Eagleville Baseball Team Makes History First Appearance In State Championship Game

Team by definition: A group of people with a full set of complementary skills required to complete a task, job, or objective.

This definition of a team in action was brought to life this season on the baseball diamond behind Eagleville High. These coaches and these players had to make the state tournament, after all, they were the best team on paper that Eagleville High had ever produced, at least that was the pressure many of these guys had put on themselves. Anyone who has ever played the game knows talent can only carry a group of players so far. They must work together as one, as a team. Even then a good team has to catch a few breaks, make a few "lucky plays" and stretch that single into a double or that double into a triple to move to the next level of play.

Any team is only as good as the team leaders. These are people who have to handle the adversity of different personalities that sometimes clash, keep everyone on task and many times be the team cheerleader. These positions require great personal sacrifice that the team members (players) will not understand until they have a family of their own one day.

Thanks to Coach Moore for being that leader and thanks to Coach Pip, Coach Bolden and Coach Adams for supporting Coach Moore during these last four great seasons.

The boys who were incoming freshmen at Eagleville in the fall of 2008 did not realize what their future had in store for them and the mark they would leave at Eagleville High for others to shoot for. They have played in the regional tournament the past four years and won the region for the past three; they have won the last three sub state games and made appearances in the state tournament the last three years. This year they were undefeated in their state bracket and played on May 25th for the Class A baseball state championship where they presented with the state runner up trophy. This team was one game short of the state title but with a record of 35 wins and 12 losses they can truly be proud for years to come.

All of the team seniors have now graduated and will begin to go their different ways. Some will continue to play baseball in college and some will hang up their glove. Several will continue to visit their old alma mater ball diamond in years to come and some may never see it again, but one thing will always stay the same, the buzz around the school and the dugout will ring for years about the group of Eagleville guys that went to the state for three years in a row. What an accomplishment.

I will truly cherish the memories the last four years have given to me and it is my wish that one day these young men will be as fortunate as I have been.

Good luck and congratulations on a job well done and always remember, no matter where life leads you "The harder you work, the luckier you get".

You're Not Forgotten ~ Mary Alice Lamb ~

On June 7, 2011 Eagleville lost one of its most cherished citizens, Mrs. Mary Alice Lamb. But just because she is gone doesn't mean that she will ever be forgotten. She lives on through her family, her friends and the tireless work and civic duty that she loved so much. Mrs. Lamb always had a smile on her face and a good word to say. She was a shining example of what a good person should be. She loved to discuss anything down to the bone. And was quick to set you straight on any issue that she felt was worthy of discussion. So let me share one unforgettable lesson that I learned from her in about a split second.

I had been on the Eagleville City Council for a few years and the meetings were getting heated and packed. The Council discussed the matter and I was chosen to go speak with Mrs. Lamb about using the Community Center to hold the City Council meetings. I stopped in to see her at the Center and, as always, she was cooking away and, as always, I was standing beside her at the stove trying to nip a piece of some of that good home cookin'. I told her why I had come and what I wanted. Without looking up she said, "Smitty, the Boy Scouts meet on that night. Ya'll can use the Center, but not on that night." I said, "Mrs. Lamb, I don't think that you have your priorities straight. The City Council meeting is much more important than the Boy Scouts meeting. We're handling important business." She turned and looked me straight in the eye and said, "Smitty, you're the one who doesn't have your priorities straight. Do you think for one minute that I would kick a bunch of little fellers that are tryin to do something good out so that a bunch of grown men will have somewhere to fight?" And instantly, I knew that she was right and I was not. I thanked her and went on my way. I reported the news back to the Council and they all had a good laugh. But in reflection it changed my perspective on many of life's issues. And one of the main one's was: The right thing to do is just always look out for those "Little Fellers".

With heartfelt love & thanks,
Matthew Smitty

A Message From Your Mayor

Be Proud Eagleville

Congratulations to all the parents who had seniors graduating in the class of 2012. The largest class in Eagleville history received diplomas. Eighty-nine seniors made their first big step to contributing to the AMERICAN FREE SYSTEM IN WHICH WE LIVE.

Even more amazing approximately 40 seniors received approximately $1.6 million, yes - that is correct, one million six hundred thousand dollars in college scholarship money.

I was ask this week “what is going on in Eagleville”? Well buddy - let me tell you. We have school construction of $4.2 million expansion, highest graduating rate in the county at 97%, state championship high jumper, baseball team entered the state tournament for the third straight year; we made it to the championship game to be state runner up. Crosslin Supply has reopened, the corner dry cleaner & laundry is cleaning our daily soiled clothes. Mr. John Lewis,owner of Southgate Property Maintenance is donating new landscape to city hall. The City of Eagleville has just acquired 26 acres of prime property, AT NO COST TO THE CITIZENS AND TAX PAYERS. This property will be a tremendous asset as we continue to pursue the long needed sewer system for our city. So yes, we have much to be proud of.

As we honor Memorial Day, let’s give thanks for those who have fought to keep our country free and remember those who never came home. These men and women in our armed forces work and fight everyday so we can live in Eagleville, Tennessee.

I personally want to thank the entire staff at Eagleville School and the parents of each student, all of you make us proud.

As always, please shop locally and support our school. If I can be of assistance, feel free to call my personal cell number at 849-6509 or city hall.

Sam Tune, Mayor Eagleville

Eagleville Fire Department

Fire Chief Terry Greene

I’d like to wish everyone a happy and safe start to the summer.

While this is possibly the most fun and carefree time of the year, it is also the most dangerous.

I’d like to take this time to remind all the parents to go over the safety rules for your home. During the summer months children are often left home alone during the day while the parents are working. We often assume that the children know what they can and can’t do and what they should do in an emergency. Some areas to cover are:

1. What appliances they are allowed to use when they are home alone.
2. What they are allowed to cook.
3. If they are allowed to use outside equipment such as weed-eaters and lawn mowers.
4. Pool safety
5. Who to call in an emergency.

These are just a few things to go over with your older children. For parents with small children, make sure you have all lighters and matches out of reach along with all poisonous chemicals and cleaning solutions. Please have the emergency numbers handy at all times. This is also a good time to make sure all smoke detectors are working. As always, if anyone is in need of a detector, please contact me at city hall.

We have alot of grass and brush fires this time of year. This can be an exhausting task in the extreme heat with all of our heavy gear on. For this reason, we are trying to purchase Wild Land fire gear which is a light wear suit for fighting fires such as grass and brush. The price for 20 suits is $6,000.00. Anyone wishing to make a donation for this cause, please make sure you write that in the memo. Any help would be greatly appreciated.

I hope everyone has a great and safe summer.

God Bless, Chief Terry Greene

A Step Back in Time

By Bobbie Sue Shelton-Lonas

In 1940 when a group of Eagleville community children, were preparing for the first grade at Eagleville School, the world was in a very disconcerting condition. Recently experiencing the Great Depression, United States was on the edge of World War II with the beginning of draft registration of approximately 16 million men. Franklin D. Roosevelt defeated his Republican challenger, Wendell Wilkie and became the United States first and only third-term president. Even with the war and politics being the news headlines that year for the parents, a group of five and six year olds, had other things on their mind; the new experience of leaving familiar surroundings of home, meeting their first school teacher, and making a lot of new friends. On the brighter side of 1940, these students got their first look at newly released Walt Disney's animated films, Pinocchio and Fantasia. Also the cartoon characters, Tom and Jerry made their debut.

Miss Frances Dement (Elmore), their first grade teacher, and Mr. J. W. Wheeler, the principal, greeted these students on the first day of school. In 1946 Mr. U. R. Elmore, former principal of Forrest High School in Chapel Hill, became their new principal and remained principal at Eagleville High School until his death in 1967.

As the teachers and class-roll changed through the years, it was 1952 and a class of 16 students, was in their last year of high school. The class roster included; Raymond Batts, Nancy Sue Crosslin, Rachel Dalton, Gordon Foster, Richard Grubbs, Gordon Layne, Hazel Manier, Sara Manier, Jo Ann Morris, Betty Jo Puckett, Johnnie Pugh, Cecil Ryan, Joe Shelton, Alma Taylor, Emery Vincion and Mary White.

Hazel Manier was class president; Emery Vincion was vice-president; Johnnie Pugh was secretary and Joe Shelton, treasurer.

In 1952, the Eagleville High School faculty, and subjects they taught included; U. R. Elmore, Principal, English and History; Mrs. W. E. Pate, Mathematics and American History; Mrs. W. T. Pittard, Typing and English; Carroll Smith, Coach and 8th Grade, Marvin Shanks, Vocational Agriculture; Miss Rebecca Spahr, Vocational Home Economics, General Science; Mrs. John Dyer, 7th Grade; Mr. D. L. Manier, 5th and 6th Grade; Mrs. Crawford Crowe, 4th and 5th Grade; Miss Sally Ezell, 3rd and 4th Grade, Mrs. Virginia Jackson, 2nd and 3rd Grade; Mrs. Martha Elmore, 1st Grade; Miss Ethel Elmore, Music. For several years, due to enrollment, there were split grades in the elementary grades.

Several students of the "Class of 1952", was very active in extracurricular activities; basketball, cheerleading, Future Homemakers of America, Future Farmers of America, Four-H Club and Music. In the spring each year, the Juniors and Seniors enjoyed the tradition of traveling to Chattanooga for the Junior and Senior class trip. Another anticipated event each year was the "Senior Play, directed by Mrs. U. R. Elmore. It took many hours of practice and on the big night, the auditorium would be filled with family and friends. (See inserted picture of the Senior Play Program).

During the senior year, classmates were also busy working on the school annual "Lone Eagle". The annual staff for the school year, 1951-52 were; Mary White, Activity Editor; Johnnie Pugh, Secretary; Nancy Crosslin, Editor-in-Chief; Hazel Manier, Art Editor; Joe Shelton, Business Manager; Jo Ann Morris, Class Editor. This class also carried on the tradition of having a class will in the "Lone Eagle";

Class Will---We, the Senior Class of EHS in the year of 1952 supposedly being of sound mind and memory, are aware, that after long years of work and play, that our school days have come to an end. Therefore we do hereby declare this to be our last will and testament.

To our Alma Mater, our beloved school, we leave our heartfelt gratitude for education, fellowship and fun.

To Mr. Shanks, we will all our 4-H emblems, pins and good record books.

To Mr. Smith, we will all our perfectly good wads of chewing gum.

To Mrs. Pittard, we will all our unfinished typing assignments.

To Mrs. Pate, we will all of Jo Ann's curls. "What few she does not already have."

To Mr. Elmore, we will all the scrap paper in our desk.

Joe Shelton leaves his likeness for basketball to Merkle Rigsby and Jerry Foster.

Mary White leaves her cheerleading ability to Betty Jane Holder.

Nancy Sue Crosslin will her ball suit and worn out tennis shoes to Alma Leathers.

Emery Vincion will his name "Pretty Boy" to Buddy Taylor.

Raymond Batts wills his willingness to co-operate to Marion Ghee.

Sara Manier wills her early morning smile to Helen Isom.

Betty Jo Puckett wills all the newspapers to Barbara

JESUS SAYS: "If anyone is thirsty, let him come to me and drink. <sup>38</sup> Whoever believes in me, as the Scripture has said, streams of living water will flow from within him."

PASTOR'S PONDERINGS

Years ago in a revival meeting a man stood up to give the following remarkable testimony: "I got off at the local train depot a tramp, and for a year I begged on the streets for a living. One day I touched a man on the shoulder and said, 'Mister, please give me a dollar.' As soon as I saw his face, I recognized my father. 'Father, don't you know me?' I asked. Throwing his arms around me, he cried, 'I have found you; all I have is yours!' Men, think of it, that I, as a tramp, stood begging my father for a dollar, when for eighteen years he had been searching for me to give me all he was worth!"

So too, our Heavenly Father is searching and waiting for you. This Father's Day, why not receive the unsearchable riches in Jesus Christ now? It will make this Father's Day the best one you can ever celebrate!

SMOKESTACK THEATRE GOUP – AWARDS PRESENTATION

By Bobbie Sue Shelton-Lonas

Community School, Smokestack Theatre Group, held their 18th annual “End of the Year Show” banquet and awards night, on May 7th 2012. This event, attended by a very large group of students, faculty and family, celebrated the work of the school’s acclaimed drama department.

Chelsea Mills was awarded the “Best On Stage” award for her portrayal of Helen Keller in the production of “The Miracle Worker”. Chelsea is the first freshman in the history of the Smokestack Theatre Group to receive this, well deserved, award.

Other winners included “Best Newcomer”, Aaron Gaines, for her work as stage manager and assistant to director, Anthony Davis. Savannah Lynch was named “Best Off-Stage” also a stage manager and assistant to director, Anthony Davis. Tom Meeks was named “Best All-Around”. Twelve students, mostly freshmen, were inducted into Troupe 5412 of the International Thespian Society.

Eleven members of the senior class were presented with the “Honor Cord,” the highest rank of achievement for a graduating thespian which represents 400 or more hours of work in the theatrical arts. Cameron Richardson and Lety Pena were inducted into the theatre’s Hall of Fame.

Director Anthony Davis, the cast and stage crew of The Smokestack Theatre Group, is commended for their work in “The Miracle Worker”, as well as other presentations which included, “The Wizard of Oz”, “Steel Magnolias”, “The Adventures of Tom Sawyer”, “The Sting” and “Man of LaMancha”.

RMS Tech Club Students Make A Subway For Subway

Two students from Rockvale Middle school presented a model of a Subway Restaurant to Bhagyesh Patel, the manager of the Hwy 99 Subway Restaurant in Rockvale, TN. The two students, Makayla Wade and Bailey Mangrum, are members of the RMS Technology Club which encourages students to use their creativity to build various technology and engineering projects. The Subway model was approximately 9" long, 6" wide, and 6" tall and made of balsa wood. Mr. Patel presented the students with a gift card to Subway restaurant.

Bailey and MaKayla have enjoyed being in the Tech Club this year and have created many interesting projects including a scaled model of a house on East Main Street in Murfreesboro made from balsa wood. The students used great detail and imagination on their projects and it is one of the best structures built. Other projects include a model of Leonardo Da Vinci's Ornithopter; a chair structure made of Popsicle sticks, a hydraulic cheery picker lift using syringes, and a colorful water bottle rocket.

Next year the students will be attending Riverdale High School where we are sure they will continue to use their creativity, the engineering design process, and problem-based learning skills that they have learned at Rockvale Middle.

A Beautiful Garden Starts Now

By gardening expert, TV/radio host, author & columnist Melinda Myers

Get out the shovel and trowels – Memorial Day weekend has just past and that means gardening for many. Spend a bit more time getting your garden off to a good start and reap the benefits all season long. Proper planting and post planting care means less maintenance, fewer pests and more produce and beautiful flowers in your landscape.

Start by selecting healthy plants free of insect and disease problems. There's no need to spend money on problems. And keep in mind that bigger is not always better. Instead look for compact plants with sturdy stems. The leaves should be deep green or the proper color for that variety. Avoid plants that show signs of stress such as spots, brown leaf edges, and holes. And when all things are equal, purchase the perennials with multiple stems.

Keep your purchase properly watered before and after planting. Check transplants daily and twice a day when temperatures rise, watering as needed. Increase success and reduce the stress transplants often face. Apply a plant strengthener such as JAZ Spray to protect potted plants from drying out until you are able to plant. Or apply to transplants to get your plants off to a vigorous start. These organic products are not fertilizers but rather naturally occurring molecules that work like an immunization to help new and established plants better tolerate heat, drought, insects, disease, and other challenges plants face.

Prepare the soil before planting. Though not glamorous building a good foundation for your garden will pay off this season and beyond. Dig one or two inches of compost, peat moss or other organic matter and a low nitrogen slow release fertilizer into the top 12 inches of the soil.

Now slide, don't pull, the plants out of their containers to avoid damaging their roots and stems. If they resist, gently squeeze small flexible pots or roll larger pots on their sides over the ground. This loosens the roots, releasing the pot from the container.

Gently tease any roots that encircle (girdle) the root ball. Or use a knife to slice through girdling roots or the tangled mass that often develops at the bottom of the pot. This encourages the roots to explore the soil beyond the planting hole. And a bigger root system means healthier plants that are more productive and beautiful.

Set your plants at the same depth they were growing in their container. Tall leggy tomatoes are the exception. These can be planted deeper or in shallow trenches to encourage roots to form along the buried stem. Cover the roots with soil and gently tamp to insure good root to soil contact. Water new plantings thoroughly; moistening the rootball, planting hole, and beyond. Spread a thin layer of shredded leaves, evergreen needles or other mulch over the soil to conserve moisture, suppress weeds, and keep the roots cooler when hot weather moves in for the summer.

Check new plantings every other day and water thoroughly and often enough to keep the soil slightly moist. Gradually reduce the frequency until your plants only need to be watered once a week in heavy clay soils and twice a week in sandy soils. Of course you'll need to water more often in hot weather.

And don't forget about the rest of your landscape. Plant strengtheners can be applied to established plants to prepare them for the often stressful season ahead. Treated plants will be better able to tolerate heat and drought as well as attacks from insects and diseases.

So get out and start planting to make this the best gardening season yet.

is one of the few surgeons in the country pioneering a revolutionary new surgical treatment for severe obstructive sleep apnea, using the da Vinci® Robot at Middle Tennessee Medical Center

What is obstructive sleep apnea?

Obstructive sleep apnea is a condition caused by collapse of the airway during sleep. This can result in daytime fatigue, hypertension, diabetes, and other health problems. CPAP remains the preferred initial treatment, but some patients cannot tolerate CPAP therapy. The da Vinci® robot at MTMC has enabled the surgeon to successfully perform sleep apnea surgery.

"Since the surgery, I have slept more and better than I have in the last five years. I feel ten years younger, have lost 40 pounds, and generally feel like a new man. When asked if I would have the surgery again, I responded with an emphatic, 'In a heartbeat!'"

Fifty Forward College Grove June Offerings

Thursday, June 7, 1 – 3 p.m. – Matter of Balance Program

Many older adults experience concerns about falling and restrict their activities. A MATTER OF BALANCE is an award-winning program designed to manage falls and increase activity levels. Classes will be held once a week for 8 weeks for 2 hours each on Thursdays from 1 – 3 p.m. This program is being provided free of cost through the Center Administration on Aging Grant. It is not complex and Sarah will be present at each class. Please help us meet this grant requirement by participating.

Thursday, June 7, 9 a.m. - 12 p.m. Technology Day with Deloitte Services

Volunteers will be available to offer assistance on using a cell phone, digital camera, Facebook, Internet, GPS, and much more. Other topics available include shopping online, recycling batteries, dealing with computer viruses and any other questions you might have. Take advantage of this great opportunity!

Wednesday, June 20, 11:00 a.m. Potluck: Multi-Generational Music Show

Join entertainer Rachel Sumner for a shindig! All generations are invited to play homemade instruments, learn simple dances, and sing a song. Rachel will have wooden spoons for everyone and a couple of washboards, a washtub bass and some tin can guitars to play. The center provides the main dish so please bring a covered side dish. We will have extra guests in attendance.

Note the program will begin at 11 a.m. and lunch will follow around 11:45 a.m.

Monday, June 25, 10:30 a.m. – Men's Health Talk

In celebration of June as Men's Health Month, we have invited Dr. Matt Hassan of Urology Associates in Franklin to lead a men's health talk. The talk aims to raise awareness of men's health issues and preventable conditions. Lunch will be provided for the participants. Please sign up if you are interested in attending.

Rebecka Jackson Qualifies To Compete At World's Largest Junior High Rodeo

Rebecka Jackson, daughter of Robin and Horace Jackson, has earned a position on the Tennessee State National Junior High Rodeo team and will be traveling with fellow teammates to Gallup, New Mexico from June 24th thru June 30th to compete in the 8th Annual National Junior High Finals Rodeo (NJHFR) in the Girls Breakaway Roping and Team Roping competitions.

To qualify for her position on the Tennessee State National Junior High Rodeo team, Rebecka competed at monthly rodeos during her 8th grade year as a student at Eagleville School. By the end of the season, Rebecka had earned High Point Girls Breakaway Roping Champion and she and her partner placed 2nd in team roping.

Although Eagleville School does not officially have a rodeo team, Rebecka will be representing not only Tennessee but, Eagleville School as well as she competes at the NJHFR.

To follow Rebecka at the NJHFR, visit the NHSRA web-site for complete results at www.nhsra.org. Live broadcast of the NJHFR will also be broadcast on the ihigh web-site at www.ihigh.com/nhsra/

Rosacea And A Princess

A few weeks ago, a nurse at work was experiencing a flare-up of rosacea. For the first time I saw firsthand not only the physical pain—but the mental anguish and frustration she was experiencing from the lack of an effective and coherent plan of care to treat this common skin disease. My friend had been treated by several dermatologists using several treatment options all with varied success. She tried prescription medications, and changes in diet both with dismal results.

Rosacea is a common skin disease often beginning with a tendency to blush or flush more easily than others. Rosacea can cause more than redness and because of the number of signs and symptoms of rosacea they have broken it into four subtypes.

1. Erythematotelangiectatic rosacea: Redness, flushing, and visible broken blood vessels (spider veins), swollen skin, skin may be very sensitive and may sting and burn, dry skin with roughness or scaling
2. Papulopustular rosacea: Redness, swelling, and acne-like breakouts usually where the skin is very red and they tend to come and go, oily skin, spider veins, skin may be very sensitive and may sting and burn, raised patches of skin called plaques
3. Phymatous rosacea: Skin thickening with a bumpy texture especially common on the nose but can also thicken on the forehead, ears, cheeks, and chin, pores look large, and oily skin
4. Ocular rosacea: Irritated and red eyes often looking watery or bloodshot, gritty feeling like sand in the eyes, eyes burn and sting with itching and dryness, can be sensitive to light, blurry vision, eyelids can become swollen and may look like they have a sty

Beyond the physical symptoms there are mental aspects of the disease also affecting a person's quality of life. In a survey conducted by the National Rosacea Society, 41% said their rosacea caused them to avoid public contact or cancel social engagements. Many worry their rosacea will get worse and about possible side effects of the medicine they use to treat the disease. Obviously, the feelings of frustration and embarrassment can lead to low self-esteem, anxiety and depression, which can lead to missed days of work. In the same survey nearly 30% said rosacea had caused them to miss work.

However, there are treatment options and those who seek treatment are more likely to experience an improved quality of life than those who don't. Treatment includes: Medicine applied to the rosacea, sunscreen (applied daily may help prevent flare-ups), an emollient to help repair the skin, lasers and other light treatments, and antibiotics (topical or oral). The most important thing to remember you have treatment options and seeking treatment will empower you with knowledge and this power alone will improve your self-esteem and your life.

Rosacea and a princess, if you are suffering with rosacea you are not alone as Diana, Princess of Wales also suffered with the disease. Prince Charles suffers and Princess Diana suffered with rosacea as well as their son Prince Harry. Highlighting the risk factor of a family history and having light-colored skin. Remember to reduce your risk by not smoking, applying sunscreen daily, keeping stress in balance, and avoiding alcohol. And if you suffer with rosacea, remember—you are in the company of a princess.

Coins For Corben

Corben, a 1st grader at Rockvale Elementary, is the son of Johnny and Elisabeth Sinthavong. Born on July 3, 2005, Corben was diagnosed with Chronic Kidney Disease. The doctors at Monroe Carell Jr. Children's Hospital at Vanderbilt in Nashville, Tennessee, performed a life-saving kidney transplant on November 30, 2011.

With the cost of a transplant often exceeding $500,000, many transplant families are unable to shoulder the financial burden of such a procedure. The Children's Organ Transplant Association (COTA) is a national charity dedicated to organizing and guiding communities in raising funds for transplant-needy patients. In Murfreesboro, volunteers are raising funds for transplant patients like local boy Corben Sinthavong.

If you would like to contribute to help with Corben's care, a website is available to donate online at www.cotaforcorbens.com. Rockvale Elementary website also has a video with more about Corben at www.res.rcs.k12.tn.us.

Little Stories About You & Me

By Nancy Allen

The Chair

One day Sara's sister, Debra, called from Phoenix and said, "God told me you need a chair."

"A chair?" Sara said. "I already have a chair right beside dad's bed."

"Silly, not a chair for you to sit in, but a small one to set on your desk to remind you God is always with you."

Heaven only knew how Sara needed to feel God's presence. Her father was in his later stages of heart disease and needed around the clock care. Although Sara worked full-time and had a family to care for she went several times a week to relieve her mother.

Sara went to sit with her dad while her mother ran errands and shopped for groceries.

"I wish I could go to work with you," said her dad.

"I know, I wish you could too," Sara said. "I talked to Debra yesterday and she said I need a chair to put on my desk to remind me God is with us."

A smile came across her dad's face. "Debra is a thoughtful sister," he said.

Six weeks passed and Sara thought little about a chair, but Debra was still thinking about it. "I still haven't been able to find you a chair," she said. "I want one small enough so it won't be in the way, but will be there to comfort you."

The next day Sara went to sit with her dad again. The Hospice nurse came to help with her dad's bath so Sara left the room. She began walking around the house looking at photos and remembering the good times their family had experienced throughout the years. Then alone on the shelf was a five inch tall chair, maroon colored with a crooked shape and a heart back. The seat had indentions as if someone had been sitting there. Sara grabbed the chair and ran into her dad's room. "Look, here's the chair," she said.

He smiled and said, "That's nice, and I see someone has been sitting in it."

Sara smiled through her tears and said, "Yes, dad I think someone is sitting there. I will always keep this chair on my desk to remind me of how God has been with us through your illness."

Her dad smiled as he reached out his hand and touched her arm.

Sara's mother said she had never seen the chair before. To this day no one in Sara's family has a clue as to where the chair came from, but the chair has a place of honor on Sara's desk and is a source of inspiration as she goes about her daily routine without her dad. She said she often finds heart shaped rocks that look like the heart on the back of the chair and some of them are even maroon colored. She has started a collection and feels blessed every time she finds one. The mysterious chair has brought her much joy and helps her keep her dad close to her heart and reminds her of God's presence.

Driving Me Bonkers

Love comes in many forms. The love for your spouse is much different than the love for your child, which is different from the love for a pet, which is different from the love of a friend.

However, if you put all of them in a burning building and could only save one, most parents would choose their child, hands down. This is the most powerful kind of love.

This kind of love is most evident the day your teenager gets a learner's permit. As the parent, it is now your responsibility to allow your kid, the one who insists on repeating internet memes and splitting infinitives, to sit behind the wheel of a moving 3-ton vehicle while you sit in the passenger seat willingly channeling your inner crash dummy.

We do this out of love for our children.

The question is: Why on earth do some people become driver education teachers? They deserve a medal. They do this for other people's children! They must be missing some vital nerve to be able to do that! They are superhuman, maybe even part robot! Or perhaps they simply want to die, but they like surprises.

Fortunately for them, there is one advantage that driver education teachers have that parents do not. That is the all-important brake pedal on the passenger's side of their car. I keep slamming my foot down as if there was one in my car, but so far, it has been ineffective.

I could use an extra steering wheel as well. My son has a terrifying habit of drifting from one side of the road to the other. When I tell him to stay straight, he says, "Define 'straight'."

His driver education teacher stressed adjusting the mirrors before the student starts the car. This is difficult to do when the mirrors on the car are operated electronically. This presented a frustrating Catch 22 for my son, who couldn't be persuaded to start the car first. So... do I have to buy another car? Should we hack the electronics on the car? Or should we simply sit in the driveway until the car decides to cooperate?

As the parent of a new driver, you are not only required to put your very life into the hands of your squirrely, know-it-all teenager, you are also required to be calm and rational at all times while he is attempting to kill you both.

Someone has to be calm and rational, though. If he is gripping the steering wheel and yelling "AAAHHHH!!!!" every time a semi approaches from the other direction, your scream of terror will not only be redundant, but it will not be helpful... at all. Plus, it won't stop the car from hitting the semi, which is even more terrifying.

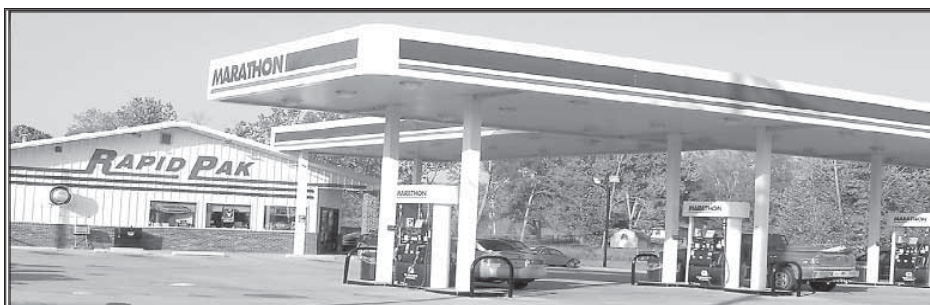

One of the rules for a learner's permit states that a licensed adult driver has to be in the passenger's seat. But it doesn't say that person has to be conscious. So... that's an option, I guess.

After much thought, I decided that a better option to stay calm, rational, and conscious would be to simply pretend the car was impervious to accidents and that it could practically drive itself. Is that rational? I don't know for sure, but it's best not to examine that question while my son still needs a co-pilot.

Teaching a teenager how to drive is a lot like the burning building scenario. You are indeed risking your own life to improve his chances of survival. Good thing my car is impervious to accidents.

NATHAN BEDFORD FORREST HOMECOMING AND SOUTHERN HERITAGE FESTIVAL

By Bobbie Sue Shelton-Lonas

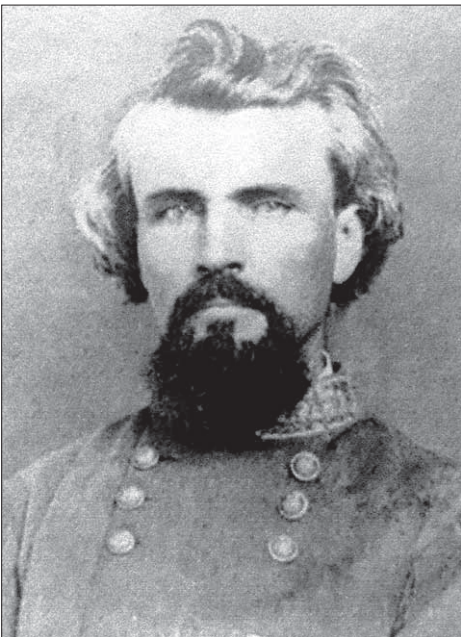

The Tenth Annual Nathan Bedford Forrest Homecoming and Southern Heritage Festival will take place at the former Forrest Home near Chapel Hill, Tennessee on June 16th, 9 a.m till 3 p.m. Sponsored by the Sons of Confederate Veterans, this fundraising event is an effort to raise funds to help restore and maintain the former home of Nathan Bedford Forrest. Located at 4435 Pyles Road, Chapel Hill, many activities are planned including, Cavalry Artillery & Infantry Re-enactors, Confederate Silent Auction, Historical Demonstrations, Musical Entertainment, Children's Games, Historical Lectures, Food and Drinks. Admission $5.00.

Owned by the Sons of Confederate Veterans, work is in process to restore the home place to it's circa 1830 appearance, when the farm was occupied by the Forrest family. It will also illustrate the simple rural background which General Forrest shared with thousands of other Confederate soldiers and their families.

When the farm was purchased by the Forrest family, it contained one hundred and eighty acres. Due to the sale of acreage, over the years, the site of only forty-nine acres, on which the house and barn stood, was acquired by the Sons of the Confederate Veterans. Since their acquisition, eight more acres have been added to the property.

Nathan Bedford Forrest was born July 13, 1821 in Chapel Hill, Bedford County, Tn. At the time of his birth, Chapel Hill was in Bedford County. Marshall County was formed in 1936 from Bedford, Maury and Lincoln Counties.

Nathan was the eldest son of William and Mariam Beck Forrest. Bedford, as he was called, was given the named Nathan for his paternal grandfather Forrest and Bedford, for Bedford County. A monument stands near his birthplace in Chapel Hill.

Lieutenant Nathan Bedford Forrest

In 1830, when Forrest was nine years old, his family moved to the farm purchased from Mr. Mayfield, on Pyles Road. The family lived there until 1833 before moving to Mississippi. Nathan Forrest, grandfather of Nathan Bedford, had previously moved to Mississippi and encouraged his son, William, to move his large family to Mississippi.

At the onset of the civil war, Forrest enlisted as a private in a Tennessee regiment. He was active in the Confederate Army from 1861-1865. Lieutenant General Forrest was one of two officers, in military history, to enlist as a private and receive the highest position, Lieutenant General, by the end of the war. It is reported that he visited his home place on Pyles Road, Chapel Hill, two times during the war.

Plagued by illness, Forrest died at the home of his brother in Memphis, believed of diabetes, at the age of 57. Services were held at Court Avenue Presbyterian Church in Memphis, with an oration given by Jefferson Davis. A funeral procession formed at the church by thousands of marchers, who then proceeded to accompany the body to Elmwood Cemetery where it was interred. In 1905, he and his wife were reinterred and moved to downtown Memphis in which today is known as Forrest Park, located on Union Avenue.
