Eagleville Football Makes A Strong Showing

After weeks of summer workouts, practice in August, intensely competitive camps, Eagleville Football began the 2004 season with a victory for the Middle School team and Varsity Team as well.

On August 20 the Varsity Team opened the gates to what is quickly becoming a cross state rival, Jo Byrns from Springfield. A strong crowd of parents, teachers, students, and fans supported the Eagles as they began the first game of the 2004 season. The cheerleading squad and Eagleville School Marching Band were part of the season opener and Ken Harrell as the voice of the Eagle kept the crowd informed on every play. The concession stand was busy and the 3rd edition of the Football Program was a big hit.

After scoring first, Eagleville maintained their lead for the remainder of the game by scoring a second touchdown and making the kick for the extra point for each touchdown to accumulate 14 points. The defense was able to slow down Jo Byrns and held them to two touchdowns. Jo Byrns was unable to convert on either 2 point conversion, Eagleville finished the contest the victor with a score of 14 to 12.

On August 26, 2004, the Middle School Football Team took the field at Talon field against opponent Liberty. The middle school team also worked hard during the off season and they were prepared to meet their opponent. A crowd of parents, fans, siblings, and other students filled Talon Field, making the most of the concession stand and enjoying the game. The middle school cheerleaders led the crowd as they watched their Eagles. The Middle School team promoted their Football Program, the first independent middle school edition. Throughout the game, the Eagles dominated play both on offense and defense. The final score was Eagleville 35 and Liberty 0.

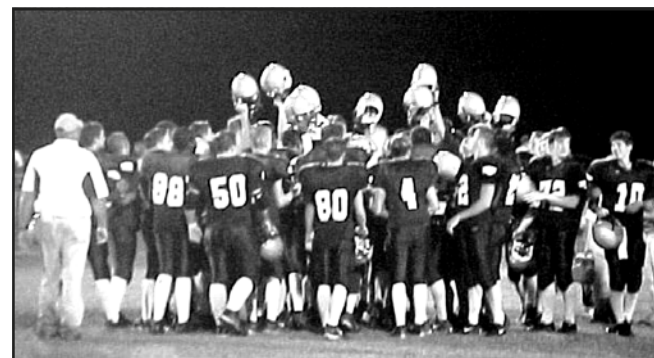

August 27 found the stadium busy once again as the high school team opened the gates to opponent Moore County. The Eagles jumped to an early lead with a touchdown and added a field goal during the first half. Moore County scored once on the Eagles during the third quarter of the game. During the remainder of the second half the Eagles defense and offense came up with the big plays as interceptions and fumble recov-eries allowed the Eagles good field position. The team went on to score 3 more touchdowns and beat Moore County 30 to 7.

The Middle School has home games September 2, September 16, and September 23 each beginning at 6:30.

The High School has home games September 3, September 10, October 8, and October 22. Kick off is at 7:00 p.m.

Eagleville Loses One Of Its Own

Larry Turner, resident of Eagleville was tragically killed earlier this month during hurricane Charley. Larry Turner lived with his wife Cathy in Arcadia Florida, in the central area of the state which took a direct hit from the violent storm. The couple had moved to Florida just three years ago. They had purchased land and were in the process of building a home. Family members report the couple was very happy having settled in Florida and were looking forward to building their home there.

Larry was a native of Eagleville having grown up in the area. He attended Eagleville School from grades 1 through 12. He is the son of Jeanne Fleming Turner of 3000 Rocky Glade Road and the late Willard Turner. As reported in the Daily News Journal, Lannie Turner, former mayor of Eagleville described his nephew this way: "In Tennessee and around Eagleville, my favorite nephew was known as a nice guy and very talented farrier throughout the Tennessee walking horse industry."

According to family members who spoke with the couple, in preparation of the storm, they decided to "ride it out" and were staying in a metal building used to house building supplies. The storm apparently changed directions and picked up speed and power, slamming into the western coast of Florida between Tampa and Sarasota. There was no time to prepare.

BASEBALL TEAMS SAY THANKS!

Eagleville Baseball has a strong tradition and with the addition of a middle school program in recent years, the teams are poised for success in the 2005 season. As with any sports program, much of the money that supports the athletes and provides equipment and uniforms comes from fundraising efforts and individual support. The Eagleville Baseball Programs want to thank the following sponsors for purchasing "signs" on the Baseball Field Fence.

Crosslin Lumber Supply	Union Planters Bank
Davis Construction Company	Sandy's Market
TVPPA—Eagleville Tractor Club	Eagleville Mini Storage
Agee's Sporting Goods	Brentwood Jewelry
Tru Line	Holt Waste Equip
Southeastern Turf

Your support of the programs is invaluable!

Anyone wishing to donate to the Baseball programs at Eagleville School contact Coach Lynch or Coach Hutchins at the school.

A Web Edition of the Eagleville Times is now available at Cathy Turner was seriously injured in the storm although she is expected to recover. She suffered broken ribs and her body was bruised. She was treated at a local hospital but moved to nearby Sarasota for continued treatment due to the extensive storm damage to the hospital in Arcadia. Cathy is surrounded by family, including her two sons Richard and Paul Turner, and her Larry's brother, David.

Larry is fondly remembered by friends and family and everyone is keeping Cathy and other family members in their thoughts and prayers.

Additionally, anyone wishing to provide monetary support to the family may contribute to the Larry Turner Memorial Fund at any Union Planters Bank.

Alberta Hedge-New Administrative Assistant for Lifetouch

Lifetouch Church Directories & Portraits recently hired Alberta Hedge as Administrative Assistant to Archie Luper, Territory Sales Manager. Alberta will be making contacts with churches in forty-one counties of Middle Tennessee, stretching from the cities of Jackson on the west to Cookeville on the east.

Administrative skills acquired over 20 years at George Hedge Printing in Memphis qualify Mrs. Hedge for this position. Prior to opening their own business, Alberta was office manager at Pepelite Thermography and Engravers, of Memphis.

Alberta has been a vital part of the Eagleville community for over 22 years. She is well known in the area for her work in the Jackson Ridge Church of Christ and in the Eagleville Family and Community Education Club. Alberta is always willing to volunteer for community activities.

Alberta, widow of George Hedge, is the mother of Walter Hedge, who lives with his wife, Phyllis at Pleasant View. Walter and Phyllis are employed at Ingram Books in LaVergne. She has three grandson, Walter II, Joshua and Jonathan Hedge. Walter resides with his grandmother in Eagleville.

"Alberta has become an important addition to our team and an integral part of my business with her exceptional telephone and customer service skills in communicating with the 5,000+ churches in my territory", said Archie Luper, Territory Sales Manager for Lifetouch in Central Tennessee.

Horses Again Showing on the Tractor Club Show Grounds

On August 15, the Country Horse Show found a new home at the Tractor Club Show Grounds located on Highway 99/Chapel Hill Highway. After hard work by volunteers the arena was ready, the bleachers set, the concession stand humming, and the gates opened at 4:30 welcoming trailers loaded with horses and ponies and cars filled with riders and spectators. The weather was picture perfect, cool, low humidity and as always the Show Grounds provided an excellent venue for watching the competitors, visiting with friends, and enjoying this traditional event.

The show began with Jan Lowery riding her horse Alan Jackson as the flag horse. After an invocation and the playing of the national anthem the competition began. Show organizers worked hard to provide competitive classes in a wide variety of areas. The stick horse show had 12 entries as pre-schoolers rode various "horses" around the arena. It proved to be the toughest class for judge who ultimately awarded a blue ribbon to each participant as they are all winners. The show in earnest followed and classes included weanlings, leadline, yearling, and halter classes. Western Pleasure classes for differing age groups allowed for keen competition. Other classes highlighted the pleasure horse and spotted saddle horse allowing for classes divided by age as well. Crowd favorites and long time traditional classes added to the fun for the evening and included the obstacle course, rescue race, and ride a buck. A new Hunt Seat class was included and featured competitors riding English style. An exhibition by "Did They See Me Do It?" therapeutic riding program also received the support of the crowd.

The show boasted 24 classes with over 160 entries. Each class was sponsored by local businesses or individuals and this sponsorship covers in large part the overhead of the show. Each class had a monetary reward for those winning and placing 2nd and 3rd, and many of the winners donated their money back to the Library Fund/ Community Center Fund to which the proceeds of the show go. A total of $108.00 was donated back.

Thanks to all the volunteers who helped make the show a success.

Book Fair Begins Fall Semester Emphasizing Reading.

Eagleville School again opens the fall semester by emphasizing academics especially reading. The Accelerated Reader program is now an integral part of the curriculum at the school and begins with kindergarten classes and continues for students through middle school. The Eagleville School Library, which has a facility in the elementary building and a separate facility in the high school area promotes AR throughout the year and especially through the Book Fair. This fall the Book Fair is September 24 through October 1 during school hours, 7:45 to 2:45. On Thursday September 30th, the Fair will remain open until 6:00 p.m. allowing parents and others to visit the library, enjoy special activities, qualify for door prizes, and purchase books on their child's own wish list or teacher's wish list.

The theme for the Fair is "Read, White and Blue". Special guests, Uncle Sam and Lady Liberty will read from favorite books and pose for pictures with guests. "The Book Fair brings children, teachers and families together within a school and community to celebrate reading and learning," said Patti Smotherman, librarian at Eagleville School. "This fall's Book Fair theme is a definite celebration. Not only will we be celebrating reading and learning, we will be celebrating our right to vote, our liberty to learn and our pursuit of happiness in reading."

Each teacher has a wish list in the library and parents and guests are encouraged to purchase books for the classroom libraries. Profits from the Book Fair support library projects at the school and help to purchase classroom resources as well. In addition, the Book Fair utilizes sponsorships to support the Fair and the efforts of the library. Your purchase of a book supports individual classrooms and the Eagleville School library program. This support benefits the many children who read and hear the words printed on the pages of the book. A strong reading program lays the foundation for learning the skills children need in the future and it opens up worlds of possibilities for our young people. See you at the Fair.

Bath & Bark Pet Salon

Services that will benefit each pet's need including nails trimmed, pads clipped, ears cleaned, deluxe bath, hot oil treatments for the very dry skin, fluff dry, brush out, cut & style, bandana or bows with great smelling colognes.

Why choose my salon for your grooming? One pet at a time, no trauma or drugs of traditional pet salons. Kind and loving environment. Why not experience the best. Both you and your pet deserve the joy of Bath and Bark Pet Salon.

Sherry Watson, Owner & Groomer

Sherrie Watson is the owner and groomer. She simply adores animals. "I realized I always kept coming back to what I love most, my animals". At the early age of 4, Sherrie found a lost dog in the neighborhood (a great dane). "I brought him home, my dad ran an add with a picture of me and my dog with the great dane. Luck had it, we found the owners. Sense then, I have found my life surrounded by animals. Then, I started showing horses (Hunter and Jumpers) which lead me to my wonderful husband, Bill. Showing horses was my love. Clipping and grooming horses, dogs, cats and my friends animals too became something I really enjoyed. I always wanted everything to be as pretty as they could be".

Sherry takes so much pride in her animals. Just stop by the grooming shop. Everyone's welcome! Let Sherrie pamper your precious pet.

Dear Friends,

Hello.. My name is Kendra Harrell and I am a resident here in Eagleville. I am in the 10th grade at Eagleville High. I've been attending Eagleville for 10 years. I play basketball for the Lady Eagles. I am an honor student and hold a 3.6 gpa. I'm very involved with my youth group at church and also my community, but most importantly I have a huge passion for Christ's work and my responsibility to spread his word. I also have a huge passion for children.

My church, Franklin Christian Church, is going on a mission trip to Australia on October 5th of this year. This mission trip is all about the children. We are going to be doing a week of Vacation Bible School, and a week revival.

I will be working with children for the entire 2 weeks and teaching them about Jesus. I'm sure I'll form bonds that will last a lifetime.

This opportunity to do 2 things in my life that I've always wanted to do and that will also be pleasing to God is so amazing. I am so excited about this and would love for you to help me achieve my goal of raising the money.

I am only 15 years old so I don't have a "job". I've done a little babysitting this summer but it doesn't touch the amount needed, which is $3,000. I know that sounds astronomical to you. It does to me too. But the lives God will touch through me are priceless. Any donation will be so appreciated and I thank you in advance for your help. Whatever you feel led to send can be tax deductible if you write your check to Franklin Christian Church and put my name in the memo. You will need to send it to Kendra Harrell, in care of, Ken Harrell at: P.O. Box 152, Eagleville, TN 37060. I need to receive your donation by September 25th so I will know where I stand financially. I am so thankful for your generosity. Without it, I wouldn't be going.

I will not waist one minute of time while I'm there. Have a blessed day. Please pray for me while I am there that through me, God touches the lives of little ones.

In Christ Jesus, Kendra Harrell

FRIENDS FOR LIFE

Scott Bowman, son of Deborah and Ricky Bowman and grandson of Marion and Mary Westbrooks Smith of the Link community, should have graduated in May, 2004, except for the tragedy that struck him in December, 2003. His kidneys shut down. After a long stay at Vanderbilt Hospital, he was told he would have to undergo a kidney transplant. At that time his family started tests hoping to find a match, but to no avail. Then it happened!

Scott's friend from church, New Zion church of Christ, Richard "Bubba" Murphy, said he wanted to be tested and guess what? A PERFECT MATCH!

On Sept. 7, at Vanderbilt Hospital, the two will undergo surgery to take Bubba's kidney and place it into Scott. If everything goes well, these two young men can get on with their life and hobby, playing their musical instruments which they enjoy together. Bubba and his grandmother, from the Barfield community, are excited about being able to help their neighbor and best friend.

Please keep these fine young men in your prayers.

Union Planters Bank Open House—Sept. 17

Jason Magette, Investment Broker

We are excited about our next planned open house on Friday, September 17, from 9 a.m. until 1:00 p.m.. Mr. John R. Powers will have a historic display presentation and we will serve refreshments.

Please join us during the open house and welcome Jason Magette, investment broker with Morgan Keegan Co. Inc., to our Eagleville Team. Jason is available to serve the financial needs of the community. Jason has partnered with Union Planters Bank for over five years in the investment division. Many of you already know Jason and his financial expertise. When he isn't in a suit and tie you'll find him headed for his favorite fishin' hole.

We hope you will join us on Friday morning, September 17! You will be in for a real treat!

Working Mom Balancing Family and Career

Balancing life is a challenge for most of us with, family, church, civic organizations, and active parenting. Add a career in the mix and life can become too busy and balance is hard to find. What to do? Simplify. One woman in our community, Robin Fricke Jackson is doing just that. After working in an accounting firm for six years as an employee, Robin has decided to venture out on her own. She has established her office and Accounting Business in Chapel Hill with plans to draw customers from there and the surrounding communities including Eagleville, Rockvale, College Grove, Rover, Unionville, and Lewisburg. Robin has been a Certified Public Accountant since 1993 and has worked in the field for over 13 years. She received her degree from Middle Tennessee State University in 1990 and has worked for Parsons & Associates in Franklin, Tennessee for the last four years.

Robin has always been active in the community of Eagleville, participates in the annual Tractor Show each September, worships at Concord United Methodist Church, and supports her children, Houston a 9th grader and Rebecka a 1st grader both at Eagleville School. She has served as treasurer of the Eagleville Ball Club, helped teach vacation bible school, and served as a volunteer at the school. Robin is married to Horace Jackson and they make their home in a farmhouse they have restored in the Eagleville area. Robin believes that by working for herself she is better able to manage her busy schedule and balance the aspects of her life she cherishes most, her family. She also looks forward to working with the people of these communities and assisting them with accounting and business needs. We wish you much success and hope your business grows and strengthens.

Robin can be reached at 931-364-5774 or robin@jacksoncpa.net. Her office address is 4394-B Nashville Highway. Chapel Hill, TN 37034.

McClaran & Holton

Mr. and Mrs. Murrey Holton and Mr. and Mrs. Donald McClaran are pleased to announce the recent marriage of their children Elizabeth and Michael.

The couple married at 6:00 p.m. on Tuesday, July 20, 2004. Their ceremony was held in the Whitefield Chapel on the grounds of the Bethesda Home for Boys in Savannah, Georgia. The Bethesda Home of Boys is one of the longest-operating orphanages in the country.

Reverend David Gregory, co-worker and friend of the bride, married the couple. Mrs. Ann Haley served as the director. The maids of honor were Sara and Mary Holton, sisters of the bride. They wore a two-piece periwinkle satin dress and carried a long-stem, single calla lily. Votive candles decorated the baby grand piano placed there by honorary bridesmaids, nieces of the groom, Jennifer, Tiffany and Chelsea Lamb, along with friends of the bride.

Donald McClaran stood as the groom's best man, while his nephews Chad, Dustin, and Brandon Lamb ushered in guests. Registry attendants were Sarah Gregory and Rachel Hedgepath.

Among the 85 guests were relatives, co-workers, and friends, including some who traveled from California and Arkansas to share in this joyous occasion. Honored guests were Betty Ezell, grandmother of the bride, Charma Woosley, aunt of the bride, Deborah and Ginger Lamb, sisters of the groom.

Elizabeth wore an elegant Amy Michelson candlelight silk gown. Covered buttons lined the back of the gown to the end of the semi-chapel train. She wore a single layer, floor length veil with a blusher and carried a bouquet of calla lilies and roses mixed with wildflowers. Her father, Murrey Holton, gave Elizabeth away.

Michael's tuxedo was a black, three-button coat worn with a candlelight vest and necktie. Boutonnieres were baby white roses, freesia and coffee berries.

Pianist, Warren Heilman and bagpiper, Mark Lester, provided music. Soloists Kim Armstrong and Elizabeth Sledge sang a variety of selected songs.

The reception was held at The Lady & Sons restaurant located in the historic City Market of Savannah. Guest enjoyed a southern classic dinner from the restaurant owned by Paula Deen who is featured on the Food Network.

Michael and Elizabeth honeymooned at the Planters Inn located in Savannah's historic Reynolds Square. They left the following morning to honeymoon at the Aventura Spa Resort in Cancun, Mexico. Michael is a Biology teacher at Eagleville High School and is completing his Masters Degree in Administration and Supervision. Elizabeth is employed as a Program Coordinator at the Tennessee Board of Regents and is a part-time real estate agent for David Jent Realty & Auction.

The couple reside in Eagleville.

Upon visiting "The McClaran Rock" in Scotland. In memory of my father, Aubrey D. McClaran

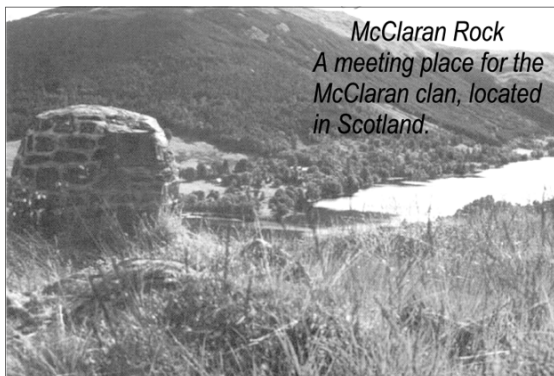

Standing beside this rock that bears your name,
From ancient times until this time called NOW.
In what long years ago that search began,
To know your God and more – to understand,
Like Moses, know the meaning of it all.

I grieve you now, who could not grieve you then
No time to grieve
I carried on your search.
I dared go in and out,
Until that day he took my hand
And gave me wine and bread.

I go now through His mansions filled with Love.
He shall unlock each door give you each key.
He shall give water to your burning eyes
And that dark glass,
Through which you longed to see
Shall by His mighty Love be clear as day.
And rolled away
The stone from your pure light.

Habitat Seeks Churches

Habitat for Humanity needs a few more churches to sign on to its 15-Church Challenge initiative. Habitat in February announced its 15-church challenge, an initiative aimed at recruiting 15 churches to pledge $3,000 each for the construction of a home during its annual "Building On Faith" week in September. "Since then six churches have pledged $3,000", said Beth Smith a Habitat spokeswoman. We do have several other churches participating in non-monetary way, providing meals and construction volunteers. The support of the churches that have chosen to participate and help to continue our Christian mission of helping families achieve the dream of home ownership.

Building of Faith week this year will be September 18-25. A partner family to live in the home planned for construction that week, a single mother with two children, has been chosen. Habitat for Humanity of Rutherford County will celebrate its 15th year of providing affordable housing for low-income families this year. To observe the occasion, the organization came up with the idea of looking for 15 area churches to share the costs of building a home during this year's Building on Faith Week Habitat of Humanity's Building on Faith Week is "a time when people of faith are urged to put their faith into action". The cost of sponsorship of the home to be built during this week, not including the land, is estimated at $45,000, a price that which might be out the range for most churches.

Last year's Building on Faith Week observance involved the blitz building a home in eight days. The week began with a pancake breakfast and concluded with a cookout and a Christian music concert. This will be the 10th year the Building on Faith Week has been observed by Habitat for Humanity on the national level. Habitat for Humanity of Rutherford County has observed the occasion for the past two years.

Once again the Rocky Glade Cumberland Presbyterian Church will be the first group in to start on the house after the foundation has been poured at 431 Castlevue Court in Murfreesboro. They will be at the job site at 5:30 am to start building the 50th Habitat Home. If any one would like more information, please feel free to phone Elaine Shapcott at 615-274-6974 or Rutherford County Habitat for Humanity at 890-5877 to get involved.

The high school cheerleading squad went to UCA camp in July at Tennessee Tech University. The girls won four blue ribbons and four gold ribbons for evaluations throughout the week. In addition, they received a blue ribbon “above and beyond” award for putting in extra practice hours to teach cheers to a squad that arrived late to camp. On the last day, every squad entered two competitions: one for dance and one for cheers. Eagleville High received trophies for the title of Camp Champions and 1st place in dance and 2nd place in cheer. These girls started practice July 7th and will cheer throughout football and basketball seasons.

The Eagleville Junior High also attended UCA Camp in July at Tennessee Tech University. Although the squad is very young (six 7th graders, five 6th graders), the girls showed they have a lot of potential and represented Eagleville very well. They received eight Superior ribbons and a Superior trophy. The squad was well represented in the jump-off contest with two of its members taking first and second place. Brittany Burton earned 1st place and Mallory Shanks earned 2nd place. These two girls were also chosen as UCA All-Stars. The squad is looking forward to a great year!

Citizens of the Month

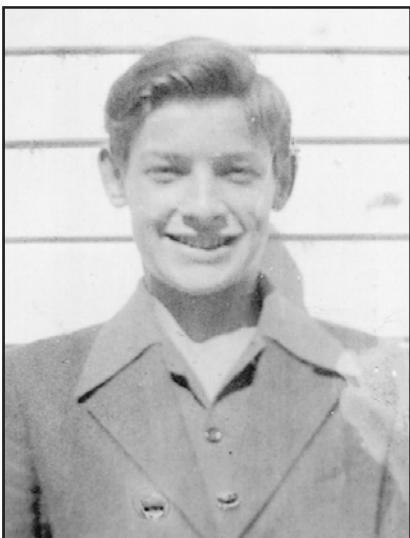

My parents, Mary & Jesse Rigsby, celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary on Aug 17. Sixty years is sure a long time and they've had much happiness and a few tragedies as well. There are many stories to tell, and here are just a few.

Mama grew up in a family of five boys and two girls in Princeton, Kentucky. Her dad, Ernest Jewell, and subsequently three of her brothers were farmers, raising tobacco and hogs. Their home was a log cabin, replaced by a modest 2 bedroom (no running water) home when I was two or three years old. It remained without running water until just a few years ago, when her three bachelor brothers who still lived there installed their first bathroom. Her mom, Monte Ladd Jewell, died when I was only six, so my only memory of her is of her sitting in her rocking chair in the living room near the coal stove.

Mama tells us her childhood claim to fame was her spelling prowess, winning a $25 savings bond at a spelling bee when she was about twelve. She was a tom-boy, too, often getting into fights with the boys in her school. In one of the only pictures she has from elementary school, she has a cut on her forehead to prove it. She liked to go to the movies in Princeton. An English bulldog belonged to the folks who owned the movie house and he guarded the theatre. To this day, she loves English bulldogs, and we got her one several years ago that she named Beauregard; it broke her heart when he died.

Daddy's mom and Dad, Marcus Rigsby and Jennie Gannon, started raising their family of three boys and a girl in the Chapel Hill area. Daddy tells about the time some older boys were throwing rocks at the brick walls between the windows of a church, telling Daddy they were "trying" to hit the windows, but claiming to be poor marksmen. Daddy, being much younger, believed them and proceeded to knock out several glass windows in that church. He says all he got that year for Christmas was a sack of sticks, coal, and broken glass. When the depression really hit, they lived in Nashville. Daddy tells of swimming in the Cumberland River and giving his mama fits by his shenanigans. My favorite story from his childhood is when he was around eight years old, and the depression had left his family on hard times like most during that era. He went to the market one day near Christmas with his daddy, and as luck would have it, found a DIME on the ground. At that time, a dime was probably worth what $10 is today. His family, having no money, had been unable to afford any niceties for the kids, like oranges or candy, and he could have easily spent the money on himself. Instead he bought a picture of a mother holding a baby with the family dog looking on, and gave it to his Mama for Christmas. I still have that picture on my wall.

Young Jesse & Mary

During that tough time, Daddy had ear infections which subsequently caused him to become almost completely deaf. At first they didn't realize it, thought he just wasn't paying attention, and he fell behind in school. When his deafness was finally discovered, he was sent to Knoxville to the "Tennessee School for the Deaf and Dumb" (not a politically correct title these days) where he learned sign language and to read lips, and was trained to be a barber (a skill he practiced on the boys and sometimes our dolls).

Mama liked school and during her high school years she tells about gas rationing and everyone pooling their ration tickets to get enough gas to go to the movies in Princeton. On one of those trips they had a flat tire, and of course, no spare tires were to be had. They had to abandon the car and hitched a ride home on a coal truck. Since she attended high school during World War II, graduating in 1944, she says there were no boys in her senior class; all of them had already joined the service. One of her favorite stories is about her Geometry teacher who was a fairly young man who for some reason wasn't accepted for the service. She said almost everyday when the class started, he'd say "All right girls, put your figures on the board" and their giggling would make him think about what he'd said, and he'd turn red. But eventually he'd forget and say the same thing another day. The school year was cut short because of the war, so when Mama graduated in April 1944, she headed off to Detroit to work in an airplane factory and do her part for the war effort.

Daddy wasn't accepted in the service because of his deafness. His Uncle Jesse Gannon was working at the same factory in Detroit where Mama got her first job. Uncle Jesse would talk to Mama at the lunchroom, and told her he had a "good looking nephew" she needed to meet. And not long after Mama arrived in Detroit, Daddy got a job there too. Mama's job was to take in tools that had become broken or damaged on the factory line. The way it worked was when someone broke a tool, they came to the tool crib, and she exchanged the broken tool for a working one. Daddy must have been smitten because he started talking the other workers into letting him go to the tool crib in their place so he could talk to Mama. I guess it's not too hard to figure out his work suffered and he got fired. With no money, he returned to Tennessee; he did odd jobs to earn enough money to get a bus ticket back to Detroit. When he arrived, of course, he couldn't get in the factory and not wanting to wait until Mama got off work, he stood outside the factory and threw rocks at her window to get her attention (he's obviously got a thing about throwing rocks). Theirs must have been a mutual attraction because they married in August 1944 only four months after Mama left Kentucky for Detroit.

The lived for a few years in Nashville which is where Clayburn or Jr. as he's now known was born. They moved first to Rover, then to Eagleville when Gram-pa Marc bought the farm that is now owned by John and Nina Merritt. I came along when Jr. was six years old. We all lived in a tiny three room house and didn't have an indoor bathroom. Daddy drove a bull dozer for his daddy and in 1957, Daddy and his two brothers, J. W. and Merkle, bought the grocery store and garage in Allisona that is still owned by Uncle Merkle. Daddy and J.W. drove dozers all summer, as long as the weather cooperated, and then worked in the garage with Merkle the rest of the time. The three wives, Mama, Lorene and Betty, each worked two days a week in the store. Mama and Daddy were saving all they could to build a nice brick house for the family. The house they live in now was built largely by Daddy, his brothers, and Jr. with help from various cousins and friends. It was completed in 1962, and Daddy had saved enough to pay for everything in cash except for the last $1,000. He always said it took him three years to pay off that $1,000 and he'd never borrow money ever again. He hasn't as far as I know, although he likes to use his Discover card now because it pays him money back. Of course, he pays it off in full every month.

Mama knew how to save money too; she scrimped and saved her left over grocery money so that she could buy braided rugs for the new house. Why were we not surprised when she returned from her day of shopping in downtown Nashville with a new pair of multi-colored lizard skin spike heels and a matching purse...and no rugs! Mama always has been a stylish dresser with a real weakness for shoes and purses...I must have inherited that from her.

For Jr. and me, having our own bedroom was really nice, not to mention the bathroom. Not long after we moved in the "new" house and all had separate bedrooms, Mama became pregnant with Steve. At Eagleville graduations, as the parents always stood up when their student crossed the stage to receive their diploma, the mother was presented a rose. Mama was a sight at Jr.'s graduation, six months pregnant with Steve. A day or two after Steve came home from the hospital, Jr. bought a beautiful red and white 1955 Thunderbird convertible. That morning at breakfast, Jr. was complaining about "that new baby keeping me up all night"; Mama said "Yeah that new baby on the carport!"

As we were growing up, Mama and Daddy always liked to travel. Mostly we went out west as Daddy had cousins all over Texas, Montana & Wyoming. Although we often stayed with relatives, we always liked the nights when we weren't close to relatives and could stay in a motel with a pool! We'd drive much of the day, persuading Daddy to stop when we saw some roadside attraction that we just had to see. Today traveling by interstate and flying across the country are nice and you sure get there quicker, but I miss those driving vacations, just stopping when you see something interesting and really enjoying this beautiful country of ours. The year Jr. married Betty Dalton, we all headed out west, traveling to Montana and Wyoming to see Yellowstone Park and that part of the country; Steve was just two years old. Traveling through Utah, we were hit by another car. It was very scary, but we were all OK. Mama, Betty & I were really scared to get in a car again, but the next morning Daddy rented one and made us visit all the local sights in Utah for the three days it took to get our car repaired.

After Jr. and I were gone from home, Cindy, Jr. & Betty's daughter who is only two years younger than Steve, often went on vacations with Mama and Daddy to keep Steve company. And many times, Steve went on vacations with Aunt Betty and Uncle Merkle and their youngest son, Alan, who was a little younger than Steve. Mama has lots of pictures from these vacations out west. They always had lots of fun and felt very fortunate to see so much of the country.

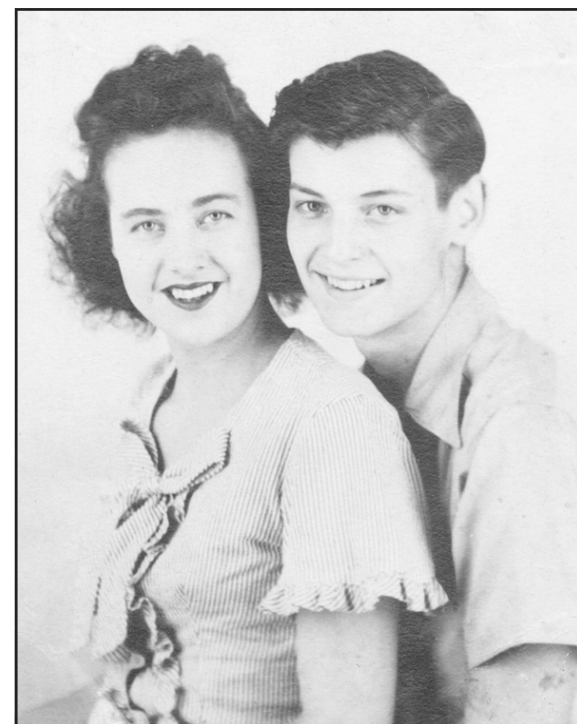

Probably the most adventurous family vacation Mama, Daddy and Steve took was to visit me while I was working in Germany. I drove a little VW beetle, and we would all four pile in and sightsee and enjoy the great food. I even persuaded Mama, who is not a drinker, to try a glass of German wine at dinner. On the way home from our first few dinners, Mama commented that she thought my car might have a carbon monoxide leak, as she kept falling asleep in the back seat. We got a good laugh when we figured out it was because of her "sampling" the wine. While they were there, on the days I worked, I gave them the car and they did their own exploring. Daddy had a lot of fun driving that VW beetle all around Bavaria. One day my German landlord who spoke no English, wanted to host them for a day around the area. They agreed and visited some beautiful castles and local sights, and had a lot of fun trying to communicate! Daddy even got the treat of going into a German "beer keller" where some friends of the landlord made their own beer. We think Daddy may have "over-sampled" that day, but he sure did have fun. One of our most memorable trips in Germany was traveling up the Alps in that little VW....it would strain and struggle to make it to the top of each mountain, then we'd all hold our breath as we screamed down the other side.

About nine years ago, Daddy had a cochlear ear implant, which means he can now hear! Sometimes, when Mama can't get to the phone quickly, he'll answer and it sure is odd to talk with him on the phone. He hands it off to her pretty fast, as he hasn't acquired a love of talking on the phone.

Mama and Daddy have been blessed with four grandchildren, Jr. & Betty's children, Cindy and Mark (who was tragically killed five years ago) and Steve and Cathy's children, Jesse (named for his granddaddy) and Sierra (the newest edition who will be three at Christmas). They also have four great grandchildren, Cindy and Jimmy's two, Colin and Rachel, and Mark's two boys, Matthew and Landon. They are very blessed that all but Matthew and Landon live fairly close by and can visit often.

Mama has had some health problems in the last few years, but she's working hard at making the best of the situation. She's always told her doctors that it doesn't matter about the "dog in the fight", what's important is the "fight in the dog" and she's still fighting. Daddy spends his days now playing cards at Rigsby's store and gardening in the summer. Together, he and Mama still fix their own meals although kind neighbors and friends help out in that regard more and more. This year for the big anniversary, a nice dinner out is planned with immediate family. They didn't want a big event, just their kids and grandkids around them, as that's what has always been important and meant the most to them.

Fourth of July Celebration at the Carltons

Approximately, eighty members of Barbara and Rick Carlton's families and friends attended the third annual Fourth of July celebration at their home on South Main Street on July 3rd. Everyone enjoyed the unbelievable spread of food and desserts all afternoon.

The young folks enjoyed riding 4-wheelers on the hill. Barricades were constructed which were used for paintball games. This was lots of fun for the young. There were numerous games available for more sedentary entertainment.

As dusk approached, everyone gathered on the front deck to view the beautiful display of fireworks provided by the Carltons and attendees. Although tired, all were already looking forward to next years celebration.

Hostesses, Barbara and Brittany, with friend Lisa.

Youngest in attendance, Taylor Lee Blair.

Rick Carlton gives lesson in Paintball 101.

Helpful Hints

To remove dirty oil and wax buildup from your wooden furniture, try cleaning the surface with a soft cloth dipped in mineral spirits.

Always wash windows with horizontal strokes on the inside and vertical strokes on the outside, or vice versa. This way, if there are any streaks, you'll know which side of the glass they're on.

If you use hair spray, you'll find that it often leaves a film on the surface of the bathroom mirror. The best way to clean this off is by wiping it down with rubbing alcohol.

Pour a bucket full of water into the toilet bowl before you start cleaning it. This forces the water level down in the toilet bowl and allows you to access those bowl rings easier.

LIBRARY HAS RECORD YEAR

The Eagleville Bicentennial Public Library Annual Report was given by Librarian Debbie Turner at the August Board meeting. Before presenting the Annual Report, she stated that during the summer, donations besides money included 43 adult handbooks, 25 adult paperbacks, 10 children's books, and 3 DVD's. A total of 51 children participated as readers and listeners in the summer reading program. The Story Time on Thursdays during July were also well attended by children and parents. Special guests included parents, Micki and Becky from Highland Rim, who dressed as special characters, and Snow Bird from WSMV, Channel 4. A celebration will be announced soon, honoring readers with awards.

The yearly report from July 1, 2003, through June 30, 2004 included the following:

- Total book collection – 10,000
- Total books, audio, and video materials checked out – 5,938
- Total computer use – 647
- Total of new registered borrowers added (new library cards issued) – 53
- Total library attendance – 2,749

In addition, the library has received computer grant money, which will be spent in the near future.

Debbie would like for more people to visit and use the library. The past year saw record numbers in library use. She also thanks all of those who helped throughout the year, assisting with book placement, refreshments, cataloging and other tasks.

Congratulations to Librarian Debbie Turner and the Library Board for an outstanding year. The Library Board consists of two certified librarians, Patti Smotherman and Carolyn Barham. Other board members are Ray Ann McCord, Nina Merritt, Mary Alice Lamb, M. R. Bracey, and Dr. Nolan S. Barham, Sr. Library hours are 12 noon to 6:30 p.m. on Mondays, and 1 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays.

Congratulations to our new assistant principal at Eagleville School, Bill Tollett. Remember to support our school and the Antique Tractor Show.

Eagleville – a wonderful place to live.

Dolores McCord, shown weaving a cane bottom in her antique chair.

Hedge, Frances Edwards and Juanita Carlton, They made baskets, caned a chair and enjoyed the entertainment and educational sessions. Juanita Carlton entered the Creative Writing competition.

On June 19th, members made tables full of desserts to sell at the Lion's Club Horse Show. It was a good sales and money was raised to provide for the community projects in which they participate.

Coming up in a couple of months is a new Club

The Eagleville Family and Community Education Club has had a busy spring and summer. On May 18th, they went to Lynchburg to shop and eat at Miss Bobo's. Eleven members attended.

District Leadership Conference was May 25-27th. Attending from Eagleville was Delores McCord, Alberta

Cookbook. It will be out in plenty of time for holiday gift giving. The Cookbook committee is Juanita Carlton, Glenda Dyer, Margaret Hall and Debbie Turner.

Each year for the Fourth of July, the club does a cookout for the veterans at the home on Webb Road. This year was enjoyed in spite of the rain. The food was supplied by members and was cooked by Gordon Lamb. Members enjoyed fellowship with the veterans.

Each year the club celebrates the family by having a Family Night Supper. Twenty-five people attended this year. After the delicious meal, members had a short business meeting and sorted recipes for the upcoming cookbook.

The Rutherford County Cultural Arts competition was held on July 15th. Eagleville served on the committee to plan and carry out the show. Frances Edwards won a blue ribbon on her shawl. Delores McCord won a blue ribbon on her caned chair. They also won red and white ribbons.

The Flower and Garden Show was July 20th. Delores McCord won a blue ribbon on her Dahlia. She also won blue on her vegetables and pears. In addition, she won red on some vegetables.

Ten member went to Chaffin's Dinner Barn Theater on July 22nd. All enjoyed the production of "Annie Get Your Gun." Attending were. Alberta Hedge, Delores McCord, Jean Fagan, Nina Merritt, Doris Hedge, Margaret Hall, Mary Alice and Gordon Lamb, Juanita Carlton and Virginia Turner.

At the Country Horse Show on August 14th, the club again sold desserts. The educational programs for the last two time have been, "Nuclear Medicine" from Margaret Hall and "Food Safety for Seniors" from Frances Edwards.

Camp 2004 water color class-Alberta Hedge, Eagleville FCE; Jane Jackson, Rockvale, Rockvale FCE; Frances McDonald, Blackman FCE

If you would like to learn, have fun and feel that you are contributing to the community, join us on the second Tuesday of each month, unless otherwise announced, at the Eagleville Community Center at 10:00 a.m.

A Step Back in Time - Rover School

By Bobbie Sue Shelton

The Rover School was located in the small community of Rover, which is in the tenth district of Bedford County approximately 5 miles south of Eagleville. This school as well as the other small community schools located around the country side was built with the purpose of serving the families within walking distant of the school which still could have been several miles. Some of the students may had the opportunity to ride in a horse and wagon or buggy, but most of the students had to walk.

The first school, known as the "Old School" by the early Rover Community citizens was located on Beasley Road, on property presently owned by the McFarland Family. I'm not for sure when this school actually began but it was in existence for several years. It was closed in 1910 and the students were moved to the new Rover School in 1911. My neighbor Ben Farmer, now deceased, had told me he started to school in the Old School in 1907. He remembered that penny pencils were given as rewards for good attendance and for answering the most questions correctly. Some of the teachers in the old school were: Alta Clay, Lena Chick, Edna Gentry, Laura Crowell, Jim Ed Crowell, Nancy Farmer, Sam Reid, Leticia Farmer, Chance Taylor, Sara Hord, George Yost, Ollie Shearon and Mattie Smith.

In 1911 a new three-room school building was built on land purchased from Frank Jackson. The property is located on highway 41A and is now owned by Wendell Rowland. Some of the teachers for this new elementary school were: Todd Blankenship, Lillie May Osteen, Edna Gentry, Daisy Boyce, Lena Chick, Vashti Jacobs, Billy Simpson, Kittie Simpson, Auburn Stem, Lizzie Morton Floyd, Alta Clay, Virginia Vaughn, Mary Heath, Era Johnson, Andrew Jarman, Jack Snoddy, Bill Osteen, Winnie Clardy, Amzier Reynolds and Lorene Thompson.

In 1919 an auditorium and classrooms were added to the elementary school building and high school classes were begun with Macie Southall as principal. A well-rounded curriculum was offered and students participated in interscholastic basketball, playing teams as far away as Ashland City. A dormitory for teachers was constructed later while Lillie D. Harding was principal. The teachers were: Macie Southall, Lillie D. Harding, Roy Simpson, Margaret Lakenan, Edith Dixon and Loretta Phillips. I have in my possession a Rover graduation diploma that belonged to Mr. Herman Reid, dated March 24, 1921 and also a 1923 class ring from the Rover High School. It belonged to the late Lou Ella Farris (Taylor).

One night in the fall of 1924 the entire school building burned. Arson was suspected. After the fire, the term was finished with the elementary school having classes in the Methodist Church and the high school in the Baptist Church.

A new school was built back in the same located for students in the first eight grades and had the following teachers: Julia Prince, Arlie Hitt, Beatrice Dickens, C. J. Lamb, Clarence Terry, Runa Hix, Sammie B. Spence, Harry Lee Lawell, _____ Glenn, Allene Gillespie, _____ Blanch, Argie Stem, Nannie Moore Copper, Lela Lynch, Peggy Robinson, Wilma Boyce and Edward Harper. In 1947 this school was closed by consolidation. The building is still standing and in the process of being remolded by Judy and Wendell Rowland.

After the fire, the Rover high school students were then moved to Unionville where a new school was erected and was called Community School.

Senior Center Is Calling All Golf Players for 5th Annual College Grove Golf Classic in September

College Grove: On September 11, the College Grove Senior Enrichment Center is hosting its 5th Annual College Grove Golf Classic at Ellington Golf Course at Henry Horton State Park. Players are encouraged to pre-register to be ensured a slot at $90 per player. The shot gun tee-off will be at 8 a.m. and any last minute registration will be earlier at 7 a.m.

Beaman Toyota has provided a new Toyota Camry for the Hole in One Prize. Prizes are also available for the Longest Drive, Nearest to the Pin and 1st, 2nd, and 3rd place for three flights. All players will receive goody bags and a barbecue lunch with a drawing for door prizes with beverages available during play.

"This is the Center's major annual fundraiser and all proceeds go to benefit the Center and its work to provide support for senior services in the community," said Katie Reed, Center Golf Committee Co-Chair. "We have been so fortunate to have our sponsors like Beaman Toyota to help us with such a tremendous Hole In One Prize, as well as the many great groups and businesses who have sponsored the individual holes."

For more information about forming a four-person team or being an individual player, please contact Gayle Bradley or Katie Reed at the College Grove Senior Enrichment Center at 368-7093.

College Grove Senior Enrichment Center to Host Family Tree Foundation Talk with Peter Ferguson

On September 2 at noon, College Grove Senior Enrichment Center is hosting a program by Peter Ferguson who is the President and founder of the Family Tree Foundation which was established to help couples and or individuals looking to adopt "minority or bi-racial children. Ferguson is also the minister at Triune Methodist Church. There will be a lunch scheduled at 11:30 a.m. that is open to the public.

Ferguson and his wife Emily were only married five months, before Emily was diagnosed with cancer. She underwent a successful treatment of surgery and chemotherapy but in the process was left unable to bare children. With a clean bill of health, Peter and Emily started to pick up the pieces of their life together when a phone call changed their future.

Through a friend, the Ferguson's met a woman who wanted to find a couple to adopt her bi-racial baby that she would be bringing to term in a nearby community. Their meeting led to a relationship that led to the eventual birth and adoption of a sweet baby girl, Lilli Katherine Ferguson who was born in October of 2004. Emily was there for the delivery and a family was born. The Ferguson's have chosen to stay in touch with the birth mother so as Lilli grows she can know her birth mother.

Their adoption story led to their organization of the Family Tree Foundation which is a tax-exempt non-profit organization which solicits donations to develop into financial gifts to couples and individuals who wish to adopt bi-racial, minority or international children.

"Peter and Emily's story is special and they want to share their "happy ending" with people who then will tell the story to others," said Cherry Ralston, Program Director. "Lilly is also the granddaughter of Center member Clara Hill and we have all seen the blessing this child is to family and friends and we love it when she visits the Center."

College Grove Senior Enrichment Center is open Monday through Friday from 8:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. The Center offers educational and recreational classes to the public. For more information about classes or other scheduled special programs, call Cherry Ralston, Program Director at 615-368-7093.

Ashton Smith age 10 was named Most Valuable Player recently by Coach John Somers of the Eagleville Raiders 10 and under fast-pitch softball team. Ashton struck out 12 batters in the county tournament June 15, 2004, upsetting number 1 ranked Lascassas with a score of 13-3. The Raiders went on to win second place in the county tournament. Ashton is a fourth grader in Mrs. Mote's class at Eagleville School.

Wartrace MusicFest - September 24-25th

The high lonesome sound of banjos, guitars, fiddles and mandolins will soon ring out from the historic town of Wartrace, Tennessee when the first annual Wartrace MusicFest gets underway the weekend of September 24-25th.

The two-day festival is expected to draw musicians from all over Tennessee and surrounding states as they compete for more than $2,600. in cash prizes and trophies. Competition is also open to dobro players, buck dancers and acoustic bands comprised of four to six members. Dancers and fiddlers will compete in junior and senior categories. Noted musicians and radio personalities will serve as judges for the event.

Registration and jam sessions will begin at 6:00 PM on Friday with competition commencing Saturday at 10:00 AM. Winning bands and special invited guests will showcase Saturday night. Established Bluegrass bands from Tennessee and Kentucky will headline a show on Saturday night. The festival is being presented by the Town of Wartrace and the Chamber of Commerce.

Admission is free with festival-type seating available. Vendor space is available for a nominal fee with all proceeds donated to local community projects.

Festival sponsors include Gallagher Guitar Co., Old Times at the Wartrace Whistle Stop, First Community Bank of Bedford County and Hawkins Equipment LLC / Curl Construction Company. Gallagher Guitar will have an open house from 10:00 AM to 2:00 PM on Saturday.

For musician and vendor registration or for lodging and general festival information contact (931) 389-6144 or (931) 389-9999. The Wartrace Music Fest website address is www.wartracechamber.org/musicfest.html

Pinkerton Family Four Generations of Water Sports

By Emalyn Pinkerton

In 1957, the Scoot Pinkerton family began boating and water sports, surf boarding, disk and skiing, along with houseboat. This was our family recreation together. We called it our year-round fun....Live it in the summer, talking about and looking at pictures and movies made at the lake all winter.

In August 2004, four generations enjoyed a week together on Center Hill Lake at Edgar Evins State Park.

Thanks to Jackie, Hope and Clay for towing their pontoon boat and jet ski from North Carolina, eighty year old Granny (Emalyn) Pinkerton had a wonderful vacation still liking slalom water skiing.
Hope you enjoy our fun!

COMMUNITY SCHOOL FIRST FOOTBALL GAME

By Susan Nolan

So Vikings fans, you missed a really good game Monday night at Cascade. The Viking Jr. football team had their first game at 6:30 pm against the Huntland Hornets.

The first half of the game was a bit of a rough run with the Hornets making the first touch down in the game. A lot of great tackling in the first half by #29 Thor Mulkey and #45 Lance Paschal followed by the first time out by the Vikings. A great punt was made by #17 Jared Bennett and the ball fumbled and the crowd went crazy. #10 Ulrich Von Dran recovered the ball leaving the Vikings at first and ten. Justin Stallings #5 makes a super kick to the 39 yard line with a good receive and leaving the ball down with the Vikings at half time.

With a halftime score 22 to 0 with Huntland in the lead, the halftime show was presented by the Community Vikings Marching Band under the direction of Director Steven Givens. This was the bands' first time out on the field as a marching band and the crowd had a rocking good time. Community is one of the few schools who had a band long before a football team but this is the first year as a marching band.

The Vikings get into the game full force in the 4th quarter, showing that they are going to be a future force to be reckoned with. Slam their first touch down with only 4 minutes 51 seconds in the game, moving on to a first down with 3 minutes and 33 seconds left and the crowd went wild. Justin Stallings #5, quarterback runs the ball in to score yet another touchdown with only 5 minutes 9 seconds left.

With the crowd screaming #5 passes off to #72 J. D. Clark for the 2 point conversion and they down the ball in the last play to run the clock down making the final score 8 to 22 with Huntland winning. The Vikings strong last half of the game showed Huntland that this team will definitely be back. Coach Hal Pass gave a great speech to the team at the end of the game and even though the team lost their first game, they were in great spirits and left the field with their heads held high.

A very excited Dillon West watched with his friend Will Holt. Dillon was rooting for his big brother #25 Robbie West and said it was the best game ever and he and his friend are going to come to all the games. Dillon and his friends wanted to do a "big brothers, after the game interview" and asked #25 how they think they did, "tell us, tell us," Robbie West said. "I think we did real good". Well, we think you guys did really good too and I know we are all looking forward to the next game.

EAGLEVILLE TIMES

Eagleview Marching Band Camp 2004

The Eagleview Marching Band held its second annual band camp during the week of July 26 – 30. There were several new members from middle school and director Kelly Medford says, "This year is going to be a huge improvement from last year." Most of the week was spent learning the new music and formations to be used in this year's halftime show. The theme is Southern Rock and the songs are Rockin' Down the Highway, Sweet Home Alabama, The Devil Went Down to Georgia, and Free Bird. The music is a lot harder and the formations are more complicated. There will be a lot of changes from last year. The Color Guard is almost twice as big as last year and they will be getting all new uniforms. The drum major's uniform will have changes but the others will remain the same. In addition to that, a bigger part of band camp was spent in sectionals where each section (woodwinds, brass, percussion, color guard, drum major, etc.) would rehearse and memorize the music individually.

Drum and Bugle Corps

Probably the most exciting thing that happened during band camp was when DCI came to town. DCI (Drum Corps International) is a variety of huge marching bands from all over the United States. The members of these bands range in age from 14 to 22. They practice and compete almost year round. For the second year in a row the corps called the Boston Crusaders came to stay on the Eagleview campus and practiced on the day of July 30. They slept on the gym floor and practiced throughout the campus all day. All of the members who were present at band camp had the opportunity to watch, observe, and learn from "Boston's" sophisticated techniques. Later on that day "Boston" traveled to MTSU to compete in a contest known as "The Masters of the Summer Music Games." Last year they placed 6th and this year, they placed 7th. Among the corps who participated in the summer music games with them were The Bluecoats, Phantom Regiment,

The Cavaliers, The Blue Devils who were last years 1st place winners, The Boston Crusaders, The Santa Clara Vanguard, The Cadets, and The Madison Scouts. The MTSU Blue Raider Marching Band also performed a special performance of their 2004-2005 halftime show just for DCI. The placement for this year is as follows:

1st place Blue Devils, 2nd place The Cavaliers, 3rd place The Santa Clara Vanguard, 4th place The Cadets, 5th place Phantom Regiment, 6th place Madison Scouts, 7th place The Boston Crusaders, 8th place The Bluecoats

The Boston Crusaders will be participating in the finals on the week of August 1-7 with all of the other corps throughout the United States.

GREAT NEWS!

I am proud to announce that of all the schools in Rutherford county, Eagleville school was the only school who met Adequate yearly progress(AYP) in all disaggregated groups and the highest graduation rate, and the only graduation rate in Rutherford County that met the standards of the NO CHILD LEFT BEHIND LAW.

Bill Tollett (Assistant Principal Eagleville School)

Home to Home—Noe Torres is bringing a little bit of his old home to his new home.

Local business owner, Noe Torres, has begun importing stone fountains, potter, planters, mirrors, art and other beautiful things from his native Mexico. While growing up as a farm boy in a small village near San Luis de la Paz in Guanajuato, Mexico, Noe developed a love of plants and growing things. He also has fond memories of the sights, smells, textures and colors that are typical of Mexico. His desire is to marry the vibrant and working style of Mexico to the classic and aesthetic style of Middle Tennessee.

“When I look at some of the pottery it’s like I’m looking back to a different time. To a time when what people made with their hands blessed their lives. Sometimes I think that has been lost here in the states, the connection between our hands and our hearts”, says Noe. “This area is so rich in natural beauty that I would like to add a little part of myself to that beauty.”

Noe has been a resident and business owner in Williamson County since 1992, when he started We Care Lawn Care. In addition to landscaping design and lawn maintenance, he specializes in masonry, stonework, ponds, fountains, retaining walls, patios and water falls. Arrington Nursery & Waterworks is a continuation of his dream. In addition to a well stocked nursery, Arrington Nursery & Waterworks offers plant & tree installation, re-seeding services, annuals, perennials, stone by the pound or ton, mulch, top soil (delivery service available) and wrought iron furniture.

The Grand Opening for Arrington Nursery & Waterworks is scheduled for Saturday, October 9, 2004, from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. There will be door prizes and refreshments available. Arrington Nursery & Waterworks is located at 4812 Murfreesboro Road, next to Rapid Pak and across from the post office, telephone 395-0200, open Wednesday through Sunday.
