The Eagleville Eye Clinic started out as a part time practice many years ago and grew into the full time office it is today.

Back in 2001 the office was only open two days a week. With a small space leased next to the Eagleville Medical Clinic the Eye Clinic consisted of Dr. Cron and one staff member. After a few years, it was necessary to increase the number of days for the office to be open and eventually, Dr. Cron evolved to seeing patients five days per week. As the Eye Clinic grew, it was necessary to add additional staff.

By 2009, it was apparent that the leased small space was insufficient to properly take care of patients. Dr. Cron was able to purchase the property next door and build the current facility. The Eagleville Eye Clinic relocated to the new building in March of 2010. As the clinic continues to grow, additional staff has been added to better serve patients.

The primary goal of the Eagleville Eye Clinic is to give patients the most thorough eye examination possible. "We want people to know that the health of their eyes is vital to good vision and I will do what I can to provide and maintain that for life," said Dr. Cron. The Eagleville Eye Clinic serves patients in Eagleville and the surrounding communities of Rockvale, Chapel Hill, Unionville, College Grove, Bell Buckle, Triune and Arrington. ALL eye related problems are treated including eye infections, injuries, 'pink eye', and allergies. The eye clinic provides thorough retinal examinations for all patients with diabetes, glaucoma and high blood pressure. Dr. Cron works closely with several cataract and Lasik surgeons to provide all post-operative care for patients.

And finally, a large inventory of contact lenses, glasses, and sunglasses is available for patients to choose from to fit every budget and style. "Fitting contact lenses is my passion and I am always excited to introduce the latest products and technology, such as multifocal contacts lenses for people who need bifocals," said Dr. Cron.

Dr. Cron has personally been in practice in the middle Tennessee area for over 23 years. She is originally from Nashville, but has lived in Eagleville for over 18 years with her family.

After upsetting 7th ranked Moore County, the Eagles have won the District 9-A Championship for the 2013 season. Excitement was running high last Friday night in Eagleville with the senior night celebration and the opportunity to "whup" Moore County to become District Champs.

This was going to have to be done without senior starting quarterback, Ryan Jordan due to an injury. Number 7, sophomore AJ Garza was making his first start at quarterback in this all important game. Needless to say with a 35-7 victory, Garza worked out just fine.

Eagleville scored in each quarter, twice in the second with Moore County scoring only once in the first. Starting the second half, Garza took the opening kickoff and returned it 70 yards for the Eagle's 4th touchdown for the evening, making it 28-7. Moore County never reached the end zone again after the 1st quarter. It was Eagleville from that point on.

Touchdowns by Weston Vallance, AJ Garza and 3 TDs by the work horse, Chris Hale, sealed the deal for the Eagles. Luke Duross did his job with points after and his kickoff duties.

For individual tackles and assists, Alex Ware lead with 8 and 3 assists, Isaac Haley with 5 and 4 assists, James Merritt with 3 and 4 assists, Weston Vallance with 4. Chris Hale 3 unassisted tackles.

The game this Friday night will be at Community for the final regular season game.

Youth Folkstyle Wrestling

The Eagleville Wrestling Club (EWC), formed in September, is well on it's way teaching local youth in grades K-8 the art of wrestling.

The club is sanctioned by the National AAU Association and affiliated with Team Tennessee Wrestling and the Rutherford Wrestling Association.

Volunteer coaches for the EWC program are Zack Fowler, Jay McLemore and Al Meredith and a number of parents. The EWC is also supported by The Eagleville High School wrestling squad.
