Soon to open Huckleby's Restaurant and Bakery at 115 North Main Street in downtown Eagleville is bringing back southern staples with a meat and three, and just in time too; as cooler temperatures in the area have many of us wanting warm comfort foods.

Huckleby's is a family-owned restaurant and bakery with owners Lori and Aaron Usinger teaming up with her parents Ron and Christine Ramey to oversee daily business operations and the preparation of dishes learned from the family.

"Atmosphere is very important to us," said Lory Usinger, who has 15 years experience in the restaurant industry, including management of large chains and 4-star restaurants. "We want to offer a very inviting family atmosphere with rocking chairs on the front porch, music playing throughout, and retail opportunities throughout the restaurant," she said.

Ralston's Antiques can be found throughout the 70-seat dining area's décor, while Eagleville's own Kandle Kitchen candles will also be available for purchase at the register.

"We are hoping to open on October 11th, but it will depend on Codes, plumbers, and the installation of new equipment," explained Lory Usinger, of the restaurant and bakery's brand new commercial kitchen.

Huckleby's will be open for breakfast, lunch, and dinner with a menu full of southern style meat and three's that carry fun southern names like Aunt Thelma's fried chicken and breakfast served any time-try out the Uncle Huckleby, which consists of 3 eggs, 2 pieces of bacon, 2 pieces of sausage, hash browns, and your choice of a strawberry topped Belgian waffle or stack of pancakes.

"Granny's Corner", the full service bakery will be located at the front of the restaurant where diners will get to watch

New TVPPA President Reflects on 23rd Annual Pioneer Days

By Andrea Mosier

Friday, September 10, 2010, saw the kickoff of the 23rd Annual Pioneer Days, the first time in several years that rain threatened the event. After a wash-out on Friday, Saturday brought improved conditions and the show lost no steam, running until past midnight.

TVPPA President, Jesse Geasley, would like to thank the many individuals and businesses that helped make this year's event a success.

"It takes dedicated volunteers and the support of the community to put together a show of this magnitude every year. I would like to personally thank Ronnie Hill of Farm Sales and Service for his constant provision of track maintenance equipment. I'd like to thank Ronnie's wife, Gloria Hill, for being on hand to greet the high school students competing for the Heritage Award and providing them with gift bags of keepsakes to take home. The Rutherford Farmer's Co-op donated plastic corn-mugs and Co-op hats for the students, and I'd like to let them know how much the kids appreciated those items."

"I'd like to thank Ray Rummage, Terry Zumbro, Susie Glos, and the Carter Family for working the gate. This is a thankless job, and we really appreciate the time they invested. They always do a great job. The Augustine brothers, Jackson and Charlie, and Tim Rawlins, always form up our track crew, and I'd like to thank them as well. Jimmy and Jean Lamb work the kitchen. They have a new facility, and I'd like to extend thanks to Nashville Ready Mix for helping us securing concrete for the new kitchen. I'd like to thank Forrest High School FFA sponsor and teacher Josh Roberson for inviting the media into his shop to follow his school's progress on their 1950 John Deere Model A tractor. Last, but not least, I'd like to thank the Eagleville Times for all the publicity, the years of free advertising for the tractor club, and for the articles they've run to help promote the show."

"I ran for this office because I wanted to see young faces and new ideas in this twenty-three-year-old organization. I really enjoyed meeting the high school students and watching their enthusiasm for tractor pulls and restoring antique machines. To me, the younger generation is what this show is all about. It's an opportunity to show the kids what life used to be like. We have a steam-powered wheat thresher, a resident blacksmith, and antique farm implements. I'd like to see more demonstrations of antique power, more features that appeal to women, such as arts and crafts, and more kid-friendly events. This annual gathering offers an opportunity for the young to encounter the old ways. I'd like to see more of an emphasis on growing our crowd and expanding what we offer in the years to come."

as bakers create Huckleby's homemade pastries, signature pies, and the homemade buttermilk biscuits and cornbread that will come to your table upon being seated.

Whether by the slice or the entire pie; "pies are going to be our big thing," said Uslinger of the dozen varieties that will be available each day, in addition to other seasonal varieties.

Hamburgers, fries, and Philly Cheese steaks will round out the lunch menu, while the kid's menu will feature favorites like grilled cheese and chicken fingers. For dessert, try a slice of homemade pie or another traditional favorite like chocolate cake. If you're in the mood for ice cream, Huckleby's will also offer hand-dipped milkshakes and ice cream by the scoop.

Eagleville Candidates For November 2nd Election

The State General Election will be held November 2, 2010. The following Eagleville City candidates will be on the ballot for Mayor and 3 City Council Members. Mayor Sam Tune is running unopposed.

Chris Hendrix - Candidate for Council

Fellow Eagleville Citizens, I have a question for you. Are you concerned about the future of our City? I am, and that is the reason I am running for the Eagleville City Council.

Eagleville offers many good things, such as our School, City Park, Churches, Local Businesses, Fire & Police Departments and many others. I am very proud of all of these. Just think for a moment how much better our City would be with just a few improvements. Some of these improvements may include adding more businesses, small industries to create more jobs, having a full-time Fire Department, road improvements, etc.

Friends I don't know everything, however, what I do know is that to accomplish any of our goals, here in Eagleville, we will have to have a Municipal Sewer System. Some say the cost of the new Sewer System is too expensive, let's just keep it the way it has always been. I am not for turning everything upside down, but I am for a moderate, progressive growth of our City.

I have lived in the City of Eagleville my entire life, during my primary years I attended The Eagleville School and I graduated from Nashville Academy. I have been blessed with one son, Dayton who attends the Eagleville School. I have owned a small business for 15 years and know the toil involved in operating a business. I feel as though my experience will be helpful on the City Council and in the everyday affairs of running our city.

I know many of you and there are many with whom I have not had the pleasure of meeting. If I do not have the chance to speak with you personally in these next weeks, I would like at this time to sincerely ask for your support and your vote. Thank you so much for this opportunity and God Bless You.

Eric Marlin - Candidate for Council

My name is Eric Marlin. I have lived in Eagleville for 13 years and am a graduate of Community High School. I am married and have 2 children, wife Nancy, son Hunter and daughter Courtney. I have been a business owner for 8 years and am currently a co-owner of Premier Wheel Workz. I am also a volunteer coach for the Eagleville High School softball team.

What action should be the focus in the coming year? I think the main focus in the next year will be whether or not to get a sewer system and what kind of system will work best for the city.

What are your specific five-year goals that you would like to accomplish for the future of Eagleville? In other words, where do you see the city of Eagleville in five years? I enjoy living in a small town, having a K-12 school and knowing most of the people you see. The key will be to put in place the things needed for the city to grow, while maintaining the small town feel. Some more businesses on Main Street will be a goal.

What is the role of Eagleville city government? What should city government do? What should city government stay out of? The role of Eagleville city government should be to look out for the best interest of the people of Eagleville and do what is best for the majority.

David Rigsby - Candidate for Council

My name is David Rigsby. I am 57 years old and a Christion. Married to Peggy, we have 2 chidlren and 5 grandchildren. I work at Crest Cadillac in Nashville and been a member of the Eagleville City Council for 12 years. I attended Eagleville High School.

What action should be the focus in the coming year? The City should stay a City. If we should loose our city, we will also loose the High School. Who will take care of the Park? We all know that Eagleville gets the left overs from the county.

What are your specific five-year goals that you would like to accomplish for the future of Eagleville? In other words, where do you see the city of Eagleville in five years? I would love to see the city grow in size; to enlarge the police department; if we get a "grant" for the sew system, where we can install one will help all people and make the city grow.

What is the role of Eagleville city government? What should city government do? What should city government stay out of? To help the people and protect the people. To make life better. A sew system will do this. A growing city is a healthy city.

Andy Soapes - Candidiate for Council

My name is Andy Soapes. My wife and I have lived in Eagleville for a little over two years. Before that we lived in Murfreesboro for 21 years. I worked for UPS for 33 years and retired last April. I am married to Beverly Soapes, a school teacher at Scales Elementary. We have been married for 36 years. We have two sons who live in Murfreesboro. I attended Madison High School. I presently serve on the Eagleville Planning Commission and the Fire Board.

What action should be the focus in the coming year? The focus for action in the coming year should be obtaining a sewer system for our city.

What are your specific five-year goals that you would like to accomplish for the future of Eagleville? In other words, where do you see the city of Eagleville in five years? Some specific goals for our city within the next five years are attracting more businesses and restaurants, providing more services, such as garbage pick-up for the taxpayers of Eagleville, and creating a thriving city, while maintaining its quaint small town feeling.

What is the role of Eagleville city government? What should city government do? What should city government stay out of? The role of city government is to provide a service to the taxpayers of the city. Public servants should be intent on working with the city's citizens and city officials. They should be good listeners and willing to see all sides yet committed to making decisions that benefit many instead of a few. I urge all to come to City Council meetings, ask questions, make suggestions, and get involved in this process of making our city of Eagleville the best it can be. I would appreciate the opportunity to work for the citizens of Eagleville.

David Turner - Candidate for Council

My name is David Turner. I'm 46 years old. I moved to Eagleville with my parents in 1979 from Nashville. I have 2 sons that attend Eagleville School. I graduated from Eagleville High School 1982; attended MTSU and Nashville Tech. Iam employed by St. Thomas Health Systems and have been a healthcare professional for 28 years.

What action should be the focus in the coming year? See the City Council to work together as a group that represents the people's voice, and Eagleville's best positive interests and choices for now and the future of our community.

What are your specific five-year goals that you would like to accomplish for the future of Eagleville? In other words, where do you see the city of Eagleville in five years? Be a good steward of the cities' resources. Have no personal agenda, except to help the community, citizens and businesses of Eagleville in any possible way. Continue to work with bringing good / positive things to Eagleville for ALL ages (example, I have working closely with the CEO of the Middle Tennessee YMCA over the past 5 years to hopefully bring a facility in or close to Eagleville area.) Complete a city plan that will protect and preserve the community as we know it, at the same time set fair parameters / zoning that insures controlled positive growth for our community. Seek out ALL resources possible to protect and enhance the quality of life for our community.

What is the role of Eagleville city government? What should city government do? What should city government stay out of? Have a city government that is a "Government of the people, by the people, and for the people." The city government should stay out of any personal agendas, goals or other's personal affairs.

Sam Tune - Candidate for Mayor

What action should be the focus in the coming year? Finalizing the sewer project, this is the most important issue for our city. presently we are we are on track securing funds and permits.

What are your specific five-year goals that you would like to accomplish for the future of Eagleville? In other words, where do you see the city of Eagleville in five years? With the public sewer in place we can revitalize the down town business district and solve health issues. My goal would be to find ways to provide more city services for our citizens.

What is the role of Eagleville city government? What should city government do? What should city government stay out of? Enhance the quality of life for our citizens and provide services. There is no place in government for private issues and trying to teach or control morals.

A Message From Your Mayor TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES

The truth of life, 'everything If we a price". don't pay the price then there consequences.

If we want to earn the highest wages, we have to work harder and smarter or we pay the consequences of lower wages.

If we want a successful marriage, we have to make sacrifices or the pay the consequences of a failed marriage.

If we want to be the best high school athletic, we must practice harder, study our plays or we pay the consequences of never reaching our goal.

Point is, anything of value has a cost weather it be work, time or money. Many times, when we don't meet out goals, the first thing we do is blame someone else or make excuses why we are not successful.

Lets be truthful!!! When we don't achieve what we set out to do and reach our goal the person hardest to face is our self. Lets be truthful!!! Sometimes the hardest person to look at is ourselves; look in a mirror and say you have failed and admit that it was your own fault. This is difficult for each and everyone of us, to admit our faults and not blame other people. Almost never do you hear of an automobile accident where someone jumps out of the car and says " don't worry, it is all my fault". It is difficult for all of us to admit fault and failure, it is iust human nature to want to be successful and over look where we have failed.

I hope to achieve a better understanding of where the City of Eagleville is today. Whether we want to admit it or not, there is a world outside of Eagleville, a world in which we live, work and co-operate with other government bodies, hopefully to improve a better way of life and contribute toward society. Each of us should try everyday to make the world a better place to live, and not be so concerned about our individual needs.

Once again if we are truthful, it is difficult for everyone of us not to be a little selfish as we do think about our needs and wants!

The truth is, you have city officials who are working very hard to enhance the quality of life for the residents of Eagleville. The truth is, you have city officials who are trying to reverse the direction the city was headed. Again, look in the mirror and ask yourself "where we were, where we are now, and what we are trying achieve". The truth is, you have city officials who are implementing every possible means of being honest and oversee the daily operations of your city professionally, with

A Step Back in Time By Bobbie Sue Shelton-Lonas

For the past couple of months I've asked the Eagleville Times readers to send in information on their family cemeteries. I want to thank Emalyn Pinkerton for her "Nathan Jackson Grave Yard" information, Ellie Wilkinson for the White Cemetery and Ms. Anderson, the Egypt Cemetery. If anyone would like to send in information on their family cemetery for future articles, please call 615-274-6282.

NATHAN JACKSON GRAVE YARD

The earliest marker or a gravesite in the Nathan Jackson Grave Yard has a date of 1849. Subsequent to that burial others followed. On September 7, 1889, W. R. Jackson for the amount of $25.00 transferred and conveyed to Indianna Jackson "....certain lot or parcel of land for the following purpose, to be used for a family burying ground for herself, her children and her grandchildren. Said lot or parcel of land is now known as the Nathan Jackson Grave Yard, and is located in Civil District No. 10 of Rutherford County, Tennessee and is to be laid off in a square containing forty square poles around and enclosing the said grave yard...." That deed was registered September 7, 1889.

The Jackson Grave Yard is still maintained by the descendants of Indianna Jackson. In recent years the "Forty Square Poles" and galvanized-wire cemetery fence were replaced by an iron fence, maintaining the original fence line. Adjacent is the unfenced parking lot. It is unusual for the older cemeteries in Tennessee to have deeds to the property.

WHITE CEMETERY

The White Cemetery is located on Highway 99 (In an open field across from Ditch Lane) on property previously owned by William C. White.

Buried in the White Cemetery: William C. White b. 6-8-1811 d. 2-26-1874 and his wife Eliza Taylor White b. 11-25-1817 d. 8-8-1868 and their children:

Julia A. b. 2-6-1839 d. 4-5-1897 and her husband, Amasa Webb Manire Sr. b.2-8-1837 d. 7-22-1915. (Dr. Amasa Manire was a doctor who practiced before and after the civil war around Needmore and Versailles, Tennessee. He served in the Confederate army as a hospital steward and detailed assistant surgeon during the Civil War.)

William C. White

Pleas Cothran, who owned 600 acres of land in Bedford County, near the Rutherford County line. A gravesite was selected, thus the Cothran Cemetery, near Rover, was established by the land donated by Pleas in about 1880. Tabitha White (grandmother of Ellie Wilkinson) b. 7-18-1879 was only six months old when her mother, Eliza, died. Tabitha married Stephen Elmore "Shack" Bennett b.1-17-1877 d. 2-27-1936. They are buried in the Bennett Cemetery.

William C. White and his family lived on Highway 99 east of the intersection of Mt. Pleasant Road. William was killed when someone shot through a window at his home. His son-in-law, James Nathaniel Puckett, was tried for murder, due to an argument over money, but he was acquitted of the crime.

EGYPT CEMETERY

The Egypt Cemetery is located in Marshall County on Egypt Road, which is off of Thick Road, near Holts Corner. This well-kept fenced cemetery is quite large with more land being cleared across the road. It is believed that this cemetery was the former Biggers Family Cemetery, the name being later changed to the Egypt Cemetery. While walking through this cemetery, the large number of gravesite that is marked with military markers is very noticeable.

Many different family names are found on the tombstones including; Smith, McClain, Cash, Robertson, Crutcher, Hamner, Rucker, Braden, Biggers, McCord, Oglesby, Johnson and Thomas.

ELMORE CEMETERY

Candy Roll for Children

The deed to the Elmore Cemetery, located near Rover, was recorded April 14, 1852. Joint property owners, James Mankin and James Smith deeded this property....for and in consideration of the good will they bear the Community in which they live, and for the better securing the convenience of themselves and neighbors..... to John W. Hamlin Esq., Chairman of the County Court of Bedford County as Trustee and his successors in office forever.

It isn't known when the first burial was held in this location. As most country cemeteries, many of the earliest graves were never marked. The two oldest marked grave sites, with tombstones are; James A. B. Smith, son of James and Lavina Smith, born in 1824, died 1832 and Mary Ann Anderson, born in 1811 and died in 1832 at the age of 21. Several Elmore Family members, with early death dates, are also buried in this cemetery, ensuing it being named, the Elmore Cemetery. Mr. David Atha Elmore and wife, Elizabeth Ellen Elmore are buried near the entrance of the cemetery. They were married in 1851 and died within hours of each other on March 15, 1900. They had a double funeral at the Eagleville Baptist Church and buried in a double grave.

1924, when Lela Beasley Ghee and Mary Beasley Hudson and their cousin Adelaid Lamb Casteel were needing a place for a family reunion. Adelaid's sister, Nannie Lee Lamb Jackson and her family were visiting from North Carolina and a family get-to-gather was in the planning. In searching for a place for all the families to meet, it was decided that the cemetery would be a good location, since it would also be a time to decorate the graves of love ones. Basket lunches were carried and shared and the graves were decorated with hand-made crepe paper flowers. The children played horseshoes, ball games and other games in the field next to the cemetery and the older folks caught up on all the family news. After lunch everyone took part in a short memorial service with scripture reading, preaching and singing.

This year on August 28th 2010, a large group of descendents of the early Lamb and Beasley families gathered for the 86th year for this decoration/family reunion. The graves were decorated with flowers. Everyone enjoyed a pot-luck lunch and afterwards, a short memorial service was held, conducted by Charlie Jackson, the son of Warren Jackson* and a grandson of Nannie Lee Lamb Jackson.

Following the service, the traditional candy roll was held. The children enjoyed picking up wrapped candy that was thrown over the empty section of the cemetery. A box of candy was given to the oldest man and woman in attendance. An offering is taken each year to take care of the up-keep of the cemetery. Although this occasion may seem odd to many, this gathering is still serving two purposes - re-uniting with family members and returning to visit the graves of loved ones. (I have attended many of these reunions/decorations at the Elmore Cemetery with my grandmother, Mary Beasley Hudson, who helped to get this tradition started. She worked for weeks, making the crepe paper flowers to decorate the graves of her parents and other family members. She only missed the last couple of years before her death 1966.)

*Warren Jackson who is 94 years old, living in Kentucky, was 8 years old when he attended the first decoration/reunion in 1924 and has only missed a few since the beginning. His children have also attended most of their lifetime too. Warren's youngest daughter, Mary Ann, was in attendance the first 46 years of her life, only missing the last three years. This family is to be commended for supporting and continuing this tradition through the Edmondson's Vacationed In California!

Elizabeth and L. R. Edmonson vacationed in California with their son, Ricky, and daughter, Patricia. We visited Yosemite National Park, Lake Tahoe and Rancho Palos Verdes, California.

Yosemite is known for its waterfalls, granite cliffs and sequoia groves. The first stop was Mariposa Grove on the valley floor of Yosemite. It is home to some of the largest giant sequoia trees with trunks that reach 25 feet thick. We visited the granite cliffs of Half Dome and El Capitan. Half Dome rises 55,000 feet from the valley floor and El Capitan holds the record as being the largest granite monolith in the world. We also viewed Bridal Veil Falls, which unlike Yosemite Falls, flows all year round for a total of 620 vertical feet.

From Yosemite wilderness the next stop was Lake Tahoe. Lake Tahoe has 72 miles of shoreline and surrounding mountain ranges. The South Shore of Lake Tahoe embraces Emerald Bay which was seen by taking the Emerald Bay Cruise on the Tahoe Queen. The Tahoe Queen is the only authentic Mississippi paddle wheeler. The cruise also offered close up views of Eagle Falls and Fannette Island.

The last stop of the vacation was Rancho Palos Verdes where Ricky has a condo, on a rugged cliff, overlooking Pacific Ocean. the Trump's visited National Golf Club and the Wayfarers Chapel with spectacular views overlooking Rancho Palos Verdes. It was an exhilarating trip that we will always remember.

A Few Eagleville Feed Mill Facts

We're going to start feeling a nip in the air, the pastures are dry and hay bales are coming out of the barn to be fed. It's time to start keeping grain in front of our animals as they start to put on their winter coats. Many people in the community don't realize that the Eagleville Co-op has a feed mill and manufacture's a full line of horse feed, named EQUINE EDGE as well as many other feeds and grains. Our mill bags over 100,000 plus bags of feed annually. We are very proud of our mill and the feed we make. It's a well balanced fresh feed that is a great value! We use high quality ingredients and make one of the best feeds possible for your animals.

In the fall, we also bag a special custom blend of deer feed called BIG BUBBA DEER FOOD. This blend is one that the local deer are sure to love. We also carry a full line of seed for your fall food plots. We'd like you to try our BIG BUBBA deer food, so look for our discount coupon in this issue of the Eagleville Times.

Eagles Upset #7 Forrest Rockets

By Michael Loyd

Photographs by Bill Beasley

September 17, 2010. "The game was about 50 young men coming out to play for 48 minutes" stated Coach Carlson, head coach of the Eagleville Eagles. Tonight the (2-2) Eagleville Eagles played host to the (3-0) Chapel Hill Forrest Rockets, who was ranked number seven in state polls and predicted to win the 9A district.

In the first quarter of play the Eagles defense forced a fumble stopping a Rocket's offensive drive. The Eagles marched 69 yards in 12 plays; #13 Brian Smith hooked up with #2 Ryan Ghee on a 6-yard pass for the score giving the Eagles a 7-0 lead, and scoring on their first offensive possession.

During the second quarter of play the Rockets were driving the ball down the field and on a crucial third down play the Eagles defense stopped the Rocket's drive and forced the Rockets to punt. On the ensuing punt the officials called the Eagles for roughing the punter, which assisted the Rockets, and gave them an automatic first down. As a result of the penalty, the Rockets drove 45 yards scoring on a 1-yard touchdown run from Zach Ray. At the end of the second quarter of play both the Eagles and the Rockets were grid locked at 7-7.

As the Rockets kicked off to the Eagles in the third quarter, the Eagles had trouble moving the ball on the Rocket defense. Several attempts by the Eagles were turned back causing the Eagles to go three and out, punting the ball over to the Rockets. The Rockets drove down the field and kicked a field goal to put the Rockets on top with a score of 10-7. The Rockets held onto the lead throughout the remaining minutes of the third quarter before advancing to the final quarter of play.

The forth quarter opened showing that neither team would give in to the other; however the Rockets drove the ball down to the 20 yard line looking like the predicted 9A district champs. With the ball on the 20 yard line, the Eagles dug in their talons and forced the Rockets to attempt a field goal which was wide to the right. With 9.22 seconds left in the game the Eagles mounted an offensive attack driving the ball down the field. There were three key plays on this drive. #22 Chris Hale weaved his way through the Rocket defenders picking up a critical first down. On a second-and-eight, Bryan Smith passed to Ryan Ghee for a 12-yard completion. On third-and-six, Smith ran and gained 13 yards. The final offensive push came when Hale burst up the middle, dragging would be Rocket tacklers, then breaking free and sprinting for a 40 yard touch down run, putting the Eagles in the lead 13-10, the place kicker for the Eagles then added the point after giving the Eagles a four point lead. With the clock down to around the 4 minute mark the Rockets moved the ball down the field, picking up a couple of needed first downs. Then on a forth-and-six the Eagles defense held forcing the Rockets to turn the ball over on downs. From that point on the Eagles smothered the ball and defeated the Rockets with a final score of 14-10.

After the game I ask Coach Carson what he thought about the winning 40 yard run by Hale. Coach Carson stated, "The offensive line really started the run by pushing back the defensive line which allowed Hale to get to the next level, once Hale passed the next level he did his thing and ran for the touchdown". Hale ran for 114 yards while Ray was the leading rusher in the game, with 148 yards rushing for the Rockets.

Eagleville Troop 123 Goes To Grimes

Eagleville Troop went to Grimes Canoe Base, which is located outside of Linden, Tennessee, on August 27th through August 29th. We arrived on Friday night, unpacked our gear, and went to bed, Grimes supplied the tents. Saturday morning we awoke early in the morning and after a hardy breakfast, we the Scouts cooked, we headed out to the Buffalo River. We took a seven and half mile trip, stopping several times to swim, fish, and eat lunch. When we arrived back at camp we started supper and ate pork roast, potatoes, carrots, celery, and peppers and for dessert we had peach cobbler. Sunday morning we packed up camp and stopped off in Hohenwald, for our usual breakfast at Hardees's. Stay tuned for our next adventure, backpacking the North Rim Trail at the Savage Gulf Natural Area, it is an 18 mile round trip we will be spending Saturday night at Hobbs Cabin.

A GIVING NATURE

Submitted by Bobbie Sue Shelton-Lonas

The following article, written by reporter, Jenna Mink, appeared in the Bowling Green, Kentucky, Daily News Paper. Dalton Waggoner is the son of Guy and Susan Waggoner, and grandson of Garry and Debra "Shelton" Lawrence of Chapel Hill.

Dalton Waggoner has been through a lot in his six years. But that doesn't stop the Bowling Green boy from giving to others.

Dalton, a first-grader at Briarwood Elementary, recently sacrificed potential birthday gifts to help other children. When he celebrated his birthday this month, instead of gifts, Dalton requested his guests make a donation to Big Brothers Big Sisters of South Central Kentucky.

After his party at the Skate Box, Dalton had a jar full of birthday cards and $385 for the local organization, which pairs disadvantaged children with mentors. Dalton and his family started the Birthday Celebration program, using the money to purchase stuffed animals and coupons for ice cream cones for mentors to give to their children

"Some people don't have presents and don't get any presents," Dalton said.

Dalton is like most other 6-year-old boys. He enjoys football, basketball, video games and Legos. When he grows up, he wants to be a police officer or a racecar driver.

But Dalton also has overcome some challenges. He was born with a rare heart condition, which obstructs blood flow from the heart. When he was 2 days old, doctors told his parents that Dalton had a few hours before going into cardiac arrest. When he was 3 days old, he had his first heart procedure.

But that wasn't his last surgery. He's been waiting for a valve replacement and, before his next birthday, he will have open-heart surgery, said his mother, Susan Waggoner.

Dalton also has ectodermal dysplasia, a condition that hinders development of hair, skin, fingernails, teeth and sweat glands.

"When your life is turned upside down, you try to find a bigger purpose," she said, adding that she and Dalton wanted his last birthday before his surgery to be special. "This is kind of a celebration of life, this birthday.....I wanted his celebration of life to impact others."

The family has made donations to the Children's Miracle Network and to Vanderbilt University Medical Center, but they had never held a fundraiser like this and they had never donated to Big Brothers Big Sisters. Waggoner is in the process of becoming a Big Sister for a student at Briarwood and, when she explained her new role to Dalton, he suggested his birthday funds go to that organization.

Big Brothers Big Sisters is completely supported by donations, and all such funds are vital to the program, CEO Brian Becker said.

"I'm just blown away by the generosity. I'm totally impressed at the mindset of this young man to help his peers," he said.

The organization, which also serves Allen and Barren counties, has 173 children matched with mentors. Still, 157 children are waiting for a big brother or sister, Becker said.

"We're at a point now that we have as many people matched as we have waiting," he said. So, there is a big need."

Dalton's donation will allow the organization to keep costs low for volunteers. They can give their child a stuffed animal and take them out for ice cream without spending money, thanks to Dalton, Becker said.

"We don't want them to think they're going to have to open their wallets," he said. "We want them to open their hearts."

And the Waggoners hope their fundraiser continues through other children. "We're hoping it will inspire other kids to take on this kind of challenge and have philanthropic birthdays as well." Waggoner said.

Nits and Myths

For most the beginning of a new school year marks the end of summer and the anticipation of cool nights, vibrant colors and the sounds and smells of the pending fall season. Fall of the year is one of my favorite seasons as the smell of chrysanthemums, fodder shocks, and pumpkins meld in the air. The sounds of marching bands, cheerleaders and football fans fill stadiums in the crisp cool nights in communities everywhere. Ah—fall is in the air.

Back-to-school is not always filled with pleasant experiences and lighthearted camaraderie. For some students and parents alike a new school year can be filled with fear and anxiety of anything from a school bully, new teachers and test taking to head lice. Myths often create more fear and anxiety about misconceptions than the truth. Sometimes, myths cause unnecessary emotional and physical pain for the community and unharmed, as well as those directly affected.

Because head lice (Pediculus humanus) have been around for 5.6 million years and found in every region around the world, I have little faith man will persevere in eradicating head lice in the future. A common misconception about head lice is they affect lower classes; however, infestations occur equally among Risk factors socioeconomic classes. include day-care centers, schools, and long hair, with a decreased risk in African-American populations related to differences in hair shafts, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). The most common mode of transmission is direct head-to-head contact.

Myth: Lice have wings and can fly or jump

Fact: Lice do not have wings and are transmitted only by direct contact

Myth: Lice infestation are accompanied with itching

Fact: Itching may take 4 to 6 weeks to appear because of delayed sensitivity

Myth: If a family member has head lice, the entire family should be treated

Fact: The infected person should be treated; other family members should be screened and treated only if lice are found.

Myth: Lice can live in carpets, beds and clothing

Fact: Lice can live only for 1 to 2 days once removed from the scalp

Myth: Pets can have head lice

Fact: Lice cannot live on the skin of animals because of differences between hair and fur

Myth: Lice affect only people who are unclean

Fact: Cleanliness will not prevent head lice infestation

Treatment options are pharmacologic therapies or home remedies. It is important to stress, some home remedies may cause more harm than good. Occlusion therapy has not proven to be an effective treatment because lice have spiracles they can use to breathe when suffocation is attempted. I have heard of home remedies such as petroleum jelly, kerosene, vinegar, isopropyl alcohol, olive oil, mayonnaise, and melted butter. I want to stress avoidance of putting anything on a child's head or hair that is flammable, also wrapping hair in plastic can cause scalp irritation or suffocation.

Two pharmacologic therapy options for head lice are; pyrethrin (RID), but should be avoided if you are allergic to ragweed or chrysanthemums. Permethrin (Nix), again, perform a test dose if you are allergic to ragweed or chrysanthemums. Prescription strength alternatives may be prescribed by a healthcare provider. When in doubt, check it out with your healthcare provider.

Alternative therapies I found interesting in the literature were; tea tree oil, lavender, coconut and peppermint that have shown an overall avoidance of the treated areas by lice. However, none of these therapies showed superior control or efficacy in controlled studies. Nix® PF is available as a pesticide-free spray containing anise and coconut oil, isopropyl alcohol and ylang ylang (a flower oil). However, because this product may be flammable if exposed to direct heat or flame, extreme caution should be used.

Head lice cannot live for more than twenty-four to forty-eight hours after being removed from the body. Therefore, I do not recommend spraying chemicals on bedding or clothing. Wash bed linens or any personal items touched by the affected persons head in hot water or dry them at temperatures >130°F. Vacuuming will suffice for furniture, car upholstery and carpeting.

Head lice can affect anybody, and is not a sign of lack of cleanliness. Please, do not punish children by making them feel less about themselves or they are to blame. Seek immediate treatment and return to normal routines as quickly as possible.

What causes snoring?

Snoring is caused by a narrowing of the upper airway during sleep. This can be due to large tonsils, a long uvula or excessive flabby tissue in the throat. All these relax during sleep. Problem snoring, in which the tongue is completely sucked against the back of the throat and blocks breathing, can pose serious health risks. Sixty percent of men and 40 percent of women between the ages of 41 and 65 are habitual snorers. Snoring increases once you reach the age of 35. Were're prescribing a newly developed anti-snoring aid, that really works. give character and respect. It is amazing that a few people who don't get what "they" want, always accuse of wrong doing. Again, just be honest with yourself.

Lets be honest, look in the mirror, admit the truth, lets don't ignore or paint a different picture. Over the past 15 or so years there has been an attitude of do nothing except what is best for "me".

Lets be honest, we had a city recorder who went to jail for stealing, a failed police department, nepotism and self interest on the city council as well as the planning commission. I remind you, be honest with yourself.

The truth is; there is and has always been a proper way to be successful and accomplish goals. I realize some citizens did see and or signed the ridiculous petition to dissolve the city charter, that confused people ask you to sign. The City of Eagleville adopted a "Private Act Charter" in 1949. Under the private act there is no such thing as a referendum, there is no such thing as "getting" a petition together and putting it on a ballot. The proper and only thing to do is present such an idea to the city council in a professional manner. At that point the city council would discuss in a public city council meeting whether to put such an idea into the form of a motion to be voted on. Our city charter explains the procedure to follow, as well on file at city hall are documents from The State of Tennessee to support this.

I hope this helps to eliminate the confusion.

I would like to take an oppournity to remind you or make you aware of some achievements that have been accomplished in the past 24 months.

- 1. the sewer board was reinstated
- 2. the police board was reinstated
- 3. the police department was reinstated
- 4. the fire board was reinstated
- 5. vacancies on the planning commission was filled
- 6. vacancies on the city council was filled
- 7. a codes administrator was hired to enforce regulations and building codes
- 8. implemented a more accountable system for the concessions at the city
- 9. TVA strategic planning ,to develop a growth plan for our future
- 10. continual work to build a sewer system
- 11. entered into agreement with SEC to design a sewer plant
- 12. developed our annual street festival, which brought 4,000 visitors to our city
- 13. developed Business After Hours, an annual event with The Rutherford County Chamber of Commerce
- 14. hired a local CPA for better efficiency and detail of city finance records
- 15. direction signs were added on I-24 and 840 to inform motorist the direction of Eagleville
- 16. working with Rutherford County Commission and school system to achieve an 8 million dollar expansion to our school
- 17. Barrett Firearms donated weapons for our police department
- 18. City of LaVergne donated police car for our police department
- 19. remodeled city to be more efficient in serving our tax payers

- 20. developed a working relationship with Rutherford County Sheriff Department to have our police chief commissioned as a Rutherford County Deputy
- 21. passed retail beer sales ordinance
 One of the main responsibilities of your city council is to find ways to increase tax dollars and promote ways to help our local retail merchants be more competitive with merchants out side our city limits, that was the purpose in passing the retail beer sales ordinance. Such sales are legal in every city and county adjoining The City of Eagleville. I am not aware of any crime or arrest as a result of passage of the beer ordinance, 18 months ago.

Our police department is doing an excellent job in promoting safety, assisting citizens and motorist. I am fully aware that some people just don't like anyone with more authority than them. Again, go look in a mirror and ask yourself "why".

I did receive one phone call from a lady complaining that she had been stopped TWICE for speeding. She also informed me that she did NOT receive a citation. I really don't know why she was complaining; maybe she needs to look in the mirror and ask why she got stopped!

Several years ago the city council annexed into the city: Hwy 41A from the Bedford County line to the Williamson County line; Hwy 99 to the Marshal County line; Allisona Road [Hwy 269] from 41 A to Hwy 31A; and Hwy 31A from the Williamson County line south to the Williamson County line north. The city police department has every right to patrol and promote safety anywhere on these roads. Being a commissioned Rutherford County officer, our police department can assist the Rutherford county sheriff department when they need assistance, as well our police department will receive support from the Rutherford County Sheriff Department. I know without a doubt this is a deterrent to crime; having higher visibility of police officers.

If the gutless thugs that assaulted Mr. and Mrs. Story knew that there were county and city police departments working together to protect the area they might have thought before committing such a crime.

I have to ask a question; WHY WOULD ONE OBJECT TO POLICE PROTECTION, unless they had something to hide.

One last thing about our police department, after a lot of debate and discussion, the court ordinances was passed. The Eagleville court cost is approximately half the cost of Rutherford County, as a result, if you receive a citation from the City of Eagleville your cost would be approximately half the cost if a state trooper or county deputy gave you a citation. Again, look in the mirror and ask why you got stopped!!!

I would like to thank each citizen for supporting The City of Eagleville. Working together with a positive unselfish attitude - many things can be accomplished.

Negative thoughts create negative results. Be honest with yourself. Look in you own mirror, ask yourself "AM I A NEGATIVE PERSON WITH A SELFISH ATTITUDE OR AM I POSITIVE PERSON WORKING TO MAKE OUR CITY AND AMERICA A BETTER PLACE TO LIVE".

Always support you local merchants, your school and city. If I can be any assistance call my personal cell number 615-849-6509

At The Game With Kelsie

The Eagleville Eagles have accomplished many goals so far this season. They have defeated their rivals, Forrest and Community, and now Moore County. On Friday night, the Eagles faced off against the Moore County Raiders for their homecoming game. While the game was incredibly close throughout each quarter, a senior, Tyler Chrisman, led the team to victory with a field goal in the last 3 seconds. The final score was 17-14; congratulations boys!

Back in September of 2005, on the first day of school, Martha Cothren, a social studies school teacher at Robinson High School in Little Rock , did something not to be forgotten.

On the first day of school, with the permission of the school superintendent, the principal and the building supervisor, she removed all of the desks out of her classroom.

When the first period kids entered the room they discovered that there were no desks.

'Ms.. Cothren, where're our desks?'

She replied, 'You can't have a desk until you tell me how you earn the right to sit at a desk.'

They thought, 'Well, maybe it's our grades.' 'No,' she said.

'Maybe it's our behavior.'

She told them, 'No, it's not even your behavior.'

And so, they came and went, the first period, second period, third period. Still no desks in the classroom.

By early afternoon television news crews had started gathering in Ms. Cothren's classroom to report about this crazy teacher who had taken all the desks out of her room.

The final period of the day came and as the puzzled students found seats on the floor of the deskless classroom, Martha Cothren said, 'Throughout the day no one has been able to tell me just what he/she has done to earn the right to sit at the desks that are ordinarily found in this classroom. Now I am going to tell you.'

At this point, Martha Cothren went over to the door of her classroom and opened it.

Twenty-seven (27) U.S. Veterans, all in uniforms, walked into that classroom, each one carrying a school desk. The Vets began placing the school desks in rows, and then they would walk over and stand alongside the wall. By the time the last soldier had set the final desk in place those kids started to understand, perhaps for the first time in their lives, just how the right to sit at those desks had been earned..

Martha said, 'You didn't earn the right to sit at these desks. These heroes did it for you. They placed the desks here for you.

Now, it's up to you to sit in them. It is your responsibility to learn, to be good students, to be good citizens..

They paid the price so that you could have the freedom to get an education. Don't ever forget it.'

Jack o' Lanterns

Jack O' Lanterns....Did you know?

- The tradition of carving a lantern started in the UK
- It was traditionally carved from a turnip or other vegetables
- They were carved on All Hallows' Eve and left on the door step to ward off evil spirits
- Once the tradition hit America, it was changed to a pumpkin due to its availability and ease to carve

Great Tips for Choosing and Keeping that "Perfect" Pumpkin!

- Watch out for mold around that stem...could indicate potential rot
- Never Carry a pumpkin by its stem...it could break!
- Select a lighter colored pumpkin for children. They are softer and easier to carve
- Keep your pumpkin from drying out by rubbing petroleum jelly around the Carved edges of the pumpkin
- Spray your pumpkin with water and wrap in Saran Wrap. Place your pumpkin in the refrigerator and it will keep longer
- If your pumpkin is shriveling, soak it in water for several hours to replace the moisture

Sprinkle nutmeg, cinnamon and pumpkin spice on the bottom of the pumpkin lid. When you light the candle, your Jack O' Lantern will fill your house with a wonderful scent!

Little Stories About You & Me

Twice Eulogized

Unlike Ademir Goncalves of Brazil who was thought to have died in a car accident, who in fact was at the local bar all night and the next day showed up at his own funeral alive and well, Mary Jo was indeed dead—this time. However, it was not her first funeral.

The cane upon which Brother Peters relied for support appeared to bend under the weight of his frail body. For you see Mary Jo was 89 when she died and Brother Peters was going to be 90 in a few weeks. Nevertheless it was fitting for him to give her eulogy because seventy years prior to this occasion he had performed the same task

After slowly working his way to the podium he had this story to tell:

He said, "When Mary Jo was a young woman and I was a young man I preached my first funeral and it was hers. Her doctor told her she would only live for one or two more months. It was a rare form of fast growing cancer.

When she heard the news she began to wonder about who would come to her funeral. She asked her mother about her cousins across the mountain whom she had not seen in a year and what about busy friends and family? Would they come? Her mother assured her that all of them would be there.

"But, I won't be here to see them," she said.

"I'm afraid that's the way it always happens," her mother said.

"But it doesn't have to be that way," said Mary Jo. "Why can't we have my funeral before I die so I can see everyone before I go?"

So that's exactly what they did. Mary Jo's mother wrote letters to all their kin and friends. It was certainly unorthodox but everyone was willing to grant their young relative and friend her last wish.

Mary Jo sat on the front row of the little one-room church as I told about her life and praised God for her testimony. Then you will not believe what happened, Mrs. Stewart began shouting and people came to the altar praying. The deacons laid hands on Mary Jo and anointed her with oil—the service went on for hours. I lost track of time—it was out of my hands. That day Mary Jo was healed.

Today she is survived by her two daughters and her son, plus five grandchildren. Her life has been a blessing to all who have known her and today I'm proud to give her eulogy for a second time. Today I will retire. This is my last funeral. I guess not many men can say they preached their first and last funerals for the same person.

Mary Jo was an extraordinary woman. Our lives have been made better because of her. We will miss her. Amen.

Pessimist or Realist?

I'm not really a pessimist. I'm a realist. I know, I know: That's what all pessimists say.

Just now, as I was going through all the possible things I could write about and from whose point of view I would write it, I realized that my point of view reminded me of Winnie The Pooh's friend, Eeyore.

There might be two sides to any issue, but for some reason, I have been trained to play devil's advocate whenever my husband has what sounds like a great idea.

I feel compelled to point out the realistic view simply because someone has to do it... and he refuses to do his fair share. He sees only his rather rosy view of things. I want to see the rosy view once in a while! (There is much foot stomping, here.)

For example, a power outage would result in a groan from me because I can't use my computer. However, my husband sees a power outage as a reason for a party. He will break out the mini marshmallows, spear them on toothpicks and have a marshmallow roast over a candlestick on the living room floor.

I'm easily led. I might think about the possible consequences to my living room carpet, but the mini marshmallow roast is so much more fun than worrying about picking marshmallow out of carpet fibers... and I didn't really want to work on my computer anyway. So sometimes his enthusiasm is just what is needed.

We were going to the beach last weekend and the weather man said there would be a storm out at sea. I saw this as an impediment to swimming because there would be riptides. My husband saw it as an opportunity. He was going to bring his metal detector. Storms wash up all sorts of things on the beach. You never know when a gold doubloon might wash up and make us rich!

Okay, so sometimes some realism is needed, but far be it from me to impede the process of our getting rich.

My husband thinks gardening will make us some money. He wants to plant a garden next year. No, no, I said that wrong. He doesn't want to plant a garden. He wants to pick and eat and sell the fresh fruit, so we don't have to buy it. He sees the result. I see the process; the tilling, the fertilizing, the weeding.

He says, "Look how much easier it will be to simply walk in the backyard and pick a fresh tomato than to go all the way to the store and buy one."

However, what he doesn't see - and this is where realism comes in - is that boxes of Froot Loops, mouthwash and cat food don't come from anything he could grow in our backyard. So, chances are, I will still be sauntering down a grocery aisle, picking out my cat food and cereal. For me, it would be far easier to push my cart over to the produce section and pick out the perfect tomato for my bologna sandwich... And, the grocery store is probably airconditioned

Speaking of air-conditioning, he's always wanted a convertible sports car. We haven't had the conversation about this whim yet because you can't argue with the fact that we have three kids that don't drive yet and a sports car has two seats. He can do the math.

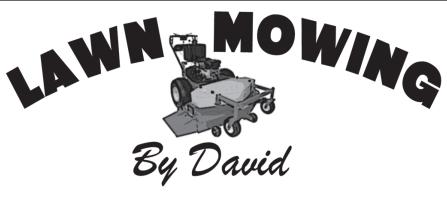

At some point though, the kids will all be driving and we will have the following discussion:

"Think of the wind blowing through your hair!"

"Think of the 3rd degree sunburn on your bald spot!"

I'm not a pessimist, I'm a realist. I simply realize that sunburn on your head would soon trump the wind blowing through what little hair we have left and we'd be looking for a buyer for our convertible sports car in less than a month.

Eeyore wouldn't say he was proud of me, but he would be... inside.
