

Rigsby Brothers' Garage Celebrates Fifty Years In Business

Written by: The Merkle Rigsby Family

In 1956, a stamp cost three cents, the New York Yankees beat the Brooklyn Dodgers in the World Series, Elvis Presley sang 'Heartbreak Hotel', and three brothers started a grocery and garage business in Allisona, Tennessee that is still in operation today. The brothers were J.W., Jesse, and Merkle Rigsby who, with their wives, Lorene, Mary, and Betty, opened Rigsby Brothers' in October of 1956. J.W. and Jesse, the two eldest, had previously owned a local bulldozing business, Rigsby Bros. Construction, since 1951. When they heard that Mr. Audie Simmons was selling his store on Hwy. 31 in Allisona, they took advantage of the opportunity to go into business with their youngest brother, Merkle, and bought the outfit on October 4th, 1956. The only merchandise included in the sale of the store/garage was one new tire, which became one of their first sales when it was sold to Jesse Pruitt.

Before moving back to the Allisona area, Merkle and Betty had lived in Nashville where they were both employed. Betty especially loved her job at the telephone company. They also had an infant son, Doug, who was only a few weeks old when they chose to move back to the country and start the family business with Merkle's brothers. Doug, along with his cousins Margaret Ann, David, Michelle, Junior, and Karen, grew up with the store as their second home. Doug remembers watching with his cousins for the first watermelon truck of the summer to come up the highway from Alabama each year. In the hot summers, the kids would sometimes sneak away and go fishing in the creek behind the store. In 1964, Jesse and Mary had their third child, Steve, and in 1965 Betty and Merkle had another son, Alan. The two later followed in the footsteps of the older Rigsby children, working in the store and garage. Over the years, many grandchildren, nieces, and nephews spent time working in either the store or garage.

From the beginning Rigsby Bros. was an all-inclusive business, functioning as a Post Office, general store, grocery and deli, and full service gas station. Many customers would pull up to the gas pumps, ask for two dollars (or less) worth of gas, bologna sandwiches, cheese and crackers and a cold drink, without ever leaving their vehicle. The store sold everything from groceries, produce, shoes, nails, and fabric to feed and pesticides. Saturday was especially busy with many people buying a large part of the groceries or goods they would need for the coming week. Everyone worked long hard hours during this busiest era, usually from sunup to sundown year round. Merkle ran the garage while the wives took turns working in the store, and J.W. and Jesse spent most of their time doing dozer work. Saturday night was a time to get together with friends and customers and play card games, with the all time favorite in those days being Pedro. The men would gather in the back of the store and play for hours most Saturday nights, giving everyone the chance to talk, tell stories and relax after a hard week. They always kept the business open six days a week and continue that tradition today.

From the start, Rigsby Bros. accepted any challenge presented to them by customers, and the range of projects taken on was unlimited. They worked on cars, trucks, tractors and other farm equipment, lawnmowers, and more. Sometimes they were asked to go beyond the normal duties of mechanics like the time one of the Clarkson children got stuck in a cooler. When they brought him to the garage and asked Merkle to cut him out of the cooler, Merkle told them to hang on while he went to get the proper tools. He returned with a can of oil and poured it all around the little boy, and within moments they were able to slide him out unharmed. Another time they received Merkle on the telephone, and the regulars playing cards, was a typical day, before the store closed.

A Step Back in Time

By Bobbie Sue Shelton

For 125+ years Eagleville has had exceptional educational opportunities for its young people. In the late 1800s and early 1900s a very well known private school, The Eagleville School, was located on Church Street, near the Eagleville Baptist Church. Information about Eagleville School was published in annual catalogues to entice parents to send their children to this school. This school was supported by tuition and donations. The annual catalogue was made possible by local business advertisements.

LOCATION

Eagleville is located eighteen miles southwest of Murfreesboro in Rutherford County, Tenn: has almost five hundred inhabitants and its citizens are intelligent and moral. Easily accessible from all directions, being at the crossing of Murfreesboro, Allisona, Shelbyville and Nashville turnpikes. Comfortable hacks are run to and from each of the above places daily, bringing us in close touch with the outside world. Daily mail except Sunday.

Eagleville has no saloons or places of bad repute: in fact there is not a saloon within thirty miles of town. Eagleville is famous for its genial and healthful climate, the high standard of intelligence and enterprise and the liberality of its businessmen.

INTRODUCTION

In coming before you with this our Fourth Annual Announcement it affords us great pleasure to be able to say that the past year has been the most successful in the history of this school. The enrollment last year reached 236 and the interest in every department was indeed gratifying.

Should we neglect to express our appreciation of your most noble support, hearty co-operation and liberal donations, we would be unworthy of the trust and confidence you have placed in us.

As we have been heard to say the teachers do not make the school, the pupils do not make the school, the patrons do not make the school; but the hearty co-operation of the three will give it that growth and reputation that every prosperous educational institution merits.

We earnestly solicit your continued support. If you approve our methods we feel that we are mutually interested. Fill our building with your boys and girls and we will give them our best efforts and endeavor to prepare them for the duties of life.

To our noble students, who have conducted themselves so splendidly, allow us to say in closing, you ever hold that esteem and love that every true teacher has for his pupils. May we further say that in every instance of strict discipline, there was love and kindness for our pupils and your interest was the interest we endeavored to guard. We ask you still to labor for our school.

CHURCHES

Religiously, Eagleville is not wanting. All denominations, common to this country are represented within easy reach of pupils.

Sunday schools and preaching every Sunday, prayer meeting twice a week. We insist that pupils attend church services, but allow them choice of churches.

This is not a denominational school.

BOARD

Our boarding facilities cannot be surpassed. Good board can be secured at public boarding houses or with private families, at remarkable low rates.

The Principal will assist pupils in securing suitable places at minimum cost.

EAGLEVILLE SCHOOL CATALOGUE 1903-1904

The pupils will be allowed certain privileges and the instructors will visit the various boarding houses at times to see that the students are indulged no more than the rules and regulations permit. We consider ourselves personally responsible for the conduct of every pupil entrusted to our care.

DISCIPLINE

Our rules are few and simple. The discipline is mild but imposed. It is the purpose of the teachers to develop the sense of honor in the pupil. Our aim will be to direct not restrain: to advise, not punish. Pupils will be expected to obey implicitly all rules and regulations of the school and those who are not willing to do so are not wanted and will not be retained. We don't propose to run a "Reform School".

ELOCUTION

This department will be under the direction of Miss Kate Leigh Hulme of Columbia, Tenn. Miss Hulme received her training in Elocution at Soule College, Murfreesboro, Tenn. and is a most excellent young lady. She has taught successfully at this place and College Grove, Tenn. Miss Hulme will also have charge of class in English Literature, Expression and Physical Culture.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

This department will be under the supervision of Mrs. John W. Williams, an able instructor and one whose successful experience is marked by the rapid advancement of her pupils. The rate of tuition in this department is exceedingly reasonable as will be observed in referring to charges.

GENERAL INFORMATION

No deductions of tuition made except in cases of protracted sickness of more than a week.

Tuition due and payable at close of each month. A close observance of this rule is urged unless special arrangements are made with Principal.

Quarterly examinations will be held during term and estimate of work done by pupil will be forwarded to parents.

Monthly reports will be sent to parents or guardians at close of each scholastic month.

No pupil will be retained in school who persistently refuses to obey rules.

Pupils are not allowed on streets at night only when transacting business for parents.

IN CONCLUSION

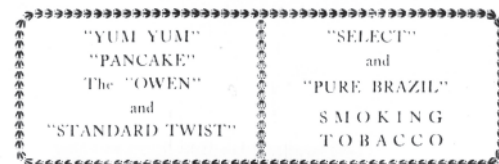

We desire to say that this school invites your patronage and proposes to give value received for money expended. We have reduced the rates of tuition* until it is easy in reach of all. This was done by the generosity of the Board of Trustees in supplementing the fund with their individual donations. The Trustees are determined to make the schools one of the leading institutions of the country and at the same time give to those who are unable to attend expensive schools an opportunity to educate themselves. Now again we ask your loyal support. Give us a trial and we will put forth an earnest effort to develop your boy or girl. All of our teachers are men and women whose hearts are in the work and who have ample qualifications to fill the positions they hold.

Thanking you for past support and hoping to have your patronage in the future. We are Very Truly Yours,

JNO. W. WILLIAMS, Principal

a service call request from a wife whose husband was stuck in the mud. When Merkle asked what he was driving that got stuck, she said, "No. He's not driving anything. He is stuck in the mud." The elderly man had fallen forward into the deep mud of a cowfield and needed assistance. Merkle went and helped the man out free of charge.

With the start of zip codes the Post Office was moved out of the store and into an official location. Times began to change, and Rigsby Bros., a gathering place in a farming community where the tallest tobacco stalk of the season was put on display next to the front door, began to change too. Several changes took place during the 70's and 80's with the biggest being J.W. and Lorene retiring in 1985, and J.W.'s passing in 1986. The bulldozers were sold, and the store and garage continued operating. Then in 1991, Jesse and Mary retired. Merkle and Betty continued to run the business on their own and later with the help of their grandson, Paul. Like many men in the family, Paul learned the trade of his grandfather in the garage, starting at an early age. He worked as a mechanic for several years before he left for the police academy to pursue the career he had always wanted.

The store in 1959, when you could purchase gas and receive Valu-Plus Stamps.

In recent years the business has downsized. In 1990, after selling Shell gas for thirty-five years they decided to quit selling gas and focus on the garage. After Betty suffered health problems in 2002, the store part of the business was officially closed. Although, Betty still remains active in the business with accounting duties and making trips to get needed parts for Merkle's projects in the garage. Merkle remains busy in the garage and intends to keep it open part-time as long as he is able. Several friends and neighbors stop in everyday for coffee and games of Skip-Bo. Even though Jesse has been retired for several years it is a rare day that he is not found visiting at the garage. Jesse's wife Mary passed away in 2005 after a long illness. Sadly, many friends of Rigsby Bros. have also passed away during the past fifty years in business.

The fifty years have seen three generations of some families come in the store. Many children who grew up coming in to get a cold drink or ice cream later brought their own children in to do the same. Betty and Merkle have always had lots of trick-or-treaters at Halloween. Many parents who have fond childhood memories of visiting the store and its owners make a special trip to bring their kids to see Miss Betty. To get an idea of how many strong bonds have been built through the store all one has to do is take a look at the vast collage of pictures on the back wall of the store. Christmas cards, graduation pictures, wedding announcements, and snapshots sent from all over adorn the wall filling the store with a warm friendly atmosphere.

Rigsby Bros. has stayed in business for fifty years now thanks to the same spirit of hard work and dedication with which the three brothers opened it. The long-standing success would not have been possible without the help of family, friends, customers, neighbors, and business associates throughout the years. To show our appreciation for all those involved and to celebrate this milestone Betty and Merkle will be hosting an open house on Saturday October 7th from 10-4. Come celebrate with us and bring a memory, a story, or a picture from the past to share.

OCTOBER MOON

I love these bright October days,
I love the dying shade.
Tis now that benediction falls,
On all that God has made.

Delight joy of spring as passed,
The song of summer's gone.
Now crowning beauty comes at last,
To tell that God lead on.

A messenger comes on the breeze,
A Copper tints, the sky.
A limpid beauty crowns the trees,
To tell that God is nigh.

A beauteous scene, how sweet, how sweet,
Where Angels' feet have trod.
Which blessed on High is given to us,
With God's beauty and all His love.

How crowned with jewels each flower and tree,
How flecked with gold, the earth.
If joys like these be ours to see,
In Heaven, how grand, it will be.

Praise God for all his good ideas,
"We Love Him."

Eulogy for Gene Underwood - Written and delivered by Brandon Landerberg, 15 year old grandson of Mr. Gene Underwood.

Many of you know my granddaddy. Gene Underwood was a great man with a huge heart. For me, it's very hard to let him go and I know it's hard for all of you. I loved him with all of my heart and I thank God for every second I had with him. At first, I didn't want to let him go because I thought I wouldn't have anything to remember him by, but now I know I will have my wonderful memories. Knowing he loved me has helped me get through these past few days. My granddaddy helped I've always been afraid of death because I didn't know what it truly meant, but I think it means being released from pain and misery and going on to be with God and others we've lost before. I know some of us haven't known him as long as others, but I can tell you, he loved us all the same. To me, and to many others, no one will ever amount to the man he was. I know this is a bit long but, if you don't mind, I'd like to say... My granddaddy was always there for me and to me, his heart beats as mine. So as my heart beats, so does his... If you are a Carlton descendant, do join us next year on September 1, 2007.

Those present for the reunion who are over 75 years of age were (L-R): Willie Floyd Williams, Marvin Carlton, Cora Mae Gunter, Ruth Eads, Lois and William Carlton, and Pauline and Sam Brown.

Henry Horton's Third Annual Step Back In Time

By Melissa Buchanan

September 22-24, 2006 Henry Horton's State Park celebrated days gone by with their 3rd annual Step Back in Time. This event features such novelties from the past as Civil War encampments, complete with tents, camp fires, and folks dressed in period clothing. There is an antique tractor parade and even antique farm equipment in working action.

Horse drawn buggy rides make their way across the grounds, and even one of Henry Horton's own park rangers-Shane Petty showed his enthusiasm with an impressive lean-to front porch, complete with tin roof and constructed from old barn wood. Ranger Petty's dog "Raiff" completed the old porch, as the 165 lb. Blood-hound napped lazily under the shade.

Craft vendors from as far as Alabama were present, selling anything from Muscadine cider, canned items from this year's gardens, wood crafts, and even one vendor making handmade brooms on-site. Inside, patrons of the event dined on white beans and cornbread while being entertained by several Bluegrass bands and Cloggers.

There are many interactive demonstrations and things to see at Step Back in Time, including goats and chickens, horseback shooters, and a working grist mill. Make this yearly event a tradition for your family-admission is free and it's only minutes away in Chapel Hill, TN.

HARPETH RIVER WATERSHED ASSOCIATION

The Harpeth River Watershed recently conducted a Dissolved Oxygen study on 100 miles of the Harpeth River. This study relied heavily on volunteers long the watershed, and included local resident Kennie Floyd who received training on water sampling from the Harpeth River, using a dissolved oxygen kit. Kinnie's and others' volunteer efforts for this project were greatly appreciated, as they obtained water samples through on site field testing at all different hours-as late as midnight and as early as 6 am. This study will help the HRWA understand the amount of dissolved oxygen present in the Harpeth River which is essential to aquatic life when at appropriate levels.

Garden Thyme With Tee

By Tee Billingsley

General Plans for the first two weeks of October:

Plow gardens. Add gypsum to make clay soils looser next year.

Sanitize garden now to kill diseases for next year. This is done by:

1. Covering the garden with clear plastic (paint drop cloth) or heavier plastic.
2. Placing empty cans on top of the plastic every few feet around the edges and randomly in the middle.
3. Placing another sheet of plastic on top of the first sheet, covering the cans.
4. Placing rocks or boards around the edges to anchor and seal the edges, making them airtight. The cans separate the plastic sheets, creating an air pocket, which acts as an oven when the winter sun heats the captured air. The ground absorbs the heat and kills the bacteria and mold.

Continue to pile oak leaves and pine straw around Azalea and Rhododendums.

One insect killed this month is worth 1000 killed in spring. Rake away any insect-infested leaves and spray again before mulching.

Do not fertilize in October.

Prepare new flowerbeds for the spring. Sanitize as instructed above.

Save money by following grandma's system for keeping geraniums. Dig, shake off soil, and place roots in a brown bag. Store in a cool, dark place over winter, like under the house. Granny-girl Myers put hers in the cellar. Granny Billingsley put hers on a beam under the house.

Hobbies & Collectibles

Let's Begin To Scrapbook

Years ago scrapbooks were usually little more than clippings from newspapers, snippets of hair and baby announcements. Many remember scrapbooks having black pages with golden photo corners. To some, that will always be the definition of a scrapbook. A scrapbook, you see, means different things to different people and they are all correct. No two scrapbooks are alike. It's your book and your memories. You can design it to suit YOU!

You don't need to go out and purchase special tools and gadgets to start scrap booking successfully. These products are relatively inexpensive at this time of year because of the back to school sales.

This essentials list can vary from artist to artist. The more you learn about scrap booking the more you will be able to determine your own personalized essentials list. Below is an excellent foundation to start from.

The Essentials List for Beginners

ALBUM	Why?	It allows you to safely store all of your completed pages.
PAGE PROTECTORS	Why?	Page protectors shield your layouts from everyday wear and tear while holding them securely in an album.
PAPER	Why?	Paper adds color and pattern to your pages.
CARDSTOCK	Why?	Cardstock is a heavyweight paper and provides a sturdy foundation for the placement of your photographs, memorabilia, and embellishments. It is versatile and affordable.
ADHESIVES	Why?	Adhesives hold your masterpieces together. (Glue stick)
SCISSORS	Why?	Scissors allows you to manipulate, transform and incorporate pieces into your pages.
RULER	Why?	Rulers help you measure accurately and make clean, straight lines.
BLACK PENS	Why?	Black pens assist you in drawing letters, writing, journaling, or adding "pen work" to your pages.
TOTE	Why?	You will need an easily accessible place to keep all your scrap booking essentials. Remember: You will soon OUT GROW your tote. Start larger than what you think you'll need.

Foliage Friends

Use your imagination to turn ordinary backyard leaves into fall friends!

Materials Needed:

- Autumn Leaves from your yard
- Paper
- Pencils, pens or crayons
- Glue

Take your child on an outdoor adventure. Look for difference shaped leaves in your yard. Below are some possibilities. When you've found the leaves whose shapes you like, glue them to pieces of paper and use pencil, pen or crayon to make your creatures complete. To preserve your creations, press the artwork between two books and let the leaves dry. You could cover your child's masterpieces with contact paper. Make sure you put the date and age of your child for future reference! Have Fun!!!

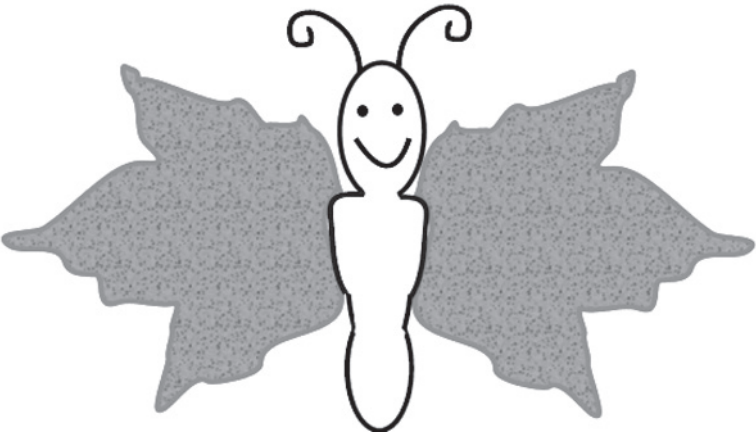

MAPLE: These leaves have three main points and lots of smaller ones; make a butterfly friend.

ROSE: The rounded shape of this bush's leaves makes them look little a turtle shell.

BIRCH: As big and tall as this white-bark tree can get, its leaves are as small and perfect for a bird.

GERANIUM: You might flip your wig if you find one of these wild-looking leaves in your yard.

Family Fun Idea: Why not pack a picnic lunch and share an afternoon with your family as you gather your leaves!

Send us your photo with your craft or artwork to the Eagleville Times Kiddie Corral. Email to kiddiecorral@eaglevilletimes.com or mail to P.O. Box 72, Eagleville, TN 37060. Your photograph will be featured in an upcoming issue of the Eagleville Times. Please remember to include your name and age.

Margaret's Helpful Hints

Newspaper Weeds Away - Start putting in your plants, work the nutrients in your soil. Wet newspapers put layers around the plants overlapping as you go cover with mulch and forget about weeds. Weeds will get through some gardening plastic they will not get through wet newspapers.

Reheating Refrigerated Bread - To warm biscuits, pancakes, or muffins that were refrigerated, place them in a microwave with a cup of water. The increased moisture will keep the food moist and help it reheat faster.

Easy Deviled Eggs - Put cooked egg yolks in a zip lock bag. Seal, mash till they are all broken up. Add remainder of ingredients, reseal, keep mashing it up mixing thoroughly, cut the tip of the baggy, squeeze mixture into egg. Just throw bag away when done easy clean up.

From Page 6.....It's Debra Shelton Lawrence!

Rockvale Elementary School celebrated the anniversary of our National Anthem on September 14th, as well as taking time out to honor the families and victims of 9-11 with the showing of a 5-minute memorial video about that day. September 14 is the day in 1814 that Francis Scott Key wrote the poem “The Star Spangled Banner” aboard a British Ship after their attack on Fort McHenry. History Teacher, Carlene Henderson, shared a history of the flag with pictures of how the flag has changed over the past 200 years. Drama students Taylor Gentry, Ryan Brown, Levi Pounds, Taylor Hargrove, Lauryn Nicholson, Rebecca Reissner, and Heather Rigsby presented a dramatic presentation of Francis Scott Key aboard the British Ship when he wrote the poem. The students also sang along with the first and last verses of the four-verse anthem. At the end of the assembly, all of the students worked together to create a giant American Flag.
