

Eagles District 9A Champs

The 20-19 victory last Friday night over Cascade High School gave Eagleville a perfect 10-0 season.

When you attend a football game in a small town such as Eagleville, it's the entire town playing the opponents. You can't help but be involved.

Nathan Jernigan, with 21 carries, racked up 187 yards and two touchdowns and passed for 51 yards. Chris Hale, sophomore, rushed for 132 yards and one TD on 17 carries.

Coach Steve Carson praised the entire team for their efforts throughout the season and especially their win over Cascade.

The TSSAA playoff game will be Friday, November 11 at 7 pm at Eagleville Stadium.

Autumn Digital Photo Contest

Second place $25 winner was Hannah Fuhrman, 10th grade student at Eagleville High School.

Third place $25 winner was Alex Ewing, 12th grade student at Eagleville High School.

All three photos will be available to view on the Eagleville Times website at eaglevilletimes.com.

Students... During the coming months, start preparing for a Winter Digital Photo Contest. Contest rules will be available on the website within the next few weeks. The next winning photo will be published in the January 2012 issue of the Eagleville Times.

Currently, the Eagleville Times website is partially down due to upgrades. The site should be fully available within a couple of weeks.

A Message From Your Mayor

SCOOT OVER WORLD - HERE COMES EAGLEVILLE

There are so many positive events taking place in Eagleville today so all of us need to smile and pat each other on the back.

Positive things happen only when people work together, unselfishly.

Let's start with our football team. The Eagleville Eagles just finished there regular season UNDEFEATED 10-0. There is only seven teams left in the entire state of Tennessee that is undefeated and we have one one them here to brag about. Now they advance to the state playoffs.

Whether you enjoy athletics or not, is not the question here. When you take any high school athletic program, regardless if it is girls volleyball or football, and put these young people working together toward the same goal, they learn hard work, rewards, team work, respect for each other that will follow them to their work place and family relationships .

We have finally moved into our new city hall. It appears today that everything is working as it should. The move of only next door, 50 feet across the parking lot, has had its challenges.

Getting all new computer systems working as they should has kept Mrs. Von Almen busy the first few weeks. Please stop and visit, sit on the front porch and try out the the rocking chairs or swing till you can't stop!

This next week we should see construction start on the school expansion. This project is long overdue and very much appreciated. The new class rooms are scheduled to be finished next July before school starts.

Hopefully, we can start the process of finding money for additional class rooms, an auditorium and complete the entire project. If you know or see any of the county commissioners, please say thank you. These are the people who vote and allocate money to be spent on the projects that benefit us all.

Our pre-application for the sewer grant has be submitted to the USDA for approval. Hopefully, in 30 to 45 days we'll have more news on grant money for the sewer. This long over due project will give us a breath of fresh air but, it will require much, planning, management and understanding from everyone .

YES our town and its citizens have a lot to be proud of and brag about. Shown your pride, be proud of your town, let the world know YOU ARE PROUD TO LIVE IN EAGLEVILLE , TENNESSEE.

Please mark your calendars for December 10th at 11:00 for our Annual Eagleville Christmas Parade. There will be some streets closed for a short period of time, so please inform people who this could effect.

As you can see we have a lot going on here in OUR TOWN - SCOOT OVER WORLD HERE COMES EAGLEVILLE!

Thank you for allowing me to be your Mayor. Please attend any city or community function, shop locally and if I can assist call my personal cell number 849-6509.

Thank You,
Sam Tune, Eagleville Mayor

Eagleville City Hall Open House

By Tina Greene

Congratulations to the City of Eagleville on the grand opening of city hall. October 2, 2011 provided a beautiful fall day for the grand opening and open house of the new city hall for the town of Eagleville.

Approximently 80 people were in attendance to tour the beautiful log building. Refreshments were provided on the front porch with the guests sitting on the swing and in the rocking chairs as well as in the spacious lobby as they visited with one another. Thank-you to Mary Tune, wife of Mayor Sam Tune for setting up and providing the finger food buffet.

The ribbon cutting ceremony began with a welcome from Kelli Bean from the Rutherford County Chamber of Commerce. Also present, Chamber of Commerce President Paul Latture. Mr. Latture made an announcement that the chamber would have a visitors center set up in the city hall building with information and brochures on the surrounding area. This information would would be made available those passing through the area.

Mayor Sam Tune welcomed everyone and gave a brief history of our unique and wonderful town of Eagleville. He made note of several who were in attendance including Representative Joe Carr. Diane Black could not be there but a representative from her staff was there in her place. Wayne Blair, Board of Education member who was very instrumental in getting our expansion for our school was also in attendance. Mayor Tune announced this work would begin in December. Others too numerous to mention also stopped by to show their support.

Shortly before the actual ribbon cutting ceremony, two plaques were unveiled that will be adorning the walls of city hall.

If you haven't had a chance to see this building please stop by to show your support.

Eagleville Fire Department Fire Chief Terry Greene

I hope everyone is having a great fall and able to get out and enjoy our beautiful weather. This time of year there is alot of yard and leaf clean up going on. Please remember that a burn permit is now required for this. The time period for this is October 15 through May 15. Please abide by the rules. They are in place for your benefit. If you should need our assistance if a fire gets out of hand this will help us be more efficient. Also, another reminder about having your address on your mailbox with the numbers clearly visible; this will help us find you in the quickest time possible.

On Oct. 15th, we had our first bluegrass festival, "Pickin in the Park." It was a great success. Everyone who was there enjoyed themselves and they are looking forward to next years event. Thank-you to all who made this night so enjoyable. The performers were Cheryl Chunn and Step Ahead, Full Steam Ahead, Shannon Cain, Jamie Prosser and Justin Zimmer. Top notch professional entertainment right here in Eagleville. Thank-you to Ronnie Hill for providing the trailer that was the stage for the performers. Thank-you also to all who provided baked goods for the silent auction. Everyone really worked hard and it was a great success, with $587.00 being raised for the department.

On November 19th and 20th we have five of our firemen who will be going through a live burn at the Fire Academy. Let's keep these men in our prayers. Everyone continues to work hard on training and education to be the best that they can be for their community. Remember to thank our men if you see them out.

With Thanksgiving coming upon us let's remember to count our blessings and be grateful for all God has blessed us with. God Bless, Chief Greene

Fire Department Benefit “Pickin In The Park”

By Tina Greene

The Eagleville Volunteer Fire Dept. would like to thank all those who came out and supported the first annual “Pickin in the Park.” Saturday night Oct. 15 was a crisp fall evening filled with friends, family and great bluegrass music. Concessions were available and delicious as usual.

The music and entertainment were provided by three very talented acts who all played at least an hour each. First to take the stage was Cheryl Chunn and Step Ahead. They are a group who perform music and clogging entertainment. They perform weekly on the Grand Ole Opry and performed first so they could get back to Nashville for their Opry appearance. The next performers were Shannon Cain, Jamie Prosser and Justin Zimmer. They played and sang beautifully together and also had to be in Murfreesboro later that evening at another venue. A great thank-you to them for coming at the last minute because of a cancelation that we had. Thank-you to Susan Greene sister of Terry Greene for booking this act for us. The last act was Full Steam Ahead, a great and talented bluegrass band who have ties to our own town of Eagleville. Thank you to Ronnie Hill for providing the trailer that the bands performed on.

Although admission was free, the Fire Department raised $587.00 due to donations at the event. There was a Bake Sale Silent Auction filled with everything from chess and pecan pie to brownies, cookies and homemade bread. The wives, mothers and even out of town guests donated these goodies. Thank-you.

When the community comes together great things can happen. Thank-you to everyone who came out and supported the fire department.

Computer Shop Now Open On Main Street

ComputerLady.Biz opened its door on October 11, 2011 at 138 Main Street in Eagleville. The shop is owned and operated by Connie Markham-Price. Connie has a computer network associates degree from Daymar Institute in Murfreesboro and is certified in both computer repair and networking. She has been a resident of Eagleville for nearly three years and resided in Rockvale the twelve years previous.

ComputerLady.Biz is currently offering Computer Repair and Tune-Ups along with many other services. The Computer Lady is offering a special on tune-ups to speed up those sluggish systems that can test anyone's patience. For the $40 special, Connie will clean unwanted information and spyware from your computer, check settings, verify & run needed updates, check the internal battery, clean inside of the pc tower (laptops excluded) and visually inspect the computer hardware and scan for viruses (virus removal may or may not include an additional fee - of course we will notify you of the need for more aggressive measures before charging more). For those who would like to know, I will even show you two ways you can keep your computer running better on your own. You will leave with a system that is guaranteed to run faster and manifest fewer “issues”.

Along with the repair and tune-ups, The Computer Lady will be offering a drop off point for old systems (working and non-working). Recycling old systems keeps reusable and sometimes hazardous materials from adding to our landfills. The only limit on recycled items, at present, is that no more than one old CRT monitor be brought in with each system recycled. The shop owner does request additional software, cords, etc. be included with the recycled items when possible. Empty and unused ink cartridges are welcome as well. Other services covered include, but are not limited to: data recovery, data backup, internet connection issues, black and white copies made, internet access available in the shop for a reasonable per/hour charge, online bill-pay assistance, home network setup, used computer sales, new computer orders, used parts for sale on-site, new parts ordered, and one-on-one tutoring and classes (to be announced).

ComputerLady.Biz shop hours are Tuesday thru Saturday, 10 am to 7 pm, closed on Sunday and Monday. Contact Connie for an appointment to clean up that computer at 615.274.3008.

A Step Back in Time

By Bobbie Sue Shelton-Lonas

When old photographs surface, old memories also emerge. This certainly happened recently when an old photograph was given to a member of the Crosslin family. The only known picture of one of the peddling wagons that was operated by the Crosslin Supply Company brought back memories, not only to family members, but to area residents, who have memories of those days, gone by.

Many of the “new comers” to Eagleville probably never heard of Crosslin Supply Company ever been affiliated with any business other than the lumber and building supplies. Mr. Frank Crosslin, the proprietor of Crosslin Supply Company, was a business man who opened up opportunities for many area residents. His foresight in the business aspect of Eagleville was certainly an asset to this community as well as surrounding communities.

When Reverend R. C. Crosslin, arrived in Eagleville as the new Eagleville Methodist Church Pastor, no one envisioned the impact this family would have on the Eagleville Community. Arriving in the Spring of 1931, with Reverend Crosslin, was his wife, Sudie and six of their eight children; Cecile Maxine, Sudie Ione, Ethel Margaret, Vera Lee, Lillian Mozelle and Richard Claude. His two eldest sons, Frank E. and Joseph were working for their uncles, hauling chickens and eggs to Florida and returning to Tennessee with citrus fruits to sell at local markets. But later, they too, settled in Eagleville, raised their family and became successful businessmen of the area. After seven years, Reverend and Mrs. Crosslin left the Eagleville Church for another appointment. After the death of her husband, Mama Sudie, as she was affectionately called, returned and made her home in Eagleville.

In 1933, soon after Frank E Crosslin married his sweetheart of six months, Mary Esther Taliaferro, he opened a small store, Eagleville Produce Company, on the south end of Eagleville, near the present Lamp Shop. As their business grew, they moved up the street to the old two-story Sullivan Store building on the south-east corner of Highway 99 and Main Street where they continued to sell groceries, bought and sold chickens and eggs.

In July 1939, Frank Crosslin and wife, Mary Esther purchased a little more than an acre of property located on the east side of Main Street, between the Alfred Elmore property and Church Street, from Mrs. Myrtle McRae Boso. This property was previously owned by Mrs. Boso, John Redmon, J. D. Smith and E. L. McGown who purchased it from J. W. Mitchell in 1891.

Soon the Crosslin family moved into the house located on this property. To allow the construction of a new store building, on this newly acquired property, the house was moved to another location on the lot, facing Church Street. Nancy Crosslin Davis remembers their home being moved very slowly while the family continued to live in it. (The house has been torn down and storage buildings built on the location.)

In 1940 Frank Crosslin started construction on a building to house his grocery, feed, seed and produce business. A portion of this construction was done with labor from prisoners who were housed at Camp Forest in Tullahoma Tennessee. Many of these prisoners were civilian detainees who were arrested at the outbreak of the war under a program called “Alien Enemy Control”. Many of these internees were incarcerated without legal process. Government documents indicate that over 25,000 Alien Enemies were held at various locations throughout the United States at this time. Camp Forest’s population was over 700. While detained, these prisoners became laborers in hospitals, businesses, farms and often transported to other locations in the state. Mary Esther Crosslin would often prepare meals for the laborers while they were working on this building. Local farmers in the area also benefited from the prisoner labor, planting and harvesting crops. At one time, Mr. John Bowling was in charge for the transportation of the prisoners.

After the completion of the building, it has housed several different businesses in addition to a grocery store, feed and seed, lumber and building supplies operated by the Crosslins. Listed below are only a few of the businesses that operated in this location.

Ethel Margaret, sister to Mr. Frank and husband Troy Estes opened a restaurant in the south end of this building, which was in operation for several years. In 1949, Sue Puckett and Mary Lou Crosslin had a gift shop in a section on the north end of the building. Also the north corner was used by Bud Walker as a barber shop and after the fire in 1952 that destroyed the Eagleville post office, as well as other businesses; the post office was located there until a new one could be built.

A section of this building was also the first home to the Eagleville, Rutherford County Co-op which opened in 1956 with Edward Lee Manier as manager. Some of the early workers were Herman Leverette, Fred Taylor, Mutt Scott, Fred Comstalk, Jerry Giles and Herman Tucker. The Co-op moved to its present location in 1967.

During World War II, when building products were hard to obtain, Mr. Frank saw the need to add lumber and building

Early Days Of Crosslin Supply Company

Nancy Sue & Frank Jr. Crosslin in front of the Sullivan Store Building materials to his company inventory. This was the beginning of Crosslin Supply Company as a lumber and building supply company in addition to the grocery and produce business which was housed in approximately the middle section of the building.

Crosslin added three rolling stores, which were called “Peddling Wagons”. They traveled around the country roads, selling grocery items such as coffee, sugar, fresh fruits and other items in exchange for cash, chicken, eggs and other locally produced items. Many country residents depended on this service for obtaining needed items for daily living. The drivers would often take orders for needed items from their customers, and deliver them on their return trip which was usually the next week. The first peddling wagons were driven by Powell Taliaferro, Joe and Frank Crosslin.

Nancy Crosslin Davis remembers her job relating to the peddling wagons, was to replenish the supplies, when they returned to the store after their daily run. She would weigh and sack up sugar, flour, meal and other items to be loaded on the peddling wagon for the next day.

Growing up in Eagleville, one of my most vivid memories of the Crosslin Grocery was the Saturday night drawings. During the week, customers buying groceries, would sign their name on pieces of paper and drop them into a large container. On Saturday night, a drawing was held and baskets of groceries and/or cash were given to the lucky winners whose names were drawn out. During this time, Eagleville would be a very busy place. One could hardly find a parking place on either side of the street. Not only hoping to be a winner, but this was also a great time for friends and neighbors to gather and visit. Although the Crosslin Supply Company, no longer exist in Eagleville, the building still brings back a lot of memories.

I want to thank the children of Frank and Mary Esther; Nancy Sue, Martha Kay and Esther for sharing this part of Eagleville history with the Eagleville Times. (Frank Jr., their brother, is deceased.) As you see, one photograph can bring back many memories of the past. If anyone would like to share photographs and/or any knowledge of early Eagleville history, please contact Bobbie Lonas at 615-274-6282.

The History of Eagleville published in 2006 is still available. If interested, please contact Don McCord at 615-274-2859. The book consists of 524 pages with approximately 300 pictures.

Rev. Bruce Hamilton
Pastor, Rockvale Church of God

One of my favorite Bible verses at this time of year comes from Psalm 103. “Bless the Lord, o my soul, and forget not all His benefits.” In the six months that I have called Rockvale and Eagleville my home, I have found more benefits and blessings than I could begin to count. I marvel at the men and women who staff Eagleville School. They believe in what they are doing and they believe in our children. Walking through the halls, you can hear and see the sounds of learning, caring and sharing in action.

I had only been here a few weeks when I met the mayor and he showed me around a huge log building that they were remodeling. Not that many days ago, it was dedicated as the new city hall. You can sense the vision, hopes and dreams people have for our area and their desire to see it grow.

One of the places that made me feel at home very fast was the Main Street Café. Those red headed brothers are an amazing bunch. Their staff is hard working and if you come on the weekends don’t be surprised if you see wives and children helping out too. I understand they are new this year. I love to see people who have dreams and ideas not be afraid to pull them together and see what happens.

I came from a small city. It’s been an adjustment to country roads. One day a horse came running down the road without a rider. I tracked the horse back, found the girls that were with it and made sure they both got home. Mom was so kind to this strange preacher. The little girl ended up with a broken arm. It was a different way of meeting the neighbors.

The Fourth of July picnic was so much fun. The softball tournament, the games, the food, and the different groups all pulling together were great. If you saw a deep fat fryer explode a little that was me cooking some frozen French fries. I learned a lot about Rockvale that day.

All I want you to think about as you read this is how blessed we are to live where we are and how blessed we are to share life with the people that we do. God has been faithful to us in so many ways. Every once in a while it helps to just plain count your blessings. I don’t know about the church you may call home. I can only speak to my family of faith. I hope yours is one of your heart’s thankful benefits. I know mine is. I am so thankful to be a part of the Eagleville-Rockvale community. It’s my hope to share the Lord’s love with as many as I can. He is the reason we all have to be thankful!

Heart of the Homestead

By Tina Greene

As wives and mothers we set the mood in our homes. If we wake up crabby or in a bad mood you can bet that our children and husbands will soon be in bad moods also. I know from experience and it is a bad habit to get into. Complaining all the time can be nothing more than a habit that we find ourselves in. With Thanksgiving upon us we should do more to have a thankful spirit and this will pour over into our families attitude.

We should look at our role as homemakers as the greatest privilege that we can have. Let's take this role seriously and not only perform our job with competence but let's truly enjoy it. When people look at us and our homes they should not only see us surviving, they should see us thriving and full of life.

The most important tool we have is our attitude. If we feel overworked, underpaid or not appreciated we will soon start to feel sorry for ourselves. Instead, let's enjoy our role and look at our tasks as an opportunity to serve those we love more than anything, our families. Yes it's true, we will never be done with the mountain we call laundry, the clean dishes will be dirty again tomorrow, the dust will cover our tables next week or probably sooner. But as you are doing these tasks think of your family and all the ways you are blessing them. You are giving them a cozy home that they will draw strength and memories from in the years to come. Every small task fits into the big picture and will not go unnoticed. Just because they don't say it, doesn't mean they don't notice.

Let's not wait for New Years to make a resolution to be more grateful for this role as "Keeper of the Home." It is a great task that you are entrusted with. Enjoy it!

In this issue I will include a recipe that my family has come to love, "Bacon Wrapped Meat Loaf." Even those who snarl up their nose to meat loaf, love this because of the bacon and tangy sauce. I serve it with creamy mashed potatoes. I got this recipe from thepioneerwoman.com. She also has a cookbook out called The Pioneer Woman Cooks. This recipe is also in the cookbook.

MEATLOAF

1 Cup Milk
6 Bread Slices
2 Lbs. ground beef
1 Cup grated Parmesan Cheese
1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. seasoned salt
ground black pepper
1/4 cup miced flat leaf parsley
4 eggs beaten
8 to 12 thin bacon slices
GRAVY
1 1/2 cup ketchup
6 TBSP Brown sugar
1 tsp. dry mustard

Pour milk over the bread and let soak for several minutes. Add the rest of the meat loaf ingredients except the bacon and mix well with hands. Form a loaf and put on a broiler pan to let fat from the meat drain through. After loaf is formed lay the bacon slices over the top and tucking them under the meatloaf. Mix the gravy ingredients in a bowl and place half the gravy mixture over the meatloaf.

Bake in a 350 degree oven for 45 minutes. Pour some more gravy over the meatloaf and make for an additional 15 minutes. If you have any more gravy that you haven't used, you can use as a dipping sauce.

Enjoy!

Autobiographical Poems

By Rockvale Elementary - 5th Grade

Fifth grade students from Rockvale Elementary took George Ella Lyon’s poem “Where I’m From...”, to use as an example to pen their own autobiographical poems including the important events, people and cherished memories and items that have contributed to who they’ve become.

Where I’m From...

I’m from the little square horse pillow my grandma made me.
I’m from John, Annette, and two sets of Grandparents.
I’m from the dirty blue house on Dalton Circle.
I’m from the nearly 200-year-old oak tree at MTCS that seems to be 80 feet tall.
I’m from the scrawny cherry tree that has caused me a lot of pain and barely holds my weight now.
I’m from “John the Revelator” and “Army of the Lord” sung by A Cappella.
I’m from wanting to play in the Duck River Football League for Middle Tennessee Christian School.
I’m from my Aunt Cathy’s hazel eyes.
I’m from hearing...“We’re going to Washington, D.C. for two weeks.”
I’m from the horses on my top shelf.
By: Erin Gaessler

Where I’m From...

I’m from my silly family, ice cold faygo, and loud, fun black opps.
I’m from my funny Nana, my crazy dad, and my silly mom.
I’m from the brown, brittle brick house.
I’m from the sweet smelling irises, the salty corn, and the itchy cedar trees.
I’m from the loud “Rocky Top” and the stand-shaking Riverdale song.
I’m from the annoying ABC’s and the precious “Jesus Loves Me.”
I’m from the cold morning fishing and the sun-cooking camping.
I’m from luscious blonde hair and dark brown eyes.
I’m from no school, sleep in weekends.
I’m from my sparkly jewelry box on my dresser.
By: Brianna Kane

Where I’m From...

I’m from my pink bed with purple covers.
I’m from playing school with my dry erase board and markers.
I’m from cousins MacKenzie, Tanner, and Owen.
I’m from Rockvale, Tennessee
I’m from Sunflowers, daisies, and red roses at my Grandma’s house.
I’m from Selene Gomez, “Magic Carpet Ride,” and country’s “Big, Green Tractor.”
I’m from “Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star,” and ABC’s.
I’m from Monopoly, games, and fishing.
I’m from dancing and blue eyes.
I’m from when my Grandma gave me $100 for Christmas.
I’m from my chest of drawers where I keep memories from places.
By: Shelby Skinner

Where I’m From...

I’m from an old wooden tree house in my backyard under the big oak tree.
I’m from the sweet tea my mom makes every Sunday.
I’m from tag that my sister and I play in the field.
I’m from a sister who makes me laugh.
I’m from a white house with green shutters.
I’m from the yellow honeysuckles that grow in the alley behind my house.
I’m from “Jesus Loves Me” and “Tennessee Waltz.”
I’m from “Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star” that my grandma would sing to me.
I’m from fishing with my family on Saturdays and going to Tennessee Titans games.
I’m from my dad’s blonde hair and my mom’s blue eyes.
I’m from getting baptized through Jesus.
I’m from an old wooden box with pictures under my bed.
By: Haley Slatten

Where I’m From...

I’m from the old black chair in my yellow brick house.
I’m from the A & W Cream Soda in the fridge.
I’m from my parents, Amber and Larry.
I am from Leland Court East.
I am from the okra in the deep fryer, the mighty oak tree that was in my back yard, and the wild flower in my front yard.
I am from “Forget You” by Celso Green and “Boulevard of Broken Dreams” by Green Day.
I am from the 4th of July every year.
I am from the brown eyes in my family.
I am from the time when they said, “We’re going on a cruise!”
I am from the BB gun behind my door.
By: Kameron Smusz

Where I’m From...

I’m from the maple tree that blew down in a storm.
I’m from chewing gum and playing my Wii.
I’m from Brett and Julie.
I’m from my white house with blue shingles.
I’m from smelling roses, picking sunflowers, and the apple tree in the front yard.
I’m from singing the ABC’s over and over again.
I’m from playing the card game Sequence and fishing in the ponds near my house.
I’m from talking all the time and blue eyes.
I’m from going to Disney World.
I’m from the tiny locker on my dresser.
By: Sammie Kniss

Where I’m From...

I’m from the colorful morning glories that grow on the bush in my front yard.
I’m from mom and dad and many relatives.
I’m from the black flower pots in my front yard.
I’m from the sun that makes my sunflowers bloom.
I’m from Lil’Wayne ‘cause I’m little.
I’m from the brown football in my back yard.
I’m from rap and blue eyes.
I’m from the football pads in the closet.
I’m from the large necklace in my jewelry box.

I'm from a visit to the canyon.

I'm from practicing guitar.

I'm from seeing clean, cold waterfalls at a river.

I'm from dreaming about a tree house.

By: Alosha Baker

Where I'm From...

I'm from a shining gray chain hanging from my neck.

I'm from a giant old oak tree that has a creaky old swing.

I'm from a house with green windows that shuts back and forth.

I'm from many siblings and crazy schedules.

I'm from the house with two stories with windows up high.

I'm from the old towering oak trees and the tall sunflowers and the little rose bush that shimmers in the sunlight.

I'm from "The Only Exception" and "Jar of Hearts."

I'm from the little funny talks I have with friends.

I'm from brown hair and freckles.

I'm from getting my dog when she was a puppy.

I'm from that secret place in my closet.

By: Genneville Tamez

Where I'm From...

I'm from pepperoni, cheese, and sausage pizza.

I'm from brown tables and white refrigerators.

I'm from Fresh Beat Band and "Loco Legs."

I'm from brown branches, and big, green trees that my dad cuts.

I'm from school clothes, night clothes, and church clothes.

I'm from a happy family and a loving home.

Where I'm From...

I'm from an old book that sits on the shelf in the kitchen.

I'm from Holly, Bruce, and many funny cousins.

I'm from a small, white house out in the woods.

I'm from the sweet roses, weeping willows, and fried squash on Sunday.

I'm from "Away in a Manger" and "Holy Night."

I'm from "You Are My Sunshine" and the ABC's.

I'm from fishing and camping in the cool summer breeze.

I'm from drawing and changing my eye color depending on what I wear.

I'm from going to my aunt's house and playing with kittens.

I'm from a box inside my closet that holds letters.

HATCHER BOOK SIGNING AT EAGLEVILLE

Howard W. Hatcher, a 1953 Eagleville High School graduate and author, will conduct a book signing at the Eagleville City Hall from 9:00 AM until noon on November 12. Mr. Hatcher's first book, "Granddaddy Tell Me a Story," was published in 2010. It consists of a collection of short stories about six sons of a proud couple who lost their home after the 1929 financial collapse. The collection includes everything from skinny dipping in the Harpeth River to a little brother walking across a state fair race track while the races were in progress. The family's Tom Sawyer type experiences are humorous, inspiring and true.

Mr. Hatcher's second book, "Parables and People," was published in September of 2011.

This work is a continuation of short stories of his childhood in Williamson County and Eagleville. The book concludes with experiences in the Sequatchie Valley. Some of these stories will bring tears to your eyes, while others will bring a smile to your face.

Howard Hatcher attended Forrest Home, Arrington, College Grove and Franklin High Schools in Williamson County before graduating from Eagleville. He received his B.S. Degree from Middle Tennessee State in 1957. His post college career includes eight years with Borden Foods, thirty four years with USDA's Farmer's Home Administration and ten years as Executive Director of the Chamber of Commerce at Dunlap, Tennessee. He is a 51 year member of the Lions Club and an active United Methodist, serving at local and regional levels. He wrote a popular column for the Dunlap Tribune and for the Chattanooga Times Free Press for several years. His stories are written in a way that can be enjoyed by children and adults. He is married to the former Dorothy Ann Rigsby of Williamson County in 1958. They have lived in Dunlap, Tennessee since 1967. They have two children and three grandchildren.

Mr. Hatcher will also have a book signing at the Williamson County Library from 2:00 until 4:00 PM on November 12 and at the Senior Center in College Grove on November, 16 following their noon luncheon.

Books prices are $19.95 each and are available at Joyce's Beauty shop in Eagleville and at Rigsby brothers Store at Allisona. Signed books can be ordered directly by contacting the author at P O box 792, Dunlap, TN 37327-E mail hwhatcher@bledsoe.net or Tel 423 949 3147. Add $4.50 for mailing.

All Proceeds to Benefit Hope Hill Children's Home

Hope Hill Children's Home was started in 1960 in Hope, KY. It began as an orphanage to take care of boys and girls who did not have a family. Over time, it has become an all girls' residential program with 45 female residents ranging in age from 13-18. It also has a foster care program for 30 males and females.

During the time that they are at Hope Hill, they live in group homes with heating and cooling, have three meals a day, go to school in an on site school, and most importantly, experience a loving, Christian environment that most of them have never known before.

Hope Hill is truly a blessing and wonderful ministry that is changing the lives of many teens who would likely otherwise spend a life full of struggle.

Eagleville Troop 123 Goes To Shiloh

Over Fall Break Eagleville Troop 123 went to Shiloh National Military Park. The Troop camped for three nights just outside of the park at the Battlefield Campground. Friday and Saturday the Troop hike through the battlefield, learning how the battle started and progressed, and how it ended. One hike the troop learned about artillery that was used during the battle. One cannon located in the park was used at the battle of Fort Donelson, Shiloh, and Vicksburg. The troop hike just a little over 22 miles over. Sunday morning the troop dressed in Class A uniforms attended the Shiloh Methodist Church, it is actually located inside the park, and served as a hospital during the two days of the battle. At Shiloh the Scouts had many learning experiences about the battle, the men who fought there, and equipment used during the Civil War. They learned the value of team work, cooperation, and physical endurance; it took all three of these to get through 22 miles of hiking. Through team work the Troop members became closer than before. Through team work they were able to set up camp before dark, cooked meals for the troop, and cleaning up afterwards. The Troop believes it is a trip worth doing again.

Little Stories About You & Me

By Nancy Allen

Finding Your Rhythm

Many of us will say we are rhythmically challenged, meaning we are not trained to play a musical instrument or we have never learned to cha cha cha or to dance the smooth 1-2-3 beat of a waltz.

In our busy, noisy mechanized world few of us hear or even recognize the natural rhythms of nature such as rain, thunder, wind, birds chirping, animals calling, insects clicking or waves lapping. And, we are never still long enough to get in touch with our own heartbeat.

A sense of rhythm is a sense of life and rejuvenation that is essential to a well-balanced, integrated, successful partnership with life. Many cultures have recognized the importance of the drum beat as an aid to finding our internal rhythm.

For three decades now drums have echoed through the crisp colored leaves in Middle Tennessee State parks as North American natives have presented their heritage and honored their ancestors. They hold events all over the United States where they participate in drumming, singing and dancing as contestants for prize money. Arts, crafts, jewelry, pottery and food enrich the event. The fry bread was especially good.

The first Pow Wow in Middle Tennessee was held thirty years ago at a Mt. Juliet saddle club with only friends and family attending. Last year 12,000 came to Long Hunter State Park and this year promised to be even better.

Mayekan (Wolf) Mistakwakihk, AKA-Keith Sharphead, is a Plains Cree Indian from Alberta Canada. He said the “white man” calls him Keith because they can’t pronounce his real name. Mayekan has been playing the drums since he was a baby. He is now in his twenties, “drop dead gorgeous”—bronze skin, long black braids, and sparkling eyes. His father and grandfather taught him to sing and play. He said the pattern they drum is a “ruffle or double beat.” It is supposed to mimic the prairie chicken.

After repeating a rhythm pattern many times it is easy to lose the since of time and some say it creates a trance. Mayekan said he prefers to use the term, “in the zone.” Drumming helps him be in touch with his culture and aids him with prayers for his family and friends.

When asked about the healing benefits of drumming, he said that sweat lodges and the Sun Dance are used for healing. However, the procedures are a secret and a person can only participate by invitation from a medicine man or medicine woman.

Buddy Helm, in his book on drumming said, drumming clears blockages in the spinal sheath therefore causing both physical and emotional healing. It’s important to feel the rhythm and when Mayekan spoke of drumming it was in tandem with the dance.

The Cree are one of the largest groups of “First Nations” in North America with 200,000 living in Canada. Mayekan travels with the troop, performing, but also does construction work and speaks to school children about his culture. He says, “The drumbeat is the heartbeat of mother earth.”

One Good Chair

My bedroom also doubles as my office. We do have an actual office in our house, but my husband’s computer menagerie has been procreating, it seems. He collects computer parts and peripherals like some people collect stamps or coins. Unfortunately, computer parts do not fit neatly into an album. As a result our office has become our computer parts museum. He has everything from a Commodore 64, still in its original box, to a floppy drive from the Middle Ages.

My bedroom is the only remaining haven where I can write, compose e-mails, and conduct business (like making grocery lists). It stands to reason that I would spend a lot of time in there.

For this reason, I need a good chair. The one I had was okay, but the cushioning had gone flat and I had to place a small pillow in the back for lumbar support. I think that is where I keep my lumbar, anyway.

This situation was okay, but not ideal.

I would have kept my chair if my husband’s chair didn’t break. It was the second chair he had broken in two years. I saw his misfortune as my ticket to a new chair. The plan? He could take my old chair and I would get a new one for my “office.”

Lest you think I was being selfish to suggest this, you need to consider my willingness to take his old iPhone when my contract was up so that he could upgrade to the new one.

We have a give and take relationship. Sometimes he does the taking and sometimes I do.

He wanted a new iPhone. I wanted a new chair.

Besides, men’s posteriors are accustomed to sitting for hours on metal bleachers and fishing boat benches. My chair with its 1/2 inch of padding would be no sacrifice for my husband.

In fact, because he is over 6 feet tall, his lumbar would probably be at least six inches above mine. If my old chair had any support at all, it would fit his lumbar much better than mine.

Finding a chair that would fit me, however, proved to be quite a challenge. Not only was I looking for more padding in the seat and built-in lumbar support for my irregularly shaped behind, but it seemed the more chairs in which I sat, the more features I decided I needed.

The first one that drew my eyes was an executive chair with fine Corinthian leather. It may have been “pleather” for all I know, but it looked like something in which Ricardo Montalban would sit, behind a monstrous mahogany desk. No matter that my “desk” was actually a plastic card table, complete with a calendar, a grammar cheat sheet, a card with the warning signs for a heart attack, various scraps of paper with information I don’t want to forget, and pictures my children have drawn for me over the past 5 years, scotch-taped to the wall behind it.

Yeah, okay, leather was too cold to sit on anyway. I needed a cloth chair. A high back would be nice, too, in case I wanted to rest my head. Truthfully, if I wanted to rest my head, I could walk 5 feet to my left and crawl into my bed. However, writers have to be disciplined. I can’t lie down simply because I’m tired. If I had a “real” job, I’d be fired. So, I decided a high back is a must. I wouldn’t want to be forced to fire myself. It would be awkward.

Armrests are really unnecessary, but they are a luxury I can’t resist. I thought it would be nice to not have to support my arms all by myself. Sometimes you just have to pamper yourself.

When I finally lit on a chair that met my many criteria, I bought it and brought it home. To add extra fuel to the fire of my husband’s envy, I asked him to help me build it.

I could see that he was as jealous of my new chair as I was of his new iPhone, but he took my old chair, knowing that his only other option was perching on one of his 1980’s CRT monitors. Considering his habit of breaking chairs, he wouldn’t want to take that chance with the contents of his computer museum.

Happy Birthday Elizabeth Hensley

Elizabeth Hensley was 6 years old on Oct. 10, 2011. She is the daughter of Wilson and Courtney Hensley and Granddaughter of Gary and Dottie Clarke of Nolensville.

SPECIAL BIRTHDATE 11/11/11

This year, the people celebrating their birthdays on this date might consider the number 11, their lucky number. It's not considered rare, but is uncommon to have a birth date that can be read forward and backward or that it only consists of one repeating number.

A Special birthday wish for those known to have this special birth date this year: Blake Hodge(18), Wesley Travis (52), Lorene Rigsby and Margaret Hall

Eagleville Middle School Basketball

By Anthony Hawks

The smell of popcorn in the air, whistle blows and sneakers sliding across the gym floor usually means one thing. It’s basketball season again in Eagleville! It’s the sport that carries us through the winter after the end of football and the beginning of baseball and softball. Perhaps most enjoyed because it’s played inside in the comfort of the Eagleville High School gym. Yes folks, let the fast paced games begin!

The start of the 2011-2012 Eagleville Middle School Eagles boys and girls games were much anticipated this year. With several returning players on both squads the teams should have another great year. The 13 player girl’s team is coached by Michael McClaran and assistant coach Michelle Curtis. The boy’s team carries 16 players on their roster and is coached by Jennifer Snell and assistant coach Alan Pepper.

Both teams opened their seasons with a win at Moore County on October 17th. Moore County, a long time Eagleville rival put up a good fight but they were no match for our Eagles.

Both teams would like to invite you out to catch a game. While you’re there plan on visiting the concession stand and try out one of their county wide known bake potatoes. You won’t leave hungry if you do!

1 stalk celery, chopped

MAKE IT

Take the chuck roast and season with salt and pepper to taste. Brown on all sides in a large skillet over high heat.
Place in the slow cooker and add the soup mix, water, carrots, onion, potatoes and celery.
Cover and cook on low setting for 8 to 10 hours.

Our Meat Department will cut meat to your order. Please call ahead or see someone in the meat department for your special requests.
Our Deli can also prepare large orders for your party or special event.
