singing of the Alma Mater and with the pronouncement of "You May Now Move Your tassels and Congratulations," 53 hats flew towards the ceiling as collective applause and laughter filled the gym.

Operation College Grove Cares Begins at Senior Center

College Grove: The College Grove Senior Enrichment Center is collecting letters, cards and other not-so-perishable items for Chris Tomlin of College Grove who is serving in Iraq with the 168th MP division out of Lebanon, TN. His unit was schedule to come home in May but their tours were extended till December. Items that are being sought are simple notes to Chris and his fellow Tennessee soldiers as well as items that will not spoil during the 3-6 week delay in shipping.

"It seems everyday we hear on the news another sad story coming out of Iraq, so when Chris's sister, Connie, who works at the Community Center told us about his tour being extended, we wondered if we could gather a care package to send," said Cherry Ralston, Program Director for the College Grove Senior Enrichment Center. "Connie has told us that the guys just live for mail call and the packages from home, and that is so understandable. Everyone loves to get a letter and these guys have been in terrible conditions and stressful duty and a word from home must be a tremendous boost."

If you would like to drop off any cards or letters or other items to send to Iraq, please drop them off to the College Grove Senior Enrichment Center at 8607 Horton Hwy. in College Grove or send to College Grove Senior Enrichment Center at Box 223, College Grove, TN 37046. Items can be dropped off Monday-Friday from 8 am till 3pm.

For more information on Operation College Grove Cares or the Center's classes and activities, please contact the College Grove Senior Enrichment Center at 615-368-7093 or email Cherry Ralston at cralston@scitn.org. The Center features educational and recreational experience classes and events for seniors and the public. The Center is open Monday-Friday from 8:00 am to 3 pm.

“Hop On The Bus With Us”

EAGLEVILLE TIMES

The eight of us gathered at the school dressed in tuxedos and prom dresses while our parents took pictures. Everyone had heard of our tragedy, the last minute cancellation of the limo that day at 1:00 but all I said was “my mom worked it out”. And work it out she did. After frantic phone calls to limo services which were of course booked as spring is a busy time for banquets, award shows, proms, weddings, she found a solution. My mom called my cousin, who called someone she knew who called someone he knew... and....

I don’t believe any of the group believed me when I said, “you see that bus coming down the road, that’s our ride to prom.” But indeed it was. What my mom worked out was a tour bus used by a country band and so the eight of us traveled in style, complete with two living areas, a bathroom, kitchen area, satellite T.V. and a complete DVD and stereo sound system. Of course all the parents and siblings had to tour the bus before we could leave.

Our driver was Peanut and he delivered us to Opryland Hotel in true style. Others arrived in limousines and in personal vehicles. The 2004 Prom was an incredible night of fun with friends and classmates. Opryland provided a great location with its beautiful facilities and gardens. The choices of music suited everyone and gave Michael, Josh, Jeff, Nathan, and Liam the opportunity to perform their “N Sync” impression. Josh Bolden was crowned prom king and Kelli Cook was crowned prom queen. Best tuxedo went to Jeff Bail who sported a red tuxedo and best dress went to Crystal Jordan. Most original prom dress went to Kelli Cook who modified her dress to reflect her favorite color, kelly green and her fun personality and most original tux went to Charles Stegall who was dressed in baby blue.

Following prom was the great ride back to Eagleville in our “custom bus” to breakfast at the community center. Some couples elected to eat at various Waffle Houses in Murfreesboro. If Prom is suppose to be memorable mine certainly was...

King and Queen of Hearts

In February, Brent Harper and Briley Fulghum were crowned King and Queen of Hearts at Eagleville Elementary School. The event was a fundraiser to support Jr. Pro Football and buy sports and playground equipment for the kids.

Brent raised over $200 by selling donuts and other donations.

Briley raised over $1,500 by placing collection jars at local businesses, having a bake sale, and donations from friends and family.

The kids are enjoying the new equipment and are eagerly awaiting the opportunity to participate in Jr. Pro Football.

Thank you to everyone who gave their time and money to support this cause.

Feeding The Minds Of The Community School Vikings

By: Susan Nolan

It has truly been a great school year for the Community Vikings. So much so, that there was no way of compiling all the good news in one article, so we have made this story two parts. Just ask any of the faculty and students how this year went and you will find incredible stories of rewards and good humor, new programs, top notch grades on academics and a well rounded student body. This month we will highlight Community High School.

The Community High students have done excellent this year in academics and sports. Mr. Keith Williams ( Assistant Principal ) Said he is VERY proud of this years students. He is also very excited to announce that the state Gateway test ( a vital 3 course test required for graduation) was passed on 2 parts, English and Biology with a 100% and 3rd part, Algebra with a close 93% . This is a test that the state expresses, you don't pass, you don't graduate.

Mr. Robert Ralston the Principal of Community High School said, " it was a real good year. We have implemented some new programs this year and others are in the works. We have strong academics and extremely bright kids. Some of the programs are blood drives, volunteer programs and a lot of excitement about the new football team. 7th and 8th grade have already had spring practice and all seems to be falling into place. The school also has a lot of other sports available such as cheerleading, volleyball, cross country, bowling, golf, basketball, softball, and baseball. I feel so fortunate to work with these teachers, the little things they do... they handle the "emotional, physical, and academic needs of the students. They go above and beyond," Mr Ralston says proudly. Of course flub-ups do happens he admits, but he adds "it's part of a learning experience. You take it in stride and go on and learn from it". Next year seniors will prove to be a challenge it seems. Mr Ralston stated that they are all in the running for valedictorian. They all have strong academics, are well rounded students and good scholars".

Walking the hall of the high school, it would be hard not to notice that the students have a good relationship and respect for the teachers and staff. It can be said that the teachers and staff enjoy the students as well.

Community School had 62 graduates this year. Here is a list of your top 10 graduates : Katie Myers (Valedictorian) MTSU bound, Darrick Ensey (Salutatorian) MTSU bound, Keisha Smotherman -Motlow, Nickie Manier-UT Knoxville, Tabitha Smith- Freed Hardeman, Henderson Tn, Keith Clanton - MTSU, Jessica Mullins- MTSU, Cortney Brothers- Motlow (basketball), Lesley Layne - MTSU, and Samantha Lynch- MTSU.

Congratulations to all the graduating class of Community High School 2004. I apologize for not having a picture of the Community High School graduates. Will try to have one next month.

Dates to remember: school starts back August 16th.

GET EXCITED - GET READY first Viking football game is scheduled for August 23, 4:00 p.m. in Unionville where they will go against Huntland. So come out and help support your new football team. Anyone wishing to help sponsor the school should contact Principal Mr. Robert Ralston or the new coach Mr. Hal E. Pass. Good luck Vikings and have a great summer.

A fun quiz for next month:

1. How many kindergartners graduated this year?
2. What milk was preferred by students chocolate or white?
3. What is sometimes a funny thing to happen to k-6 Principal Yoes?
4. What is the worst food from the cafeteria and voted the best?
5. What is the custodians worst job and what did they have to dispose of from the playground giving the teachers the goosebumps? Check out next months paper for the answers.

Citizen of the Month - Ann Ralston Chrisman

Ann Ralston Chrisman was born Annie Lizzie Haynes in Triune, Tennessee in 1921. She attended College Grove School. She worked hard on the family farm along side her three brothers: Jody, Frank, and Jack, and her sister, Mary Alice (Lamb). In 1942, she married Charles Ralston, the youngest son of Mr. Jim Dub and Mrs. Carrie Ralston. Soon after the marriage Charles left to serve in World War II for five years while Ann worked in a sewing factory and waited for his return. She also worked at McClellan's Department Store and rode an urban bus to Nashville from Franklin.

In 1948, the couple built their home in Eagleville from salvaged lumber from the Camp Stewart Army Base. The new subdivision was called "New Town" on Old Highway 41A, where Ms. Ann still lives today. They raised four children: Faye, Charles, Nancy and Rachel. Ms. Ann is my mother, and I am proud to celebrate her as a good citizen and an "Everyday Angel". To my mother, neighbors were just an extension of family. In the old fashion sense, she was just about the best neighbor a person could have.

Ms. Ann was well known as an excellent seamstress and a good cook. These talents were shared with every neighbor, friend, or relative we ever had. One of her best friends when I was young was Mrs. Rachel Floyd, wife of Ted Floyd. Mrs. Floyd was a teacher at Eagleville. She died while still a young woman, and

I will never forget the compassion my mother felt for her as a friend, and the sympathy she expressed through her actions and words. Over the years, "Mama" must have baked hundreds of cakes or casseroles and made hundreds of dresses and costumes for people in the Eagleville community. She also extended her generosity to our classmates and friends. Our house was always open and always full. I remember my brother bringing his friends home for the weekend so often that my mom had to say "Boys, you are eating me out of house and home. You'll have to stop coming every weekend." Well, the next weekend the same boys came again, but this time they brought their own groceries.

Mama always made sure we were at Eagleville Methodist Church on Sunday, and we attended every Vacation Bible School in town during the summer. She began working at Eagleville School in 1959 as a cook. She didn't drive, so she rode the bus to school with us in the morning. Mr. Jordon Redmon was our neighbor and our bus driver. We never got by with anything at school. She was a lot harder on us than any teacher. Her work ethic was unquestionable. A favorite expression was, "If it is worth doing, it is worth doing right." She served Eagleville School for 30 years, and retired in 1989. Bless her heart, I sent my daughter to live with "Mama" during her first year at MTSU. Just as I had anticipated, my mother never let her miss a class. My daughter laughs when she tells how grandma would wake her and have her on campus hours before class began.

Through the years, she managed to continue to be a caretaker for many in their time of sickness. In Mama's retirement she was still a very vital and energetic person. She received a plaque for her service to the College Grove Senior Citizens program. It always seemed that "Mama" never met a stranger, or was never at a loss for words.

Our Dad died in 1979, but Mama handled every situation with strength. She became a grandmother six times and enjoyed that role very much. She has passed her strength to her children and grandchildren as we have struggled to create our own lives (our brother in Murfreesboro and the girls in Chattanooga).

In 1995 she became reacquainted with a childhood sweetheart, Dave Chrisman, which she had not been in touch with for 56 years. They married in 1996 and unfortunately, 6 months later she suffered a stroke, which for the first time in her life, required her to slow-down. She still smiles with her eyes whenever she encounters an old friend, and we still see some of that friskiness in her personality that makes her unique.

There is a best selling book currently being read by many. It is The Purpose Driven Life by Rick Warren. The first words of the book profess, "It is not about you!" I think "Ms. Ann", my "Mama", has lived her life with that simple wisdom and that will be her legacy because she has always served others in the simple ways of an "Everyday Angel".

COLLEGE GROVE CENTER'S COMPUTER LAB EXPANDS WITH MTEMC GRANT

College Grove Senior Enrichment Center has recently won a Customers Care grant from Middle Tennessee Electric Membership Cooperative's Customers Care, Inc. for $5,075 for improvements in the Center's computer lab. The Center teaches beginning classes in computer use, the use of digital cameras and beginning and intermediate classes in Adobe Photoshop Elements. The MTEMC foundation was created by the cooperative's Board of Directors for charitably giving back to their service region to community centers and organizations.

"For a project to successfully win a grant and to be deemed a "worthy cause" by our peers is doubly satisfying," said Gayle Bradley, College Grove Senior Enrichment Center director. "Center member and advisory council president, Liz Goldman who also teaches as the Computer Projects Instructor has undertaken this improvement project and has taken it to new levels. She is responsible for other recent grants which have allowed the expansion of the computer lab with new equipment and textbooks for the new Computer Arts series, Project Image."

The MTEMC Customers Care grant program is funded by proceeds from Operation Roundup, the Watt ads flyer that appears in the monthly billing statements, the MTEMC long distance program and Project HELP. For more information contact MTEMC at 615-890-9762 or see their website at www.mtemc.com for more information on the Customers Care fund.

Adelaide Vienneau, Community Relations Manager from the Frist Center for the Visual Arts came to College Grove Senior Enrichment Center on Thursday, May 6 for a noon program on their new "senior discount" programming. This Nashville facility has recently debuted "Senior Mondays" a special program with discounts in admissions, at the gift shop and Frist Center Café and in all day parking fees for seniors. There is also scheduled entertainment by Snappy Pappy who performs classics from the 30's, 40's and 50's on these selected dates. At this time, "Senior Mondays" at the Frist are scheduled for the fourth Monday of the month through August.

"The Frist Center has become a popular destination with many of our Center members and our Red Hat Groovy Grovettes and our Art Classes," said Cherry Ralston, Program Director at College Grove. "With this new discounted program, I can see more opportunities to enjoy this wonderful facility."

Currently, the Frist is hosting the "From El Greco to Picasso: European Masterworks of the Philips Collection until May 16. Other exhibits include "Jacob Lawrence: The Migration Series" which features the African American migration of workers from the rural South to the industrialized North. Also the "Realms of Faith: Medieval & Byzantine Art from the Walters Museum of Baltimore will be on display till August. The Frist has audio tours as well as docent-guided tours.

The College Grove Senior Enrichment Center hosts educational and entertaining programs on each Thursday and the third Wednesday of every month. In addition, the center teaches classes in art, computers and wellness. The center is open from Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. For more information on activities, classes or special programs, call 615-368-7093 for more information.

College Grove Features New Farmer's Market

College Grove: Beginning June 7, College Grove Senior Enrichment Center will host a Farmers' Market free to the public. The market will be on the first Monday of each month from June through October in the parking lot of the College Grove Center on Horton Hwy. in College Grove. The market will last from 8 am till noon.

"This is just another opportunity the Center wanted to undertake as a service to our members and to the community," said Cherry Ralston, Program Director at College Grove Senior Enrichment Center. "This is a great way to involve folks with agriculture, and to support local growers. Also, there is a growing desire for farm fresh produce or organic produce, and a farmer's market in the Grove will hopefully fill a void in the community."

The Farmers' market will feature local and seasonal produce from organic to conventional. The market is also open to local gardeners who may have plants or herbs to sell or area bakers who want to offer fresh baked goods. Also farmers with livestock including eggs, poultry or meat are encouraged to participate. There will be a $5 vendor fee to help the Center clean-up afterwards.

For more information on participating or attending, please contact the College Grove Senior Enrichment Center at 615-368-7093 or email Cherry Ralston at cralston@scitn.org.

Boy Scout Troop 123 Honors Ross Johnson With The Rank of Eagle

On Sunday May 23, 2004 at his home, Ross was awarded the rank of Eagle, the highest rank available to a Boy Scout. At his home, surrounded by parents Kim and Cassie Johnson, extended family members and fellow scouts, Scout Master Mike Hayes awarded him the Eagle Emblem patch and medal.

Ross began scouts in Nashville with a Troop associated with his church. When his family moved to the Eagleville area, Ross transferred his troop membership to Troop 123. There he completed the remaining required merit badges and fulfilled the leadership responsibilities for the rank of Eagle.

For his Eagle project he and a group of volunteers completed a clean up effort of a cemetery located just off Highway 99/ Chapel Hill highway and repaired the fence that protects the tombstones. He and his volunteers logged over 100 hours as they completed the project. He submitted his project summary to an Eagle Board of Review and then demonstrated his knowledge of Scout skills and his commitment to living the Scout Law. Ross passed his Board of Review and without reservation was awarded the Rank of Eagle by Boy Scouts of America. CONGRATS TO ROSS.

FLAG DAY in AMERICA

Flag Day in American is celebrated to commemorate the day in 1777 when American adopted the Stars and Stripes flag to be her official flag.

We celebrate Flag Day on June 14th each year. Individuals and businesses hang flags outside. You will see flag poles all over the nation flying the Stars and Stripes. Some patriotic organizations will also honor the flag by having a parade or other Flag Day celebrations.

Congress first asked all public buildings to fly the flag on June 14, 1877, to commemorate the 100th year anniversary of selecting the Stars and Stripes as our flag. William T. Kerr of Pittsburg and Bernard J. Cigrand of Waubeka, Wis., were early leaders who held campaigns to celebrate Flag Day. The governor of New York proclaimed Flag Day an official celebration for the first time in 1897. President Woodrow Wilson issued a proclamation in 1916 to establish Flag Day as a annual national celebration. President Harry S. Truman signed the National Flag Day bill in 1949, thereby recognizing June 14 as the official Flag Day in America.

Margaret's Helpful Hints

REMOVING HAIR SPRAY FROM WALLS Put a few drops of shampoo and warm water on a sponge or cloth to wipe down the wall. Rinse with clear warm water to remove any residue.

MUSTY SMELLING BOOKS Put the book in a brown paper bag with baking soda and let sit for approximately one week.

CLEAN THE GRILL This cleanup trick works while you sleep! Lay a barbecue grill rack on the lawn overnight-the dew will combine with the enzymes in the grass to loosen any burned-on grease. Try it with messy oven racks too!

SHINE A KITCHEN FLOOR WITHOUT WAXING A cup of vinegar poured into your mop water will make your kitchen floor gleam. On no-wax floors that have dulled it brings out the shine. On waxed floors it helps cut through years of wax buildup, leaving the surface bright.

CHOCOLATE SAUERKRAUT CAKE

2 1/4 cup Flour; Sifted	1/2 cup Cocoa; Baking
1 tsp Baking Powder	1 tsp Baking Soda
2/3 cup Butter or Margarine	1/4 tsp Salt
1 1/2 cup Sugar	3 Large Eggs
1 tsp Vanilla	1 cup Water
2/3 cup Sauerkraut - Sauerkraut should be rinsed and drained thoroughly and then chopped coarsely.

Sift together the flour, cocoa, baking powder, baking soda and salt; set aside. Cream together the butter and sugar in a bowl until light and fluffy, using an electric mixer set at medium speed. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Beat in vanilla. Add dry ingredients alternately with water to creamed mixture, beating well after each addition.

Stir in sauerkraut. Spread batter in greased 13 x 9 x 2-inch baking pan. Bake in a preheated 350 degree F. oven for 35 minutes or until cake tests done.

Cool in pan on rack. Frost with Creamy Chocolate Frosting. Cut into squares.

NOTE: This is one of those dishes that sound absolutely horrible, but tastes great! It is also one of those recipes that is a classic but you can never find in most cookbooks. Everyone thinks that the sauerkraut is coconut. So be sure to rinse and drain the sauerkraut several times when you make this recipe.

Legal Basis for Planning

The City of Eagleville, in coordination with the Eagleville Municipal Planning Commission, will be submitting subsequent articles that are designed to involve the citizens of Eagleville in community development and inspire citizens to contribute to planning and future development of their community. The City believes that success in planning and community development lies with how informed the citizen is, and recruiting the citizen's interest.

Local planning and land use regulation rest on powers granted to cities and counties by the state constitution, but state legislation shapes the manner in which these powers are exercised. Basically, cities and counties draw upon two broad categories of legal powers in their planning programs: corporate powers and police powers. Corporate power is the authority to collect money through bonds, taxes, fees, and assessments, and to spend it to provide services and facilities, such as streets, water, sewage disposal facilities, parks, recreation, and the like. Police power, reserved to the states by the federal Constitution and delegated to cities and counties by the state, is the authority to regulate a citizen's behavior, including the use of private property, to promote the health, safety, welfare, and morals of the public. The police power is elastic, evolving to accommodate changing community values, but its use is constrained by constitutional principles of equal protection and due process, including unlawful taking or damaging of property. Land use planning, zoning, subdivision regulation, and building regulation are all exercises of police power. 1

The City of Eagleville has a municipal planning commission. The municipal planning commission's police powers is authorized by Title 13 of the Tennessee Code Annotated. They are as follows:

Make advisory reports and recommendations to all public officials and agencies regarding the general plan and development of the area (TCA 13-4-

This gives the local planning commission the power to make advisory reports and recommendations that relate to the plan, to any public official or agency, whether local or not, utility company, civic, educational, or professional organization. In addition, all such public officials are required to furnish the commission with any information which may be needed for its work. There is also a statement that the planning commission shall have such powers as may be necessary to enable it to perform its purposes and promote municipal planning. These powers are advisory only. However, it does mean that the commission may advise any body, public or private, whether a project or activity is in agreement with the general plan and use its powers of persuasion or information dissemination to affect the course of action. The planning commission may also request and obtain information from such agencies as a school board, power board, industrial development board, housing authority, etc., to determine whether their activities are in compliance with the plan.

Next month, more about this topic will continue.

In April I submitted my 11th City Budget to the City Council. As was true for the previous 10 City Budgets, there is a no tax increase accompanying this proposal. Much progress has been / and continues to be accomplished by securing grant money in a very competitive market. It does require study, visits to government officials, and preparation of documents, which equates to a time-consuming endeavor. Yet, this process is worth all the effort because this citizens of Eagleville benefit. My goal is to continue this approach. Hiring a grant facilitator to assist / lead is another positive step. Three of four grants submitted recently are the result of this partnership with Alan Farley. Without trying or making an effort, there is no success. Please understand that with matching grants comes a commitment from the City and its citizens. All of us are excited and there are more possibilities for an improved Eagleville in our future. This is a wonderful place to live.

The newly elected City Councilmen were sworn in on Tuesday, May 4th, at 4:00 p.m. at City Hall. Welcome to returning Councilmen Ronnie Hill and Terry Zumbro, and to newly elected Councilman M. A. Smitty.

The Park Grant was submitted on Friday, May 7th. Many thanks to the citizens who have participated as an ad hoc committee for the many hours of work which helped complete some necessary components of the grant: Councilwoman Debbie Ryan, Gloria Hill, Kim Baehr, Melissa Buchanan, Carolyn Barham, Janie Zumbro, John Somers, Jeff Mooneyham, Ralph Marshall, John E. Turner, Peyton Hill, Dawne Davis, and Bill Tollet.

Thanks to Benjamin & Kim Baehr along with Greg and Melissa Buchanan for landscaping around the new City entrance signs!!

To The Editor:

My husband, Wendell, and I want you to know how much we enjoy your paper. We look forward to buying our copy as soon as it comes out and we have sent subscriptions to two family members. We can count on both of them to call us when they get their papers to talk about things they have read.

We particularly enjoy the historical articles written by Bobbie Sue Shelton. This month's article had special meaning to both of us. Two of Wendell's cousins, Jesse Morris and Gladys Morris Harrelson were in the Patterson School picture and I learned that two of my great aunts, Minnie Floyd and Abbie Floyd Beesley, were teachers at the school.

We wish you continued success with your paper.

Eagleville FCE Club News

By Juanita Carlton

Each year, the EAGLEVILLE FCE CLUB sponsors a teaching workshop for the community.

Non-members are invited to attend. This year they sponsored a Sewing Machine Clinic on April 8th. Attending were Peggy Hayes, Delores McCord, Joanne Shelton, Virginia Jackson, Louise Scott, Mary Goldstein, Emma Glory Ralston, Mary Anderson Virginia Turner & Juanita Carlton. Marion Bean, from Mid-South Sewing Center on the Square, led the ladies through cleaning and adjusting their machines. All were very happy to have their machines running like new.

Marion Bean from Mid-South Sewing Center gives Mary Anderson pointers on her machine as Joanne Shelton looks on.

Eagleville FCE President, Alberta Hedge, receives recognition from Pat Bolden of Farm Bureau. Eagleville Club placed 3rd in outstanding clubs of Rutherford County.

The Club had "adopted" a patient from NHC. For Easter, Dolores McCord and Alberta Hedge took two Easter Baskets, a bunny and two shirts to him. Members send cards and visit him.

Rutherford County Council of FCE Clubs held its annual Recognition Day Luncheon on April 15th at the Holiday Inn. Twelve members from Eagleville Club attended. The clubs are honored for their achievements in the preceding year. Eagleville was recognized for 100% members, new members, reading, CVU's and placed third in Outstanding Clubs.

Members felt honored to receive this award with their small membership.

On May 18th, none members drove to Lynchburg for lunch at Mrs. Bobo's Rooming House. They then toured the shops on the square. The Spring Trip is one of the things the club does for fun.

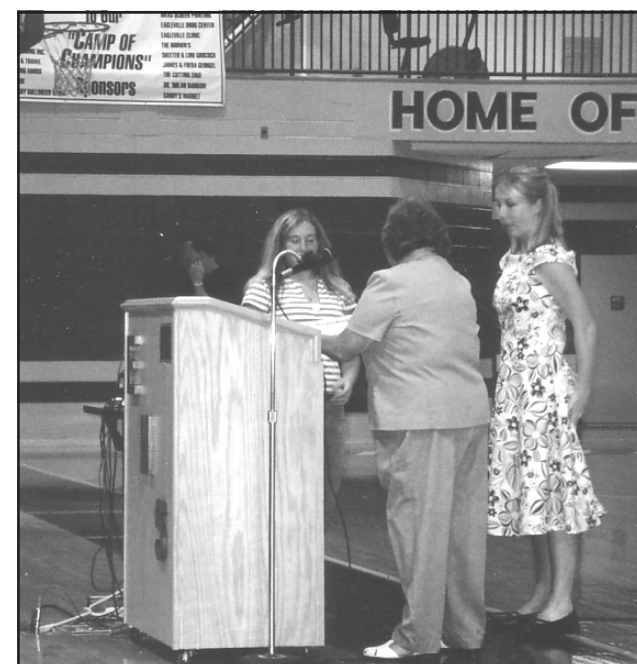

On Awards Day at Eagleville School, the Eagleville FCE Club presented a certificate and Scholarship to Angie Stoklasa as the outstanding Home Economics student for the year.

The Club will be offering a cookbook for sale later this year. Hopefully it will be completed in time for Christmas. If you would like to contribute recipes, please contact Juanita Carlton. The Cookbook Committee is Debbie Turner, Glenda Dyer, Margaret Ann Hall and Juanita Carlton.

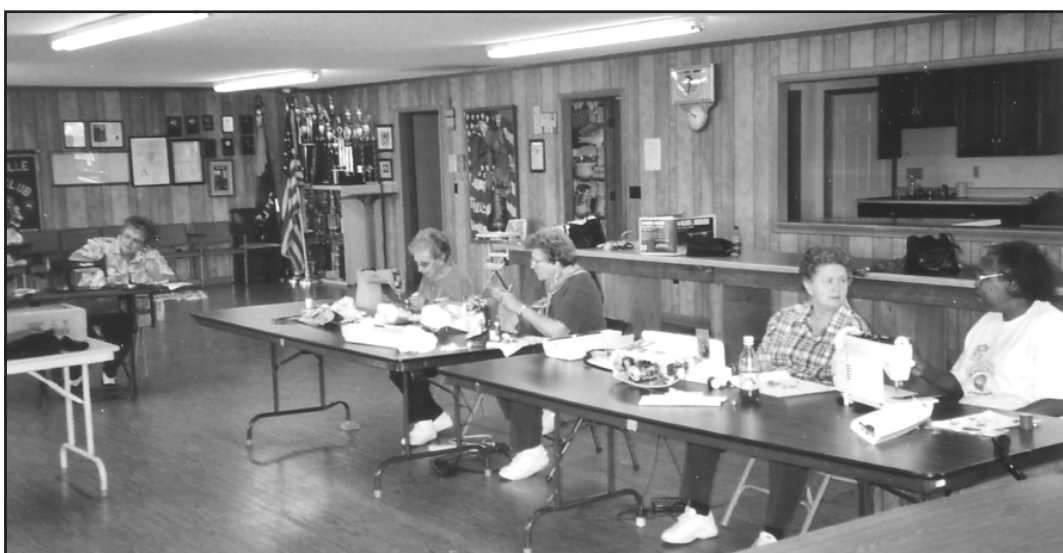

Eagleville FCE Club meets on the second Tuesday most months at 10:00 am at the Eagleville Community Center. Please attend and "check us out."

Little Rock School was located on Little Rock Road about three and ½ miles northeast of Eagleville on land owned by James E. Jackson, great grandfather of Johnny Taylor of Eagleville. The school building was directly across the road from the Jackson home (later home of Rush Sr. and Audrey Taylor). This school was established about 1884. The two-room building was weather boarded with shutters hinged on the outside for the windows. The play area was large enough for ball games. Water was carried in buckets from the Jackson home to the school. Located nearby in an adjoining field was the Tiling Factory, (where clay water drainage pipes was made). The property on which the school and tiling factory was previously located is now owned by Johnny Taylor. A store was also located in the same area at the intersection of Little Rock Road and North Lane. The original building burned and was rebuilt in the same location. The re-built store with additions is presently a farm implement business owned and operated by Ronnie and Steve McDaniel. In the early 1900's the store was a local gathering place for the men of the community at night. They would set on the porch and catch up on all the news of the day.

Lizzie Garrett Dyer taught in the Little Rock School about 1890. In 1902 the teachers were Tom Floyd and Susie Stegall Lewis. Others who taught about 1900 were Wate Lowe, Leonard Landis (about 1905), Lottie Ralston and Minnie Myrtle Ralston Owens. Others who taught later were: Bessie Buchanan, Era Steele, Kate Love Collier, and Jimmie Manier. Georgia Lee Marable (Pate) was teacher for the 1921-22 school year. Mary McKnight Manley was the last teacher at this school. At the time that Bessie Jackson Buchanan taught, about 1911, she was the only teacher and she had so many students she had to teach during recess to get all the classes taught. When Jimmie Manier was scheduled to be hired in about 1916, as a second teacher, the enrollment lacked one student to meet the requirement to warrant another teacher so Margaret Scott, age 5 at the time, stayed with her aunt Jimmie Manier to attend the Little Rock School for that year. She made the extra student needed for the school to have two teachers.

When the Little Rock School was closed in 1923, the building was torn down and the lumber was moved and used to build the Pleasant Hill School.

The late Mary Sue "Mammy" Maupin Perrell, a life long resident of the Eagleville area attended Little Rock School while growing up. She and the late Mrs.

Audrey Jackson Taylor were best of school-friends and that friendship carried over to their adult years. Several years before Mammy Perrell's death, her children recorded some of her memories, which included her school days at Little Rock and surrounding community. The following were her comments:

Question: How old were you? Answer: I don't know. Oh five years old I guess. I started to school when I was five years old. Mr. Manier went to school up there.

Question: Where? Answer: Little Rock. That's up here where Rush Taylor, you know Audrey Taylor lives. There use to be an old store there. When the store burnt up they built a new store and then a lot of the old men, they wanted to skate. They put the skates on Mr. Joe Jackson and Mr. Ralph Jackson, both of um was big and fat and couldn't stand up. They was all down in the floor. Pappy (her father, George W. Maupin) used to go out there at the store, like men will for a while at night and there was an old man, his name was Jackie Alcorn and they kept a barrel of red pepper. This old man didn't have no teeth and Pappy said he'd eat stick candy or anything anybody would give me. Pappy got some stick candy and rubbed it all in that red pepper and give it to him. Pappy said he just licked and slobbered. He was about a hundred years old.

Question: Who was your teacher? Answer: Aw, there was two rooms there and for a while they had two teachers and finally they just got down and had one teacher, Miss Kate. Aw Mr. Landers was my first teacher and then I had Miss Kate Love and then Mr. Manier's sister was my last teacher that I had up there you know at Little Rock.

Question: What did you study in school? Answer: Aw, we just had arithmetic. We first was on the chart like a calendar, hanging up on the wall and they had a big stick. The teacher did and he'd turn this over you know and he'd point out you know and all of us young'uns would stand around him you know and tell him what it was, and then after we got down off the chart we went into a primer and then from the primer you see, then we went into the first grade and then the second grade and you know on down like that.

Mammy (b. 1900 d. 1994) and her husband Rosco (b. 1898 d. 1973) were parents of 12 children and friends of all who knew them.

New Year's Resolution Still Alive Among Friends

Many of us spend December planning and promising what we will do different in the upcoming year but often those resolutions are lost in the dark winter days, taken out with the wrapping paper and bow trash, or packed away with all the ornaments and decorations. But for one close knit group of family and friends they are keeping their resolution made in 2003 to spend more time with each other. Kathy Van Horn with her mother Elizabeth, life long best friend Annette and grandmother Margaret are very creative in the activities they attend in their once a month outings and have gone to an Alpaca farm, cooked out, planted a tree and visited Memphis for the weekend.

This year, the group expanded to include Ms. Elaine Freeman for a bingo game at her home. Others who joined the group and enjoyed these activities were Michelle, niece of Kathy, Brittany Annette's niece, and Elaine's daughter Sue who prepared a wonderful lunch. This group plans to continue the New Years Resolution of spending time with one another and all of them are benefitting from the activities and friendships. We Celebrate with You.

By Angie Benton

In December of 2000, Jim Benton walked into my life. Keep in mind that this is a guy that won't take "no" for an answer. After he wore down my initial hesitancy, we began dating and shortly after he asked me to marry him. When we reached the planning stages, we knew exactly where the wedding would be. We worked for months out in the country clearing rocks, cleaning out brush and repairing the horse barn.

On a gorgeous sunny day, after months of hard work and preparation, we were married on June 23, 2001 under the big oak tree on our farm.

Our first major purchase as a couple was a Tennessee Walking horse and her three-month-old colt. Jim had two ponies and it had been years since I had my own horse so we were by no means experts on raising horses. That didn't stop us. Both of us love horses so we spent every available moment with these wonderful animals and gave it everything we had.

On April 7th, 2002, less than ten months of marriage had passed when Jim fell from the then yearling colt. He didn't fall far, but when I got to him I was devastated. I looked down at my new husband and saw that his foot was no longer attached to his leg. Of course I freaked out, as well as Jim's 11-year-old daughter, Maleigha, who was with us. Jim, being his calm and strong self, told me to just put him in the back of the truck and take him to the hospital. I was already on the phone to 911 and was afraid of injuring him worse.

Somehow we arrived at the hospital and were fortunate enough to get Dr. Ronald Derr, the orthopedic doctor on call. Jim was taken to surgery and Dr. Derr told me that Jim would be okay and not to worry. After the surgery I was told Jim was fine and would recover soon. Unfortunately things didn't continue that way. A few days passed and Jim became very ill. His leg was so infected that Dr. Derr had to remove all the metal he had placed in Jim's leg. Jim ended up in the hospital for almost three weeks in what was to become the first of many visits there. Needless to say we spent our first anniversary in the hospital.

What I'll never forget is Jim's positive attitude and his faith in God. Jim went on to have 14 more operations as they tried everything they could to get rid of the infection. Nothing would work. Through it all Jim's attitude never changed. He was the strongest person I had ever met in my life. He had gone through so much, yet he could still smile and was never down about his condition. He made the best of every day and kept a positive attitude. Many people asked him if he was going to get rid of the horse. He would firmly say "No! It wasn't the horse's fault."

Finally the day came when Jim and Dr. Derr had to discuss his options although they weren't very good. One option was to go through numerous operations with no guarantees. Jim chose option two -- letting them amputate his leg. He had already endured 22 months of grueling pain and wasn't willing to spend any more of his time sitting in a chair doing nothing. Jim and Dr. Derr had become very close through all the days and months since the accident so Jim couldn't bear the thought of Dr. Derr performing this one last operation. He had Dr. Derr refer him to another surgeon.

On February 2, 2004 Jim's leg was amputated below the knee. Again his strength and courage took over. Even after 15 surgeries and the loss of his leg, his attitude prevailed. He would always say, "Just look down the road and you'll find somebody else that's got it worse than I do." He never let this get him down.

On March 5, 2004, Jim took his first steps on his new prosthetic leg and hasn't stopped walking since.

Although our married life has seen very tough times, I believe it has brought us closer together. We share a bond that many couples will never know. Jim and I will be married three years on June 23rd. I'm so very fortunate to have Jim by my side. Jim is the strongest person I have ever known and an inspiration to all. So happy anniversary -- to my hero, my husband, Jim.

Accelerated Reading Program Rewards

By Pam Vaughn

The elementary students at Eagleville recently celebrated their success in the Accelerated Reading program with a carnival, which was located at the school. The children enjoyed a rock climbing wall, water slide, water games, a parachute ride, and many carnival games. They also enjoyed snow cones, hot dogs, popcorn, and cotton candy. Most of all, they were really excited to get to dunk many of their teachers in the dunking booth! It was a great day for all involved. Everyone had a wonderful time.

The seniors all wrote out speeches sharing memories from past events, hopes for the future, and the difference that these two men have made in their lives. As 1SG brought his four year seniors on stage there was laughter heard and tears shed. All of the seniors were presented with a special patch to put in their keepsake box to remember the JROTC program at Eagleville school. The evening was bittersweet.

Quotes from Senior speeches:

"I want to thank Colonel Houchens. He told me to say something."-Nathan Corum

"1SG taught me that old people really can be pretty cool."-Steven Chaffin

"I wouldn't be able to graduate without these two men."-Benjamin Brink

The very first Fathers' Day was on June 19, 1910 in Spokane, Washington. In 1924, President Calvin Coolidge showed support of this becoming a national holiday. However, it wasn't until 1966 when President Lyndon Johnson officially proclaimed Fathers' Day a national holiday, to be celebrated on the 3rd Sunday of June.
